Wake of the Funnels: Mountains of Rubble

By United Press International

One of history's most destructive series of tornadoes—67 funnel clouds in 11 states—today left in its wake small mountains of rubble where whole neighborhoods had stood. At least 72 were killed and the injuries numbered in the thousands.

The twisters drilled into earth and sawed through communities Wednesday night in Arkansas, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Missouri, Ohio, Tennessee and Mississippi.

Third of Toll Youngsters

Worst hit was Arkansas with 44 deaths, 34 at Jonesboro alone—a third of them children under 10.

Seventeen persons died in Iowa, nine in Illinois, two in Indiana and one in Nebraska. Two others died of heart attacks at Oelwein, Iowa after being injured.

There was no sure way of estimating the homeless.

Charles City, Iowa, where 12 died, is a small industrial community of 10,000. Half its population was homeless today. Officials said 372 homes were destroyed and 188 received major damage at Charles City.

Governor Asks Help

Gov. Harold Hughes asked President Johnson for "all possible" help for the northern Iowa communities. Hughes said they were a disaster area. He estimated damage at $35 million to private property and $5 million to public facilities.

Three hundred homes were destroyed at Jonesboro. Walls of houses were used by the winds to destroy automobiles. Automobiles were used to knock down walls.

In Illinois, 500 homes were destroyed, 120 of them at Wapella, where four persons died. Freeburg, Ill., had four dead and Urbana, Ill., had one.

Twenty homes were destroyed at Hazelwood, Ind., and 17 at Mooresville, Ind. Indiana had one dead at Wabash and one at Flora.

Some Looting

Two hundred homes were destroyed or damaged beyond repair at Oelwein, where one person was killed and two injured died. Maynard, just north of Oelwein, had three deaths.

National Guardsmen stood by in Iowa and Arkansas, where some looting broke out. Survivors picked intact cans of food from piles of brick and wood and glass.

The U.S. Weather Bureau called the tornado outbreaks "one of the heaviest, if not the heaviest recorded."

Severe thunderstorms, hail and high winds pounded the mid-South today. Several tornadoes were spotted today and Thursday night, but no injuries or deaths were reported.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said funnel clouds were sighted early today in Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi, but apparently none touched down.

While severe weather was confined to the mid-South today, rain showers continued from the Midwest to the south Atlantic coast. There were light showers in the Northeast, and the West had fair to partly cloudy skies.

A cold wave sent early morning temperatures near the freezing mark in the Dakotas, Minnesota and parts of Iowa and Nebraska.

Golf-Ball Hail

Golf ball-size hail and 50-mile-an-hour winds lashed Ashdown, Ark., Thursday night, causing a power breakdown. Nearby Hope reported hail as large as baseballs, and uprooted trees blocked highways out of Prescott.

Tulsa, Madill and Durant, Okla., all reported golf ball-size hail and winds up to 60 miles an hour. Large hail also damaged wheat crops around Wichita Falls, Tex.

Rain Swamps Bayou

Heavy rain swamped Silver Ridge, La., by dumping four inches in three hours. Greenwood, Miss., reported 1.35 inches in a six-hour period ending early today.

Peak School Board Budget Will Go Over $13 Million

By WALTER S. CLARK JR.

A tentative budget for the school year 1968-69, the highest ever adopted in the Kingston School District Consolidated—which totals $13,067,686, was unanimously adopted Thursday night at a special meeting of the Board of Education.

The proposed budget, which is subject to change "upward or downward" according to Arthur Withall, president of the board, is $2,180,541 higher than the 1967-68 budget of $10,887,345 and $3,916,937.20 higher than the 1966-67 actual budget of $9,150,728.80.

School officials said it is impossible at this time to project accurately a tax rate for the school year 1968-69, noting that the State Legislature has not yet enacted the proposed increase in state aid to education and the local assessment rolls have not been received.

"It should be noted that the Board of Education has striven in every possible way to make its budget decisions represent the best possible balance between high quality and reasonable cost," the Board said in a statement.

Budget Is Tentative

In a statement at last night's meeting, Withall emphasized that "this is a tentative proposed budget. The state law requires the board of education to adopt a tentative budget on a certain day and today is the last day. Some items are still in negotiation. The budget must be passed by June 30. It could be changed upwards or downwards. It is our fervent hope there will be the opportunity to reduce it, that our guess has been more than ample. We hope that a full report of any changes in the present tentative budget will be available to report in detail to the taxpayers at a public hearing June 19. We hope the existing problems will be resolved by that time."

Trustee Harold E. Keator Jr., chairman of the business and finance committee, will preside at the hearing scheduled at the George Washington School, and he will be prepared to go into more detail than ever in explaining the budget items and answering questions.

The largest item in the 1968-69 budget is $7,789,633 for instruction for regular day schools. That figure is $1,352,672 higher than the $6,436,961 appropriated for the same purposes in the 1967-68 operating budget.

The second highest item in the tentative budget is $1,413,017 for employee benefits, an increase of $200,774 above the $1,232,243 set aside for that purpose in the 1967-68 budget.

Debt service (principal) is listed at $1,231,000 compared to the 1967-68 total of $1,071,000, an increase of $16,000. The proposed cost of operation and maintenance of plant is listed at $965,069, an increase of $184,326 above the 1967-68 total of $780,743.

Other items shown in the recapitulation of the total tentative budget for the next school year are: $101,939 for Board of Education (the board serves without pay) which is $9,792 less than the $111,731 listed for the current school year; $217,705 for Central Administration—an increase of $37,294 compared with the 1967-68 appropriation of $180,411; $106,600 for instruction for special schools, an increase of $15,325 over the $91,275 set aside for the 1967-68 school year.

Other items in the new proposed budget are: $650,496 for transportation, an increase of $162,411 over the $488,085 appropriation for the same purpose for the current school year; $14,880 for service units, up over $4,550 over the $10,330 figure for 1967-68; $56,585 for insurance, a decrease of $2,315 compared with the $58,900 appropriated last year; $88,563 unclassified, an increase of $32,563 over the 1967-68 total of $56,000; $403,699 for interest, up $32,009 compared with $371,690 listed in the current budget; $28,500 for inter-fund transfers. That item shows an increase of $28,324 over the $176 in last year's budget.

In the opinion of the school board, the expenditures as enumerated in the tentative budget are essential to maintain an educational program in the Kingston City Schools at a level consistent with the demands of a quality school system.

The proposed budget represents months of study, analysis and revisions by the board and school administration, it was noted. Teachers and principals originally submit requests for essential materials and supplies as needed. Most of the costs, the board explains, included in the budget are based upon expenditures as indicated by past experience and reflect a per-pupil expenditure comparable to that of previous years.

The major portion of the proposed appropriations will be used to pay for educational requirements for the children in the school district.

53 New Teachers

"The board is convinced that the expenditures represented in this budget are reasonable, minimum and necessary if we are to continue our pursuit of educational excellence in Kingston City Schools," a statement by the board said. It was pointed out that increasing school enrollments necessitate additions to the staff, the expansion of the physical plant and additional supplies, materials and equipment. Fifty-three teachers will be added to the staff for the 1968-69 school year, it was noted.

It was also explained that staff salaries, both professional and non-professional, must be maintained at levels which will enable the board to continue to attract and to retain the services of well-qualified and competent people. Under the law passed by the New York State Legislature it became incumbent upon the Board of Education under the Taylor Law to negotiate with all members of the staff regarding salaries and fringe benefits, it was noted in a statement.

Navy Pilots Destroy Parked MIG

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Navy pilots spotted Thursday for the first time a North Vietnam jet based within striking distance of South Vietnam. They destroyed the MIG7 from the ground, American spokesmen said today.

Carrier-based A4 Skyhawks bombed and rocketed the Communist jet at Vinh airfield, 135 miles north of the South Vietnam border and well within striking distance of the vast allied ground forces massed in the area.

Previously, all MIG fields were sited farther north, mainly in the Hanoi-Haiphong area. Allied troops in South Vietnam have never been worried by Communist air attack.

The North Vietnamese beefed up air defenses up and down their southern panhandle after President Johnson March 31 limited U.S. bombing to that area—below the 20th parallel. But until today there had been no sign the North Vietnamese had succeeded in building a panhandle base for their MIG fleet.

MIG Camouflaged

U.S. spokesmen said the North Vietnamese had camouflaged the parked MIG7. "The first strike ripped the cover away from the tail section and then strafing runs peppered the aircraft," a military spokesman said.

It said Skyhawk pilots from the carrier Kitty Hawk "finished off the MIG with bombs and rockets." Infighting near Da Nang Thursday U.S. Marines smashed into a Communist rest area and killed at least 145 North Vietnamese, military spokesmen said. The fighting continued today.

The Leathernecks caught the fight were listed as 26 men killed and 37 wounded. The fighting came during a two-week old Marine sweep named operation Allan Brook, aimed at clearing Communists from around Da Nang which lies on the coast 360 miles above Saigon. In the sweep's earlier fighting, 197 Communists and 19 Americans had been killed.

City Merchants Feel UPS Strike

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

The impact of the two-week United Parcel Service strike in metropolitan New York is being felt by many merchants in the Kingston area, a survey by The Freeman indicated today.

Information has been received that more than 250,000 packages are being held in a warehouse in Maspeth, L. I., due to the strike of the Teamsters in New York City, New Jersey and Long Island. More than 4,000 members are affected by the work stoppage. There has also been a report that many non-union delivery men have been laid off due to the lack of work.

The UPS contract with the Teamsters and the 30-day grace period have both expired. No word of negotiations has been available.

The UPS office in Syracuse advised that shipments from the north and west are still coming through but the strike has halted all shipments out of New York City, New Jersey and Long Island.

Glassman, 3 Are Elevated

Kingston's Board of Police Commissioners at a regular meeting Thursday night appointed Lt. Julius Glassman to replace retiring Deputy Police Chief Grover S. Hoffay and also made new assignments for three other department members.

Hoffay is presently on vacation leave and will complete his service as a police officer on June 1. In 1962, Glassman was named Policeman of the Year, and was honored at a dinner by the Kiwanis Club, sponsor of the award. Glassman joined the police department March 1, 1954 and was named sergeant on Aug. 1, 1957. He served in the U. S. Navy from April, 1945 to July, 1946. Last May 18, he was promoted to lieutenant. He has been active in the Kingston Patrolman's Association, and held the office of president in the KPA for two terms.

Sgt. Burger, a native of Kingston, served four years in the U.S. Air Force, three of which were served in the European Theater. He holds three battle stars and a soldier's medal for bravery. He was appointed a patrolman Dec. 16, 1946 and on April 6, 1959 was named a detective, a post he held until becoming a sergeant May 18, 1967. In 1961, Burger received criminal investigation training in a group of 100 New York policemen who attended the New York Police Academy course.

Slover was appointed a patrolman June 22, 1953 and made a detective April 17, 1959. In April, 1967, he requested transfer to the uniformed division and on May 20 last year he was reappointed to the plainclothes division as detective. He served in the U.S. Navy from September, 1945, through October, 1948. He also took a special training course in the New York Police Academy.

Saved Detective's Life
Levy is a past president of the KPA. In September, 1959, he was named Policeman of the Year by the Kiwanis Club, an honor he well deserved after he was credited with saving the life of incumbent Detective John Crespinio in an incident on the Strand in 1959. He was appointed a special patrolman Nov. 26, 1950, and a regular officer July 19, 1951. He served in the U.S. Navy as a radio man from June 16, 1943, to April 5, 1946.

What in the World!

Paris Compromise?

PARIS (AP)—Informed French and American diplomats expect a compromise deal between the United States and North Vietnam to end the bombing of the North in spite of the apparent stalemate in the Paris peace talks.

The North Vietnamese appear at present to be trying to rally world opinion against the United States to pressure it into ending military action against North Vietnam without any compensating cutback by the Communists. The appeal for support has been sounded this week by Ambassador Xuan Thuy in Paris and by Hanoi Radio.

Encouraging Proposals

CAIRO (UPI)—The United Arab Republic is prepared to end its state of war with Israel if the Israelis withdraw from Arab territory occupied during the June 5-10 Middle East war, diplomatic sources said today.

The U.A.R. also would allow Israeli ships through the Tiran Straits leading to the Israeli port of Elath as part of any such agreement, the source said.

The U.A.R. proposals appeared encouraging if for no other reason than that Egypt had long insisted it would not even discuss peace until after Israel had withdrawn from occupied Arab territory.

Division Issue in Doubt

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pentagon planners and Army leaders are locked in behind-the-scenes debate over a civilian proposal to scrap a partially formed new infantry division.

The move, if approved, would save an estimated $300 million a year and help President Johnson meet congressional demands for $6 billion in budget cuts in return for a tax increase.

The issue is still very much in doubt. No final decisions have been made.

Hoffay is presently on vacation leave and will complete his service as a police officer on June 1.

Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan, president of the Police Commission, pointed out today that the four appointments are on a "temporary basis," which may mean that the appointments will be for "one month, four months or six months."

Burger Lieutenant

The Freeman on May 10 in a Page One article reported that the appointment of a deputy chief on a temporary basis, would be made at last night's meeting. The article referred to three police officers, two of whom were included in the four appointments by the commission. In addition to the appointment of Glassman as deputy chief, the commissioners appointed Sgt. Gurney Burger Jr. to acting lieutenant to replace Glassman; Detective William Slover to acting sergeant to replace Burger; and Officer Meyer Levy to the rank of acting detective to replace Det. The impact of the two-week United Parcel Service strike in metropolitan New York is being felt by many merchants in the Kingston area, a survey by The Freeman indicated today.

Information has been received that more than 250,000 packages are being held in a warehouse in Massapequa, L. I., due to the strike of the Teamsters in New York City, New Jersey and Long Island. More than 4,000 members are affected by the work stoppage. There has also been a report that many non-union delivery men have been laid off due to the lack of work.

The UPS contract with the Teamsters and the 30-day grace period have both expired. No word of negotiations has been available.

The UPS office in Syracuse advised that shipments from the north and west are still coming through but the strike has halted all shipments out of New York City, New Jersey and Long Island.

What in the World!

Paris Compromise?

PARIS (AP)—Informed French and American diplomats expect a compromise deal between the United States and North Vietnam to end the bombing of the North in spite of the apparent stalemate in the Paris peace talks.

The North Vietnamese appear at present to be trying to rally world opinion against the United States to pressure it into ending military action against North Vietnam without any compensating cutback by the Communists.

The appeal for support has been sounded this week by Ambassador Xuan Thuy in Paris and by Hanoi Radio.

Encouraging Proposals

CAIRO (UPI)—The United Arab Republic is prepared to end its state of war with Israel if the Israelis withdraw from Arab territory occupied during the June 5-10 Middle East war, diplomatic sources said today.

The U.A.R. also would allow Israeli ships through the Tiran Straits leading to the Israeli port of Elath as part of any such agreement, the source said.

The U.A.R. proposals appeared encouraging if for no other reason than that Egypt had long insisted it would not even discuss peace until after Israel had withdrawn from occupied Arab territory.

Division Issue in Doubt

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pentagon planners and Army leaders are locked in behind-the-scenes debate over a civilian proposal to scrap a partially formed new infantry division.

The move, if approved, would save an estimated $300 million a year and help President Johnson meet congressional demands for $6 billion in budget cuts in return for a tax increase.

The issue is still very much in doubt. No final decisions have been made.

LBJ May Still Be Democratic Presidential Candidate

By JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It's not likely to happen, but a chain of circumstances could still lead to President Johnson's renomination. It would begin with a deadlocked Democratic National Convention.

One who believes it might happen is Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., a former Republican national chairman, who is now helping chart a campaign course for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Morton takes at face value the President's March 31 announcement that he would neither seek nor accept his party's call. The senator argues, however, that the nomination could be thrust upon Johnson in terms which could not be refused.

"If the Democratic convention becomes deadlocked," says Morton, "leaders will be turning to the President and saying, 'Mr. President, you've got to do this.'"

"It wouldn't take long—not more than two or three roll calls," Morton says.

Produce Stalemate

Morton and some other knowledgeable political leaders think the three-way Democratic contest among Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey just might produce a stalemate, especially if McCarthy's supporters stick with him in the early going.

If none of the three is able to command the necessary majority for nomination, a hunt will begin for a compromise candidate. Under those circumstances the President, who withdrew as a divisive force, might seem to be a unifying element in August.

A total of 1,312 votes will be required for nomination at the 2,622-vote convention in Chicago. Deadlocks are all but unknown in recent election years but have occurred in the past.

Classic among deadlocked

Democratic conventions was the 1924 affair in New York City. William Gibbs McAdoo led for 100 ballots but John W. Davis finally was nominated—on the 103rd.

Turn to LBJ

Political experts generally doubt a deadlock of that duration simply could occur now. That is the basis for Morton's suggestion that leaders would start to turn to the President if no choice emerged in Chicago after as few as three ballots.

For one thing, national conventions of both parties have become massive operations which monopolize certain commercial activities even in the largest cities. Generally a convention is expected to last no more than a week with certain guarantees for such things as hotel space made accordingly.

A bigger factor in Morton's view is television—partly because, he said, "people don't want to give up 'Gunsmoke' for long."

However, a more important effect on television, according to Morton, is the picture that would be conveyed by a long convention with untidy delegates conducting an endless succession of dreary roll calls producing no decision. "Before long," Morton says, "People start saying 'if you can't even nominate a candidate, how can you govern the country?'"

Claiming that, "I greatly appreciate the confidence placed in me by the Conservative community," H. Clark Bell nevertheless declined the Conservative nomination today in a bid to capture the Republican nod for the state assembly in the June 18 primary.

The deadline for declining the nomination is today at 5 p. m. Had Bell not declined, his name would automatically have appeared as the Conservative Party candidate for the assembly on the November ballot.

Bell said, "The enrolled Republicans of Ulster County may select my opponent in the June 18th Republican Primary. If this happens, and I have accepted the endorsement of the Conservative Party, my name would nevertheless, remain on the ballot in November."

Savago Is Opponent

Bell's opponent in the primary is Peter J. Savago, New Paltz insurance man and chairman of the Ulster County Legislature. The 34-year-old attorney from Woodstock further claimed, however, "There is a good chance the enrolled Republicans of Ulster County will select me on June 18th as their candidate for assemblyman."

"In this event, I will most assuredly and immediately solicit the views of Conservative Party members and look forward to working with them in the months ahead," Bell said.

Bell took a swipe at Savago when he said, "Unlike my opponent in the Republican primary, I am an enrolled Republican and have been so all my life."

"My first allegiance is to the Republican Party," he claimed. The law partner of Howard C. St. John and Robert A. Ronder said, "The Conservative Party is growing by leaps and bounds and it may poll as many as 3,000 to 5,000 votes in Ulster County this November."

"If such a large block of votes is diverted from the regular Republican candidate, it is highly possible that a Democrat will be sent to Albany to represent Ulster County."

"This would be most undesirable and defeat not only the aims of the Republican Party but, in this particular case, also the aims of the Conservative Party in Ulster County."

Bell asserted, "After long and serious consideration, I feel, at this time, I can not do other than decline the endorsement of the Conservative Party. I greatly appreciate the confidence played in me by the Conservative community, including conservative Democrats, and Conservative Party members."

"I hope they will understand this is the only honest, logical, and responsible solution to this immediate problem."

Was Convention Delegate
In 1966, the attorney was elected in Ulster and Dutchess Counties as a delegate to the state's Constitutional Convention.

At that time he ran as a Republican candidate with the Conservative endorsement and led the ticket in the 38th Senatorial District, receiving better than 66,000 votes.

The Woodstock Republican came out a loser in the unofficial Republican convention in March, with Savago gaining his party's resignation for the assembly post now held by retiring Kenneth L. Wilson, also of Woodstock. Bell's margin of loss, however, was only eight votes.

Reply on Ambulance Controversy

By CHARLES BERMPOLH

The Saugerties ambulance controversy continues to stir residents today, with one village citizen asking, "If the Saugerties Ambulance Service is really sincere about the welfare of the community, why doesn't it temporarily locate in district?"

Miss Edith Tubbs of 25 Robinson Street claimed that a "fact-finding committee of five community-minded people," chaired by John Carnright, "showed a number of suitable facilities available."

Identifies Facilities

When contacted by The Freeman, Miss Tubbs said that two of the facilities are the Simmons Dairy Garage and the Charles LoBianco and Sons, Inc. garage, both on Partition Street.

The other two locations are off Ulster Avenue.

Miss Tubbs further claims that should the zoning ordinance be amended, the ordinance would, in effect, no longer be valid.

It is article 5, section 2 of the village ordinance which prohibits a commercial enterprise, such as Saugerties Ambulance, from operating out of a residential area.

Headquarters for the service is 14 Robinson Street—within a residential area.

State Supreme Court Justice Isadore Bookstein issued a "cease and desist" order several days ago and the ambulance service has since been out of operation.

The controversy became heated when, on Wednesday, two emergency calls were placed to Saugerties Ambulance Service with the vehicles unable to respond.

Attorney Herbert Weinsoff of Ellenville, claims that all the village has to do to put the service back in operation is to amend article 5, section 2.

Gregory Mulstay, a member of the village board, is reported ready to present a resolution to the board at its May 20 meeting which would amend the ordinance.

Will Give Support

Board members Arthur D. York and Richard Underhill Jr. claimed they will support the resolution.

Village police commissioner and board members Charles Steele claims, however, that "new locations were refused" by the service even when offered free of charge.

"Saugerties Ambulance claims it is not making money and that it is performing its service for the benefit of the community, but when they don't take temporary quarters free of charge, then it doesn't balance out," Steele said.

Miss Tubbs further states that a change in the ordinance "would affect only the property owners in the village—those who pay a village tax on their homes."

She also claims that none of the officers of the ambulance corporation own a home within the village limits and "Mr. Weinsoff lives in Ellenville."

Miss Tubbs asks the question, "Has it ever occurred to you that ambulances in the Village of Saugerties have previously always operated out of the business district zoned for business purposes?"

She further declares that,

"No evidence has ever been presented that would substantiate the claim of financial difficulty in paying the rent," a claim, according to Miss Tubbs, made by a spokesman for the ambulance service.

Bell asserted, "After long and serious consideration, I feel, at this time, I can not do other than decline the endorsement of the Conservative Party. I greatly appreciate the confidence played in me by the Conservative community, including conservative Republicans, conservative Democrats, and Conservative Party members."

"I hope they will understand this is the only honest, logical, and responsible solution to this immediate problem."

Was Convention Delegate
In 1966, the attorney was elected in Ulster and Dutchess Counties as a delegate to the state's Constitutional Convention.

At that time he ran as a Republican candidate with the Conservative endorsement and led the ticket in the 38th Senatorial District, receiving better than 66,000 votes.

The Woodstock Republican came out a loser in the unofficial Republican convention in March, with Savago gaining his party's resignation for the assembly post now held by retiring Kenneth L. Wilson, also of Woodstock.

Bell's margin of loss, however, was only eight votes.

By CHARLES BERMPOLH

The Saugerties ambulance controversy continues to stir residents today, with one village citizen asking, "If the Saugerties Ambulance Service is really sincere about the welfare of the community, why doesn't it temporarily locate in district?"

Miss Edith Tubbs of 25 Robinson Street claimed that a "fact-finding committee of five community-minded people," chaired by John Carnright, "showed a number of suitable facilities available."

Identifies Facilities

When contacted by The Freeman, Miss Tubbs said that two of the facilities are the Simmons Dairy Garage and the Charles LoBianco and Sons, Inc. garage, both on Partridge Street.

The other two locations are off Ulster Avenue.

Miss Tubbs further claims that should the zoning ordinance be amended, the ordinance would, in effect, no longer be valid.

It is article 5, section 2 of the village ordinance which prohibits a commercial enterprise, such as Saugerties Ambulance, from operating out of a residential area.

Headquarters for the service is 14 Robinson Street—within a residential area.

State Supreme Court Justice Isadore Bookstein issued a "cease and desist" order several days ago and the ambulance service has since been out of operation.

The controversy became heated when, on Wednesday, two emergency calls were placed to Saugerties Ambulance Service with the vehicles unable to respond.

Attorney Herbert Weinsoff of Ellenville, claims that all the village has to do to put the service back in operation is to amend article 5, section 2.

Gregory Mulstay, a member of the village board, is reported ready to present a resolution to the board at its May 20 meeting which would amend the ordinance.

Will Give Support

Board members Arthur D. York and Richard Underhill Jr. claimed they will support the resolution.

Village police commissioner and board members Charles Steele claims, however, that "new locations were refused" by the service even when offered free of charge.

"Saugerties Ambulance claims it is not making money and that it is performing its service for the benefit of the community, but when they don't take temporary quarters free of charge, then it doesn't balance out," Steele said.

Miss Tubbs further states that a change in the ordinance "would affect only the property owners in the village—those who pay a village tax on their homes."

She also claims that none of the officers of the ambulance corporation own a home within the village limits and "Mr. Weinsoff lives in Ellenville."

Miss Tubbs asks the question, "Has it ever occurred to you that ambulances in the Village of Saugerties have previously always operated out of the business district zoned for business purposes?"

She further declares that,

"No evidence has ever been presented that would substantiate the claim of financial difficulty in paying the rent," a claim, according to Miss Tubbs, made by a spokesman for the ambulance service.

The likelihood that our representatives in Albany—Senators and Assemblymen—might attempt to rush through in the closing sessions next week, additional tax bills affecting real estate, should bestir local real property taxpayers to let these public servants know that they won't stand for any more taxes. Action must be taken over the weekend.

The Citizens Public Expenditure Survey Inc. points out that homes, business and industrial real property and special franchises taxed as real estate are threatened with tax increases outside the constitutional tax limits by bills introduced in the 1968 Legislature.

The bills would permit taxes to be levied for pension and social security contributions in addition to the tax limit ceiling in the same way that taxes for capital outlays and debt service now can be levied outside the limit.

Already passed in the Senate and now in Rules Committee of the Assembly is Senate Bill No. 5299A. This bill would permit the 66 school districts which contain all or any part of a city having less than 125,000 inhabitants to levy real property taxes for retirement system and social security contributions outside the tax limit.

The potential total of additional taxes as measured by the retirement and social security contributions of municipalities and school districts exceed $500-million a year.

The state legislators just before the Easter holiday period rushed through in record time special retirement pensions for themselves and their employees. This automatically issued a standing invitation to all state and government employees who are members of the state retirement system to claim the same benefits.

In a recent school election, approximately 96 per cent of the voters in the Kingston School District Consolidated who went to the polls rejected the proposal for an increase in the tax limitation to be raised on real estate from 1.75 to 2 per cent.

This time, taxpayers don't have the opportunity to vote directly on the proposed additional taxing power. The only thing left for them is to inform their legislators how they feel about soaring real property taxes.

Nixon's Commanding Lead

As the Indiana primary added to Richard M. Nixon's delegate strength, a survey by correspondents of the New York Times, which is not one of his supporters, shows that the former Vice President has 79 per cent of the convention's 1,333 delegates committed or leaning toward him—58 more than enough to be nominated.

The survey showed 402 delegates for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and 206 for Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

To the suggestion that only 226 delegates have been actually chosen to date, the survey said for the most part the names of the delegates-to-be are fairly well known now, and it was possible to secure their feelings.

Two-third of Nixon's support—472 delegates—was found in the 36 nonprimary states that furnished the bulk of the strength that went to Barry Goldwater in the 1964 convention. But Nixon did not antagonize state party organizations, as Goldwater did. Nixon's strength is in the state party organizations and he used them throughout.

In the 14 primary states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico, Nixon already has 38 delegates from New Hampshire and Wisconsin and is virtually certain of 74 in Indiana, Nebraska, Oregon and South Dakota. Altogether, Nixon's indicated strength in the primary states totals 253 delegates. Rockefeller is given 164 in these states and Reagan 98, all but 12 from his own state of California.

The struggle, therefore, will be in the delegations with favorite sons—Michigan with 46, Tennessee 28, Texas 56, Oklahoma 22, Arkansas 18, Illinois 58 and Ohio 58. Rockefeller must turn these 286 delegates to himself after they cast their first ballot complimentary vote to their favorite sons. Otherwise, Nixon can wrap it up on the second ballot. It would be Nixon's reward for going after the nomination early and diligently and fighting the fight for Republican unity.

Though Gov. George Romney of Michigan last September said he would not accept a position as anyone's running mate, Senator Robert B. Griffin, Michigan, now said Romney would run with Richard M. Nixon. A lot has happened since last September to change many minds.

David Lawrence Says

Humphrey and Nixon Both Gaining Ground

WASHINGTON — Former Vice President Richard Nixon got more votes on the Republican ticket in the Nebraska primary than the combined votes received by Senator Robert Kennedy of New York and Senator Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota. If the additional votes for Governor Ronald Reagan of California and Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York are added to the Nixon total, the entire Republican vote was 190,000, as compared with 152,000 for the whole Democratic vote. Incidentally, it was the biggest vote given either party in a presidential primary in Nebraska history.

Does this mean that Nebraska is to be a Republican state in the next election? President Johnson carried the state in 1964, though in the six previous presidential elections the Republicans won the electoral vote.

It may well be wondered, also, what significance can be attached to the victory of Senator Kennedy over Senator McCarthy. The name of Vice President Humphrey—the contender for the Democratic nomination who will doubtless have the support of President Johnson—was not on the ballot and had to be written in because Mr. Humphrey entered the race after the filing process had been completed. He nevertheless obtained an eight per cent write-in, as contrasted with the five percent write-in for Governor Rockefeller. It would appear from these returns that Mr. Humphrey may still get much of Nebraska's support at the national convention.

The Gallup Poll among Democratic voters which was announced this week showed Mr. Humphrey with 40 per cent, as contrasted with 31 per cent for Senator Kennedy and 19 per cent for Senator McCarthy. This shows a drop of four points in Senator Kennedy's strength since a similar poll was taken in April.

There seems to be no doubt that Vice President Humphrey is gaining ground. The next three primaries—in Oregon, California and South Dakota—will not reflect this strength with the voters, as he is not on the ballot. But there will again be a write-in vote which probably will be larger than he received in the previous primaries.

The Humphrey campaign has taken on considerable momentum in the last ten days, and unquestionably administration officials right down the line favor Mr. Humphrey for the nomination. The President recently cautioned his cabinet officers and high officials to refrain from participating in the pre-convention campaign. But this doesn't mean that many of the office holders throughout the country who are aware of the importance of a position sympathetic with the Johnson administration will miss any chance to pass the word along to the local organizations that

Mr. Humphrey now is the "favorite son" of the administration.

On the Republican side, the vote for Governor Reagan, which amounted to 22 per cent as compared with Mr. Nixon's 71 per cent, could indicate that the ultra-conservative segment of the party is expressing itself. Mr. Nixon probably will not lose any of the Reagan votes if he is nominated for the presidency, but it could build up the movement to give the California Governor the vice-presidential nomination. Likewise, it has been suggested by some Rockefeller supporters that maybe Governor Reagan would be acceptable for second place on the ticket if Governor Rockefeller wins the Republican nomination.

On the whole, the Nebraska primary doesn't settle anything. It does confirm the results in other primaries thus far which show former Vice President Nixon as the favorite of most of the regular Republicans throughout the country. The campaign for Governor Rockefeller has not yet achieved the momentum which his supporters had hoped it would. But they are by no means discouraged by the results and point out that there is plenty of time during the next two and one-half months for the merits of the Rockefeller candidacy to be given consideration by the professional politicians. At this stage of the pre-convention campaign, however, Mr. Nixon unquestionably is out in front.

Coal Miners Suffer From Daily Tragedy of Lung Disease

WASHINGTON—The recent coal mine disaster at Hominy Falls, W. Va., was featured on television and in headlines around the nation. Not featured, however, was the fact that simultaneously coal miners suffer from a daily tragedy—the lung disease of pneumoconiosis. It's caused by breathing very fine coal dust. More than 140,000 active and retired coal miners are suffering from this disease, and almost nothing is being done about it.

In fact, with the mechanization of mines, coal dust has become finer and the disease more prevalent. It leads to the gradual collapse of lung functioning and death.

Every year 1,200 miners die of pneumoconiosis in Pennsylvania alone. Pennsylvania, a state which recognizes the tragic results of the disease, will pay out around $50 million in damages to miners' families this year, and about $70 million next year. Most states, however, don't recognize the disease.

Meanwhile, few steps are taken to prevent pneumoconiosis, such as ventilation of the mines and watering-down coal. In western Europe, coal-mining nations have taken vigorous steps to combat pneumoconiosis, but in the United States the Bureau of Mines has adopted no standards to control coal dust.

The Coal Mine Safety Act of 1952 exempts the largest single area of death and injury, namely the working face of the mine, from federal safety regulation. Further enforcement of the safe act has become a farce. Violation after violation has been cited since the act became law in 1952, but only one penalty has ever been assessed against a mine operator.

Flowers More Important

The U. S. Bureau of Mines is under the strong influence of the Bituminous Coal Operators Association. Meanwhile Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udahl has appeared more interested in bicycle paths through parks and preservation of woods and flowers than the protection of coal miners' health.

There was a day when John L. Lewis, beetle-browed president of the United Mine Workers, forced the building of hospitals in the coal mining areas. However, the UMW treasury has become so low, following the mechanization of mines and the decrease of UMW membership, that the union has been unable to finance the hospitals, and most have been turned over to local communities.

W. A. Boyle, who now replaces Lewis as president of the mine workers, has seemed more interested in combating atomic energy and natural gas than fighting for safety and health of the miners.

Recently Secretary Udahl, worried over mine safety, appointed Under Secretary of the Interior David S. Black as chief of an investigating team to look into the operation of the Bureau of Mines. It will be interesting to see what, if anything happens.

Note: Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D. Tex., will start investigating industrial safety next week.

Navy's Best Friend

The Navy's best friend on Capitol Hill is that delightful alcoholic, Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., whose ability to outlive his seniors has made him chairman of the powerful House Armed Services Committee.

There is no indiscretion that Chairman Rivers and the Navy brass won't cover up for one another. In the Defense Department an alcoholic is fired immediately as a security risk. But when Rivers imbibes too deeply, the Navy dispatches an ambulance to whisk him to the Bethesda Naval Hospital to dry out at the taxpayers expense. In return he rescues the brass from the errors of their ways.

At the Navy's urging, for example, he is now trying to head off Congressional demands for a Court of Inquiry into the controversial Arnharter affair. The court is sought by Rep. Joe Resnick, D-N.Y., to settle whether the Navy was justified in firing Lt. Cmdr. Marcus Arnharter as commander of the radar picket ship USS Vance in 1966.

Resnick's colleagues to join him in petitioning Secretary of the Navy Paul Ignatius to give Arnharter his day in court. The petition doesn't ask Ignatius to decide in Arnharter's favor but merely to convene a Court of Inquiry.

The Navy brass, who might be embarrassed by an open hearing, have asked Rivers to use his influence to keep Congressmen from signing the petition.

Resnick conducted his own ad hoc investigation of the Arnharter affair after Chairman Rivers flatly refused to look into the case. When Resnick's findings began to embarrass the brass, however, Rivers changed his mind and authorized a "staff study."

The study consisted of examining selected Navy documents derogatory toward Arnharter. The staff completely ignored a stack of contradictory documents which Arnharter rushed over to the Committee. Not a single witness favorable to Arnharter was questioned. Rivers' staff member John Blandford and George Norris, also refused offers from Resnick's office to compare evidence.

Predictably, their study concluded that the Navy had "adequate grounds" to question Arnharter's fitness for command.

Pet Food vs. Food Stamps

Undersecretary of Commerce Howard Samuels has done some interesting research into federal spending.

He found that Americans spend as much on pet food as on food stamps for the poor. They also spend as much on hair dye as for mass transit grants, as much for chewing gum as for model cities, more for tobacco than for higher education.

Americans also spend $300 million a year for costume jewelry—30 times more than the annual appropriation for the Teachers' Corps.

Uptown Urban Renewal

35 Elmendorf Street
Kingston, N. Y.

Editor, The Freeman

Another substantial brick building in our city on Fair Street will be demolished which I understand is to increase the capacity of the small parking lot that already exists, adjacent.

Then we have another parking lot on the same street across from the Stuyvesant Hotel with entrance on Clinton Avenue which did not pay to operate.

On North Front Street there are two more small parking lots, which have been used very little and are also considered obsolete.

In previous issues of The Freeman, I read about the demolition of the old Montgomery Ward building also on North Front Street for an elevator parking building for 80 cars which the business people up town unanimously favored for the prospects of bringing back business to the uptown shopping area.

I am not opposed to the thinking of these gentlemen, with reference to urban renewal plans for uptown, but our streets are narrow and the traffic jams these areas will create must be considered.

We have driven business out of the city and called it progress toward the future and those whom I've talked with, including myself, feel that we are 20 years too late and are placing the cart before the horse demolishing our business buildings for parking lots and lowering tax revenues generally.

The trend of shoppers today (and we must recognize that fact) is to adopt the Plaza where all their needs are consolidated, with no overtime parking tickets, delays by traffic jams, which prove frustrating in a rapidly moving community and world.

I would like very much to see business return to the uptown area as it once existed, but under my observations of the trend of our times, I have a negative attitude because it is now much too late.

Sincerely yours,
EDWIN J. HIGBY

Ambulance Service

25 Robinson Street
Saugerties, New York
May 13, 1968

Editor, The Freeman:

Not one of the recent newscasts concerning the Saugerties Ambulance Service bothered to mention just why the New York Supreme Court twice ruled against the Village.

No mention was made of just what both those decisions mean. Those Supreme Court rulings are telling the Village officials that the Village zoning Board in its decision (a split decision) was wrong in the first place; that the Ambulance Service should never have been allowed to start operating from the present address.

The Village lawyers presented all the facts available to support the local zoning board's decision. Nobody put words in their mouths or altered any facts. On the basis of all the information available the Court twice ruled that the Village was in error and the Court issued an injunction directing the Village to uphold the law. The six petitioners should never have had to sue in the first place.

I think it only right and fair, in view of the public harassment the petitioners have been subjected to, that the Village officials issue a public statement which clearly says the original error was theirs and that all the hysteria, ill feeling and spent money, both private funds and taxpayers' funds, would not have been necessary if the Village officials had understood its law and done its duty in the first place!

When radio and newspapers present one side or view point of an issue, it is only fair that they present the other side without altering or slanting facts.

High Student Suicide Rate, Blame Parents

By ARTHUR J. SNIDER

Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

BOSTON — Parental pressure to make good grades is helping drive the suicide rate among college students to an all-time high.

In 1966, a suicide threat was made by more than 100,000 college students. One in 10 of these actually attempted suicide and 1,000 succeeded.

Suicide among college students is now the second greatest death cause in the 15-24 age range.

In citing these alarming statistics before the American Psychiatric Assn. yesterday, Dr. Mathew Ross of the Harvard Medical School said one of the solutions is easing of expectations and demands by parents for excellence of performances.

The typical suicidal college student, said Dr. Ross, is one who is away from home, perhaps lonely, working hard, anxious to do well, when he is not doing well, he may seek to repress his anxiety with liquor, sex or accepted forms of student violence.

"When these are exhausted and the student remains alone with the problem," Dr. Ross continued, "he has three alternatives. He can cope and muddle through, see a physician, or as many do, commit suicide."

Ross believes that suicide is predictable and preventable. There are many tip-offs.

A student may have a sudden behavior change. Become withdrawn. He seldom leaves his unkept room, even for meals. He may develop a disheveled appearance. He has difficulty concentrating. The printed page has no meaning. He broods and daydreams. He may sit all day listening to Hi-Fi music.

Reviewing suicide data from Ivy League schools, university of California, Michigan, Radcliffe, Vassar and several British schools, Dr. Ross found that another contributory factor to suicide is death of a parent, particularly the father.

Another factor is financial pressure. Many of the suicide victims receive educational grants. Authorities have made clear that in the event of a failure, the grant will be stopped.

In the 14 primary states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico, Nixon already has 38 delegates from New Hampshire and Wisconsin and is virtually certain of 74 in Indiana, Nebraska, Oregon and South Dakota. Altogether, Nixon's indicated strength in the primary states totals 253 delegates. Rockefeller is given 164 in these states and Reagan 98, all but 12 from his own state of California.

The struggle, therefore, will be in the delegations with favorite sons—Michigan with 46, Tennessee 28, Texas 56, Oklahoma 22, Arkansas 18, Illinois 58 and Ohio 58. Rockefeller must turn these 286 delegates to himself after they cast their first ballot complimentary vote to their favorite sons. Otherwise, Nixon can wrap it up on the second ballot. It would be Nixon's reward for going after the nomination early and diligently and fighting the fight for Republican unity.

Though Gov. George Romney of Michigan last September said he would not accept a position as anyone's running mate, Senator Robert B. Griffin, Michigan, now said Romney would run with Richard M. Nixon. A lot has happened since last September to change many minds.

Humphrey and Nixon Both Gaining Ground

WASHINGTON — Former Vice President Richard Nixon got more votes on the Republican ticket in the Nebraska primary than the combined votes received by Senator Robert Kennedy of New York and Senator Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota. If the additional votes for Governor Ronald Reagan of California and Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York are added to the Nixon total, the entire Republican vote was 190,000, as compared with 152,000 for the whole Democratic vote. Incidentally, it was the biggest vote given either party in a presidential primary in Nebraska history.

Does this mean that Nebraska is to be a Republican state in the next election? President Johnson carried the state in 1964, though in the six previous presidential elections the Republicans won the electoral vote.

It may well be wondered, also, what significance can be attached to the victory of Senator Kennedy over Senator McCarthy. The name of Vice President Humphrey—the contender for the Democratic nomination who will doubtless have the support of President Johnson—was not on the ballot and had to be written in because Mr. Humphrey entered the race after the filing process had been completed. He nevertheless obtained an eight per cent write-in, as contrasted with the five percent write-in for Governor Rockefeller. It would appear from these returns that Mr. Humphrey may still get much of Nebraska's support at the national convention.

The Gallup Poll among Democratic voters which was announced this week showed Mr. Humphrey with 40 per cent, as contrasted with 31 per cent for Senator Kennedy and 19 per cent for Senator McCarthy. This shows a drop of four points in Senator Kennedy's strength since a similar poll was taken in April.

There seems to be no doubt that Vice President Humphrey is gaining ground. The next three primaries—in Oregon, California and South Dakota—will not reflect this strength with the voters, as he is not on the ballot. But there will again be a write-in vote which probably will be larger than he received in the previous primaries.

The Humphrey campaign has taken on considerable momentum in the last ten days, and unquestionably administration officials right down the line favor Mr. Humphrey for the nomination. The President recently cautioned his cabinet officers and high officials to refrain from participating in the pre-convention campaign. But this doesn't mean that many of the office holders throughout the country who are aware of the importance of a position sympathetic with the Johnson administration will miss any chance to pass the word along to the local organizations that

Mr. Humphrey now is the "favorite son" of the administration.

On the Republican side, the vote for Governor Reagan, which amounted to 22 per cent as compared with Mr. Nixon's 71 per cent, could indicate that the ultra-conservative segment of the party is expressing itself. Mr. Nixon probably will not lose any of the Reagan votes if he is nominated for the presidency, but it could build up the movement to give the California Governor the vice-presidential nomination. Likewise, it has been suggested by some Rockefeller supporters that maybe Governor Reagan would be acceptable for second place on the ticket if Governor Rockefeller wins the Republican nomination.

On the whole, the Nebraska primary doesn't settle anything. It does confirm the results in other primaries thus far which show former Vice President Nixon as the favorite of most of the regular Republicans throughout the country. The campaign for Governor Rockefeller has not yet achieved the momentum which his supporters had hoped it would. But they are by no means discouraged by the results and point out that there is plenty of time during the next two and one-half months for the merits of the Rockefeller candidacy to be given consideration by the professional politicians. At this stage of the pre-convention campaign, however, Mr. Nixon unquestionably is out in front.

Bobby Kennedy's Stance

Disavows JFK Vietnam Policy

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent
PORTLAND, Ore. (NEA)—Against the backdrop of Vietnam talks in Paris, the question keeps arising as to what the late John F. Kennedy might have done about Vietnam in the years 1965-68.

One observer has noted that Vice President Humphrey is more constant and more vigorous in his defense of the late President's Vietnam policy than is Sen. Robert Kennedy.

Bob Kennedy seldom speaks of the Kennedy administration's Vietnam policy and even more rarely deals with it in a positive way.

In declaring his own present opposition to the war, he says, in fact, that he was wrong in lending his support to the conflict as a key member of his brother's administration. The clear import of this is that he believes John Kennedy himself was wrong in the Vietnam decisions he made in 1961-63.

The argument is continuously advanced by many Democratic liberals, including some aides and friends of the late President, that he would never have involved this nation in Vietnam with large ground and air forces.

One of the most recent to drop this notion is Pierre Salinger, formerly John Kennedy's press secretary and now helping his brother try to win the 1968 presidential nomination.

On its face, the argument is unprovable, since Kennedy did not live to confront the conditions in Vietnam which led President Johnson to order larger U. S. participation.

Those who try to make the unprovable case usually make highly selective use of John Kennedy's utterances on the subject—picking out those in which he voiced concern about "overcommitment" in Vietnam and in Asia generally.

Theodore Sorenson, another top John Kennedy aide now working for brother Bob, wrote in his book on the assassinated President that the U. S. commitment in Vietnam was "not one that President Kennedy felt he could abandon without undesirable consequences throughout Asia and the world."

Sorenson said the late Presi-

Coal Miners Suffer From Daily Tragedy of Lung Disease

WASHINGTON—The recent coal mine disaster at Hominy Falls, W. Va., was featured on television and in headlines around the nation. Not featured, however, was the fact that simultaneously coal miners suffer from a daily tragedy—the lung disease of pneumoconiosis. It's caused by breathing very fine coal dust. More than 140,000 active and retired coal miners are suffering from this disease, and almost nothing is being done about it.

In fact, with the mechanization of mines, coal dust has become finer and the disease more prevalent. It leads to the gradual collapse of lung functioning and death.

Every year 1,200 miners die of pneumoconiosis in Pennsylvania alone. Pennsylvania, a state which recognizes the tragic results of the disease, will pay out around $50 million in damages to miners' families this year, and about $70 million next year. Most states, however, don't recognize the disease.

Meanwhile, few steps are taken to prevent pneumoconiosis, such as ventilation of the mines and watering-down coal. In western Europe, coal-mining nations have taken vigorous steps to combat pneumoconiosis, but in the United States the Bureau of Mines has adopted no standards to control coal dust.

The Coal Mine Safety Act of 1952 exempts the largest single area of death and injury, namely the working face of the mine, from federal safety regulation. Furthermore, enforcement of the safe act has become a farce. Violation after violation has been cited since the act became law in 1952, but only one penalty has ever been assessed against a mine operator.

Flowers More Important

The U. S. Bureau of Mines is under the strong influence of the Bituminous Coal Operators Association. Meanwhile Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udahl has appeared more interested in bicycle paths through parks and preservation of woods and flowers than the protection of coal miners' health.

There was a day when John L. Lewis, beetle-browed president of the United Mine Workers, forced the building of hospitals in the coal mining areas. However, the UMW treasury has become so low, following the mechanization of mines and the decrease of UMW membership, that the union has been unable to finance the hospitals, and most have been turned over to local communities.

W. A. Boyle, who now replaces Lewis as president of the mine workers, has seemed more interested in combating atomic energy and natural gas than fighting for safety and health of the miners.

Recently Secretary Udahl, worried over mine safety, appointed Under Secretary of the Interior David S. Black as chief of an investigating team to look into the operation of the Bureau of Mines. It will be interesting to see what, if anything happens.

Note: Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D. Tex., will start investigating industrial safety next week.

Navy's Best Friend

The Navy's best friend on Capitol Hill is that delightful alcoholic, Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., whose ability to outlive his seniors has made him chairman of the powerful House Armed Services Committee.

There is no indiscretion that Chairman Rivers and the Navy brass won't cover up for one another. In the Defense Department an alcoholic is fired immediately as a security risk. But when Rivers imbibes too deeply, the Navy dispatches an ambulance to whisk him to the Bethesda Naval Hospital to dry out at the taxpayers expense. In return he rescues the brass from the errors of their ways.

At the Navy's urging, for example, he is now trying to head off Congressional demands for a Court of Inquiry into the controversial Arnhelter affair. The court is sought by Rep. Joe Resnick, D-N.Y., to settle whether the Navy was justified in firing Lt. Cmdr. Marcus Arnhelter as commander of the radar picket ship USS Vance in 1966.

Resnick has invited his House colleagues to join him in petitioning Secretary of the Navy Paul Ignatius to give Arnhelter his day in court. The petition doesn't ask Ignatius to decide in Arnhelter's favor but merely to convene a Court of Inquiry.

The Navy brass, who might be embarrassed by an open hearing, have asked Rivers to use his influence to keep Congressmen from signing the petition.

Resnick conducted his own ad hoc investigation of the Arnhelter affair after Chairman Rivers flatly refused to look into the case. When Resnick's findings began to embarrass the brass, however, Rivers changed his mind and authorized a "staff study."

The study consisted of examining selected Navy documents derogatory toward Arnhelter. The staff completely ignored a stack of contradictory documents which Arnhelter rushed over to the Committee. Not a single witness favorable to Arnhelter was questioned. Rivers' staff men John Blandford and George Norris, also refused offers from Resnick's office to compare evidence.

Predictably, their study concluded that the Navy had "adequate grounds" to question Arnhelter's fitness for command.

Pet Food vs. Food Stamps

Undersecretary of Commerce Howard Samuels has done some interesting research into federal spending.

He found that Americans spend as much on pet food as on food stamps for the poor. They also spend as much on hair dye as for mass transit grants, as much for chewing gum as for model cities, more for tobacco than for higher education.

Americans also spend $300 million a year for costume jewelry—30 times more than the annual appropriation for the Teachers' Corps.

Uptown Urban Renewal
34 Elmendorf Street
Kingston, N. Y.
Editor, The Freeman

Another substantial brick building in our city on Fair Street will be demolished which I understand is to increase the capacity of the small parking lot that already exists, adjacent.

Then we have another parking lot on the same street across from the Stuyvesant Hotel with entrance on Clinton Avenue which did not pay to operate.

On North Front Street there are two more small parking lots, which have been used very little and are also considered obsolete.

In previous issues of The Freeman, I read about the demolition of the old Montgomery Ward building also on North Front Street for an elevator parking building for 800 cars which the business people uptown unanimously favored for the prospects of bringing back business to the uptown shopping area.

I am not opposed to the thinking of these gentlemen, with reference to urban renewal plans for uptown, but our streets are narrow and the traffic jams these areas will create must be considered.

We have driven business out of the city and called it progress toward the future and those whom I've talked with, including myself, feel that we are 20 years too late and are placing the cart before the horse demolishing our business buildings for parking lots and lowering tax revenues generally.

The trend of shoppers today (and we must recognize that fact) is to adopt the Plaza where all their needs are consolidated, with no overtime parking tickets, delays by traffic jams, which prove frustrating in a rapidly moving community and world.

I would like very much to see business return to the uptown area as it once existed, but under my observations of the trend of our times, I have a negative attitude because it is now much too late.

Sincerely yours,
EDWIN J. HIGBY

Editor, The Freeman:

Not one of the recent newscasts concerning the Saugerties Ambulance Service bothered to mention just why the New York Supreme Court twice ruled against the Village.

No mention was made of just what both those decisions mean. Those Supreme Court rulings are telling the Village officials that the Village Zoning Board in its decision (a split decision) was wrong in the first place; that the Ambulance Service should never have been allowed to start operating from the present addresses.

The Village lawyers presented all the facts available to support the local zoning board's decision. Nobody put words in their mouths or altered any facts. On the basis of all the information available the Court twice ruled that the Village was in error and the Court issued an injunction directing the Village to uphold the law. The six petitioners should never have had to sue in the first place.

Dear Mr. Simpson:

We want the members of the Lions Club to know how much the large print copies of the New York Sunday Times are appreciated by the patients in the Ulster County Infirmary and the Infirmary Annex. Your thoughtful gift is delivered to the Infirmary, where it is now enjoyed by 12 persons with limited sight. It is then taken to the Annex, where another nine persons are able to read the news without undue eye strain.

Thank you. We trust you will continue this meaningful gift to our hospitalized senior citizens.

High Student Suicide Rate, Blame Parents

By ARTHUR J. SNIDER

Chicago Daily News Foreign Service
BOSTON — Parental pressure to make good grades is helping drive the suicide rate among college students to an all-time high.

In 1966, a suicide threat was made by more than 100,000 college students. One in 10 of these actually attempted suicide and 1,000 succeeded.

Suicide among college students is now the second greatest death cause in the 15-24 age range.

In citing these alarming statistics before the American Psychiatric Assn. yesterday, Dr. Mathew Ross of the Harvard Medical School said one of the solutions is easing of expectations and demands by parents for excellence of performances.

The typical suicidal college student, said Dr. Ross, is one who is away from home, perhaps lonely, working hard, anxious to do well, when he is not doing well, he may seek to repress his anxiety with liquor, sex or accepted forms of student violence.

"When these are exhausted and the student remains alone with the problem," Dr. Ross continued, "he has three alternatives. He can cope and muddle through, see a physician, or as many do, commit suicide.

Ross believes that suicide is predictable and preventable. There are many tip-offs.

A student may have a sudden behavior change. Become withdrawn. He seldom leaves his unkept room, even for meals. He may develop a disheveled appearance, a worried, furrowed brow. He has difficulty concentrating. The printed page has no meaning. He broods and daydreams. He may sit all day listening to Hi-Fi music.

Reviewing suicide data from Ivy League schools, university of California, Michigan, Radcliffe, Vassar and several British schools, Dr. Ross found that another contributory factor to suicide is death of a parent, particularly the father.

Another factor is financial pressure.

Many of the suicide victims receive educational grants. Authorities have made clear that in the event of a failure, the grant will be stopped.

Housing Headaches Predicted In Poor People's Campaign City

By AUSTIN SCOTT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Poor People's Campaigners by the hundreds are pouring into the nation's capital once again, setting the stage for a hectic week end that promises to give campaign officials enormous housing headaches before Monday.

The caravans that the Southern Christian Leadership Conference field staff organized around the country weeks ago are converging on "Resurrection City, U.S.A.," which at this stage of construction hasn't room for them all.

Housing for 700

Officials estimate they have housing ready for 700 persons in the plywood and plastic shantytown in sight of the Lincoln Memorial.

Five hundred campaigners, mostly from Mississippi and Alabama, are living there now, and SCLC temporarily placed 340 more who arrived Thursday from Chicago in Washington churches.

Another 700 due to arrive today from a caravan that began in Boston will be housed in suburban Maryland churches, officials said. They aren't yet sure where to send the 1,000 persons set to arrive Saturday from a Midwestern caravan that was halted for two days in Pittsburgh to gain construction time.

Harried campaign officials, visibly tired from a series of unpredictable small crises like Thursday's visit of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and several mayors, are hard at work on a fund-raising drive they feel will speed construction.

Construction has been slowed, organizers said, by rain and a shortage of money and volunteers.

Despite the problems, the first completed section of the projected 3,000-man camp is beginning to sprout symbols of the spirit and individuality of the people who have now called it home four days.

There are bright red throw rugs on the unpainted plywood floors of a few tent-shaped shanties. On another, a triangle of the type used by symphony orchestras hangs next to a sign that reads, "Ring bell."

As rain pelted the visitors, Humphrey termed the Poor People's Campaign "the American way" of seeking change.

"Your work is going to produce results," he said. And to The Rev. James Bevel's long explanation of what he called a nonviolent revolution, the vice president offered a constant stream of comments: "Yes sir, keep that kind of talk up," and "speak to the people as you spoke to us."

Senate Rejects Proposals To Ban Gun Sales by Mail

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has rejected proposals to ban interstate mail-order sales of rifles and shotguns and sales to private citizens of antitank guns, bazookas, mortars and machine guns.

The vote Thursday was 53 to 29 against prohibiting mail-order sales of rifles and shotguns. The measure was sponsored by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., whose brother, President John F. Kennedy, was assassinated with a mail-order rifle.

The votes of Western and Southern senators of both parties doomed Kennedy's proposal.

A White House spokesman said President Johnson considered defeat of the Kennedy measure "a blow to effective law enforcement."

The Senate voted to prohibit mail-order sales of handguns. Other Voting Begins

Voting is expected to begin next Tuesday on other parts of a broad crime-control bill, including a controversial provision to overturn Supreme Court restrictions on admissibility of confessions and eyewitness identifications in criminal trials.

Other disputes center on sections authorizing court-supervised police wiretapping and federal grants to improve local law enforcement.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., tried to save Kennedy's proposal with an amendment to allow states to exempt their citizens from the proposed ban on mail-order gun sales. That was rejected 54 to 29.

Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., questioned the constitutionality of Dodd's amendment, saying states already are free to act on gun-control laws.

Many Federal Employees Will Join Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Substantial numbers of federal employees say they'll use off-hours and vacation time to join the Poor People's Campaign—some lining up against programs and policies of their own agencies.

Neither campaign nor federal officials are able to say how many employees are volunteering for the demonstration, but a reporter's check of several agencies shows interest running strong.

This interest is more pronounced among Negro employees but many whites also are planning to help.

Although few yet have taken part in the newly started campaign, large numbers of employees from such agencies as Health, Education and Welfare; the Public Health Service and the Peace Corps are offering their services.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., led the fight against the long-gun amendments, contending they would make it difficult or impossible for sportsmen and hunters to buy weapons.

But Hruska went down to defeat, 45 to 37, when he tried to eliminate the bill's ban on interstate mail-order sales of handguns and their over-the-counter sales to nonresidents of a state.

Senate Rejects Proposals To Ban Gun Sales by Mail

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has rejected proposals to ban interstate mail-order sales of rifles and shotguns and sales to private citizens of antitank guns, bazookas, mortars and machine guns.

The vote Thursday was 53 to 29 against prohibiting mail-order sales of rifles and shotguns. The measure was sponsored by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., whose brother, President John F. Kennedy, was assassinated with a mail-order rifle.

The votes of Western and Southern senators of both parties doomed Kennedy's proposal.

A White House spokesman said President Johnson considered defeat of the Kennedy measure "a blow to effective law enforcement."

The Senate voted to prohibit mail-order sales of handguns.

Other Voting Begins

Voting is expected to begin next Tuesday on other parts of a broad crime-control bill, including a controversial provision to overturn Supreme Court restrictions on admissibility of confessions and eyewitness identifications in criminal trials.

Other disputes center on sections authorizing court-supervised police wiretapping and federal grants to improve local law enforcement.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., tried to save Kennedy's proposal with an amendment to allow states to exempt their citizens from the proposed ban on mail-order gun sales. That was rejected 54 to 29.

Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., questioned the constitutionality of Dodd's amendment, saying states already are free to act on gun-control laws.

Leads the Fight

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., led the fight against the long-gun amendments, contending they would make it difficult or impossible for sportsmen and hunters to buy weapons.

But Hruska went down to defeat, 45 to 37, when he tried to eliminate the bill's ban in interstate mail-order sales of handguns and their over-the-counter sales to nonresidents of a state.

Housing Headaches Predicted In Poor People's Campaign City

By AUSTIN SCOTT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Poor People's Campaigners by the hundreds are pouring into the nation's capital once again, setting the stage for a hectic week end that promises to give campaign officials enormous housing headaches before Monday.

The caravans that the Southern Christian Leadership Conference field staff organized around the country weeks ago are converging on "Resurrection City, U.S.A.," which at this stage of construction hasn't room for them all.

Housing for 700

Officials estimate they have housing ready for 700 persons in the plywood and plastic shantytown in sight of the Lincoln Memorial.

Five hundred campaigners, mostly from Mississippi and Alabama, are living there now, and SCLC temporarily placed 340 more who arrived Thursday from Chicago in Washington churches.

Another 700 due to arrive today from a caravan that began in Boston will be housed in suburban Maryland churches, officials said.

They aren't yet sure where to send the 1,000 persons set to arrive Saturday from a Midwestern caravan that was halted for two days in Pittsburgh to gain construction time.

More Due Sunday

And there is a group due in Sunday from the South.

There are enough churches to house everyone temporarily, top staff members say. The problem will be getting them moved as rapidly as possible into the camp.

On top of all that, no one knows just how many sympathetic or curious visitors, attracted by this week's news stories of the growing city, will flood into the area.

Harried campaign officials, visibly tired from a series of unpredictable small crises like Thursday's visit of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and several mayors, are hard at work on a fund-raising drive they feel will speed construction.

Construction has been slowed, organizers said, by rain and a shortage of money and volunteers.

Despite the problems, the first completed section of the projected 3,000-man camp is beginning to sprout symbols of the spirit and individuality of the people who have now called it home four days.

There are bright red throw rugs on the unpainted plywood floors of a few tent-shaped shanties. On another, a triangle of the type used by symphony orchestras hangs next to a sign that reads, "Ring bell."

A Real Workout

Humphrey's visit put Resurrection City's security system through a real workout. Accompanied by New York Mayor John V. Lindsay, Atlanta Mayor Ivan Allen and Washington Mayor Walter E. Washington, the vice president was guided through a shoving, pushing crowd by a ring of marshals who locked arms against the press of people.

As rain pelted the visitors, Humphrey termed the Poor People's Campaign "the American way" of seeking change.

"Your work is going to produce results," he said. And to The Rev. James Bevel's long explanation of what he called a nonviolent revolution, the vice president offered a constant stream of comments: "Yes sir, keep that kind . . . of talk up, and 'speak to the people as you spoke to us.'"

Scholarship Fund Drive Nears End

The Saugerties Dollars for Scholars 1968 campaign is drawing to a close according to John F. Carrington, president. Campaign chairman Harry Hoffman, in his weekly reports, has stated that considerable sums have been raised, but that several areas still remain to be contacted. Already a sufficient sum has been obtained in order that the award committee will have funds available for scholarships this year for Saugerties High School students who desire to obtain further higher education in the fall.

Several sizable contributions have been made to the Saugerties Dollars for Scholars fund, the major donation being $250 from Robert Langer of the Simmons Plaza Langer Pharmacy.

A final report on the 1968 fund drive will be made in the near future, when the final fund-raising activities actually cease.

Spring Youth Rally at Reform Church

The Reformed Church of Saugerties will be host to the Spring Youth Rally of the Mid-Hudson Classis on Sunday afternoon and evening with delegates arriving from the various Reformed Churches of the Mid-Hudson Classis at 3 p.m. The program will be under the direction of the youth advisor of the Classis, the Rev. Robert Hess.

The young people of the Reformed Church of Saugerties will be hosts at the dinner that will follow the program at 6 p.m. in the chapel. Following the dinner, the organization matters will be considered and a concluding worship service will be held with the rally ending at 7:30 p.m. William Brown, president of the Senior High Youth Fellowship, and Scott Shultis, president of the Junior High Youth Fellowship, are coordinating the events for the local church.

The Consistory of the church will meet on Wednesday, May 22 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Terry Staples, Malden-on-Hudson.

The young people who have been preparing for Confirmation will be guests at a dinner sponsored by the consistory of the Church on Thursday evening, May 23, at 6:30 p.m.

Each young person, together with his parents, will be received by the Elders of the Church that evening and will receive Holy Communion on the following Sunday, May 26. Chairmen for the dinner are Clarence Bryden, education committee chairman of the consistory for youth and George A. Turner, Jr., membership chairman.

Communion Breakfast

The Holy Name Society of St. Mary of the Snow, Saugerties, will hold their annual communion breakfast Sunday, June 9, in the school cafeteria following the 8 a.m. Mass.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be William Martin, Ulster County Sheriff. Donald Trees, breakfast chairman, has announced that tickets will be on sale following all the Masses for the next three Sundays or by contacting any Holy Name member.

Field Trips

Thirty-one pupils in the fourth grade class of Mrs. Marjorie King at the Grant D. Morse School enjoyed a bus trip to local history sites in Katsbaan and Asbury on Thursday, May 9.

The second grade class of Main Street School, Mrs. Alvina Krolsen, teacher, visited the local post office recently. They were accompanied by Mrs. Hugo Holmquist and Mrs. Gerald Breithaupt.

Saugerties CYO Names Events

The executive committee of St. Mary of the Snow CYO met this week with the Rev. Joseph Hamilton, moderator, and Donald Longtree, chairman, presiding. Committee reports were heard and plans formulated for the activities scheduled as follows: May 19, bicycle hike, starting from St. Mary's School at 1 p.m. with Miss Peggy Karashay in charge assisted by Edward M. Flanagan.

May 22, Teen-Age Federation meeting at 8 p.m. in the school cafeteria. Mrs. Nancy Buser, teen-age advisor, presiding.

May 26, Teen-Age Federation Communion breakfast in the school cafeteria following the 8 a.m. Mass. The guest speaker will be Lawrence Cahill, well known Saugerties resident and educator.

May 29, St. Mary's will be host to the Ulster County CYO meeting to be held in the school cafeteria starting at 8 p.m.

Up With Christ Day in Glasco

"Up With Christ Day" was held at St. Joseph's Church, Glasco, recently. It was conducted by the Redemptorist priests and brothers from Mount St. Alphonsus, Esopus. Brothers of the Marist Novitiate also attended.

The day was spent in discussion, a celebrated folk Mass and a buffet dinner-dance at the Flamingo Restaurant, Saugerties.

The Redemptorist folk-rock group, "The Collarmen," including Father James Bek, Father Ralph Bennett, Father Carlos Valles, Father Bill Grassman and seminarians Frank Browne and Chuck Beierwaltes played and sang at the folk Mass and on stage at the Flamingo.

Name Cancer Crusade Captains, Chairmen

Chairmen, captains and crusaders in the Town of Saugerties for this year's Cancer Crusade were announced today by Mrs. Terrence Martin, town campaign chairman.

Sonic Boom Problem May Be Solved

A phone call recently made by Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick to Stewart Air Force Base may solve the problem of sonic booms that have disturbed Ulster County residents.

The congressman announced today that his call to the Air Force installation resulted in the base agreeing to "remove any portion of their overland operations that would involve supersonic flights, unless essential to the defense and welfare of the nation."

According to air base spokesmen, the military installation will confine their operations to over-water flights but cannot be responsible for air flights of other commands or services.

The Ellenville Democrat commended Stewart Air Force Base for the action.

Highland Firm Cited for Fair Labor Offenses

U. S. Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz has asked the U. S. District Court of New York to restrain the F. V. Kedenburg Co. Inc. of Highland from future violations of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

hTe company, and Frank V. Kedenburg, was cited for failure to pay overtime and failure to keep proper records. Kedenburg's firm installs and repairs refrigeration and air conditioning equipment. It is located on the New Paltz Road in Highland.

Frank B. Mercurio, regional director of the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage-Hour and Public Contracts Divisions also reported that 16 new civil actions and two criminal informations were filed during the month of April.

In addition, there were 12 court actions concluded in April restraining employers from future violations of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Mercurio, in charge of all federal wage and hour investigations in New York and New Jersey, reported that 13 new wage and hour civil injunctive actions were filed during April by Secretary Wirtz through Solicitor of Labor Charles Donahue.

Savago Speaks At Saugerties GOP Meeting

Peter J. Savago on his campaign trail through the county for support in his June 18 primary fight for the Republican nomination as member of the State Assembly visited the regular session of Saugerties Republican Club Thursday night at VFW hall.

The County Legislature chairman was introduced by Saugerties Legislator Clifford Snyder, who is serving as one of Savago's local coordinators.

Savago spoke about spending money, the taxpayer's favorite topic and the discussion was well received. He explained about the huge appropriation for Medicaid and how this has held back other necessary county projects such as a new jail, an infirmary and a county airport.

During a question and answer period various solutions to the welfare problem were discussed. Club Vice President Charles Fous, who presided in the absence of Paul Pavlovich, president, served as moderator.

Town Councilman George Turner urged support of a fund raising picnic for Thomas Mayone's campaign for sheriff to be held at St. Liberata's Field, East Kingston June 16.

George Terpening, ticket chairman for the club's annual dinner dance noted the event will be held Saturday, June 1 at the Flamingo Restaurant.

Gregory Fowler reported on the county charter commission hearings being conducted throughout the county. The hearing in Saugerties will be held June 5 at Saugerties Savings Bank meeting rooms.

DIED

COLLEGE POST—The nation's first Negro cabinet member, Housing and Urban Development Secretary Robert C. Weaver, was named Wednesday President of the Bernard Baruch College of City University of the N. Y. Board of Higher Education. Weaver said earlier in Washington he would resign his cabinet post after this November's elections. His appointment as college president will take effect in January 1969. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Relations Head Is Satisfied On Relocation

The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, chairman of the Human Relations Commission, met with representatives of Kingston Housing Authority and Urban Renewal Agency to discuss recent criticism of the housing authority's proposal to rehabilitate homes in the Seventh Ward.

After investigating the facts, the Human Relations Commission was satisfied that the housing authority and urban renewal had acted in the best interests of the people who are to be relocated.

The human relation group will have regular meetings with the urban renewal agency, Kingston Housing Authority and other organizations involved in the rehabilitation and relocation proceedings.

July Fourth Target Date At Stony Run

A "crash" program to ready the first of its recreational facilities for use by Independence Day has been announced by Stony Run Company, builder of the Stony Run Apartments community on Hurley Avenue, just west of the Thruway overpass in Kingston.

The first of three swimming pools, according to Lawrence J. Goldrich, one of the principals, has been placed under construction. The leisure-time amenities were not originally scheduled for completion until September. Goldrich said. However, the public acceptance of Stony Run has been faster than anticipated, so the builders scrapped their original plans and pushed ahead with their recreational phase of the development.

The Stony Run colony, at its eventual completion, will provide luxury accommodations for 240 families. Its initial phase, comprising 2 and 3-story buildings and 120 suites, is now in course of construction. Eight of the buildings are now in final steps of construction and will be delivered in late May, June and July.

The apartments range in size from one to three bedrooms. They include individual central air-conditioning, wall-to-wall carpeting, four major appliances, terraces or patios and full privileges at all community recreational facilities. A renting office is open on the property from 11 a. m. to dark, seven days a week.

Economy Shows Drop in April

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. economy cooled off in April from the torrid pace of the year's first quarter, government figures showed, but the direction was still upward.

The Commerce Department reported Thursday personal income increased $3.6 billion in April to an annual rate of $670.1 billion.

The increase was about half those of February and March, $8.5 billion and $7.1 billion, respectively. But the department noted the April figures were affected by the civil disorders following the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and a nationwide telephone strike, both of which ate into the total of wages paid.

The index of industrial output in April was at 162.7 per cent of the 1957-59 average, the same as the revised figure for March. The Federal Reserve Board said. This was four per cent above the April 1967 figure.

McCarthy Headquarters Open at New Paltz Site

"We can do for Eugene McCarthy what no one else in the country can do; we can beat the lion in his own den . . . and we can beat the issues, too."

This statement was made by Seymour Terry, Upstate New York organizer of the McCarthy for President campaign, as he spoke at the formal opening of McCarthy Headquarters in New Paltz Wednesday night. A large turnout of McCarthy supporters and volunteer workers from Ulster, Dutchess and Greene Counties appeared at the new headquarters building, located at 125 Main Street, New Paltz. The headquarters will be manned by members of The Concerned Democrats of New Paltz.

Rare Lung Transplant In Scotland

EDINBURGH, Scotland (UPI)—A medical bulletin today said 15-year-old Alex Smith was recovering satisfactorily from a rare lung transplant operation that offers hope for lung cancer victims.

The boy underwent the surgery Thursday at the Edinburgh Royal Infirmary after swallowing a quantity of weed killer. He received the lung of an 18-year-old girl not identified by doctors. She died two hours before the transplant.

The Smith boy is the youngest son in a Scottish family of nine. The doctors involved declined to hold a news conference but daily bulletins on Smith's progress were promised. There has been criticism in the British press and medical profession of publicity received by surgeons who performed previous transplants of hearts and kidneys.

More Quakes Rock Japan, Death Toll 44

TOKYO (AP)—Strong aftershocks today continued to rock northern Japan, where relief teams began clearing up rubble and debris left by Thursday's two powerful quakes.

The latest police casualty figures listed 44 persons killed, including 39 in Aomori prefecture (state), six missing and 242 injured. More than 2,000 homes were wrecked and almost 9,000 persons were homeless.

Relief teams speeding to the disaster areas reported finding families huddling over fires for warmth, railway tracks twisted, roads split by great cavities and other evidence of the tremor that registered 7.8 on the Japanese scale. It almost equaled the severity to the 1923 quake that destroyed Tokyo and Yokohama.

At the U. S. Air Force base at Misawa, northern Japan, 29 military personnel and dependents were injured, none seriously. Damage to base facilities was estimated at $10 million.

A "crash" program to ready the first of its recreational facilities for use by Independence Day has been announced by Stony Run Company, builder of the Stony Run Apartments community on Hurley Avenue, just west of the Thruway underpass in Kingston.

The first of three swimming pools, according to Lawrence J. Goldrich, one of the principals, has been placed under construction. The leisure-time amenities were not originally scheduled for completion until September, Goldrich said. However, the public acceptance of Stony Run has been faster than anticipated, so the builders scrapped their original plans and pushed ahead with their recreational phase of the development.

The Stony Run colony, at its eventual completion, will provide luxury accommodations for 240 families. Its initial phase, comprising 2 and 3-story buildings and 120 suites, is now in course of construction. Eight of the buildings are now in final steps of construction and will be delivered in late May, June and July.

The apartments range in size from one to three bedrooms. They include individual central air-conditioning, wall-to-wall carpeting, four major appliances, terraces or patios and full privileges at all community recreational facilities.

A renting office is open on the property from 11 a. m. to dark, seven days a week.

Economy Shows Drop in April

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. economy cooled off in April from the torrid pace of the year's first quarter, government figures showed, but the direction was still upward.

The Commerce Department reported Thursday personal income increased $3.6 billion in April to an annual rate of $670.1 billion.

The increase was about half that of February and March, $8.5 billion and $7.1 billion, respectively. But the department noted the April figures were affected by the civil disorders following the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and a nationwide telephone strike, both of which ate into the total of wages pay.

The index of industrial output in April was at 162.7 per cent of the 1957-59 average, the same as the revised figure for March. The Federal Reserve Board said. This was four per cent above the April 1967 figure.

McCarthy Headquarters Open at New Paltz Site

"We can do for Eugene McCarthy what no one else in the country can do: we can beat the lion in his own den . . . and we can beat the issues, too."

This statement was made by Seymour "Feisty" Upstate New York organizer of the McCarthy for President campaign, as he spoke at the formal opening of McCarthy Headquarters in New Paltz Wednesday night.

A large turnout of McCarthy supporters and volunteer workers from Ulster, Dutchess and Greene Counties appeared at the new headquarters building, located at 125 Main Street, New Paltz. The headquarters will be manned by members of The Concerned Democrats of New Paltz.

The guest speaker stressed that the three-way race for delegates to the Democratic National Convention here affords an "unprecedented opportunity for voters to show what they want"—and, should they show a preference for McCarthy—Terry said "it will have a tremendous effect on the Chicago convention."

He likened a McCarthy delegate win in the 28th District as being equal to a similar win in some of the smaller states; said if the Reston state of delegates is defeated, it will prove to many on the convention floor that "the outmoded Johnson policies" are no longer popular with the people.

Also speaking at the New Paltz opening was Tobie Geertsema, of Woodstock, a candidate for delegate to the Democratic National Convention. She noted that the new New Paltz headquarters brought to a total of three the number of such campaign centers for McCarthy in Ulster County; said a fourth would open next week in Saugerties. Other campaign headquarters are already operating at 705 Broadway, Kingston, and on Main Street, Kerhonkson.

Mrs. Geertsema urged those in the audience who would be canvassing throughout Ulster County to impress upon voters the fact that this will be the first Primary in which they will be able to choose their own delegates to the convention. "In the past," she said, "the delegate seats have traditionally gone to the politicians here, usually to the county chairmen. One can only hope that the people will recognize the importance this year of sending their own friends and neighbors to the convention instead of professional politicians who would be more inclined to vote for the organization rather than the popular feeling."

Need Space--Alter Garage

One of the most practical ways to add living space to a house is to convert an attached garage.

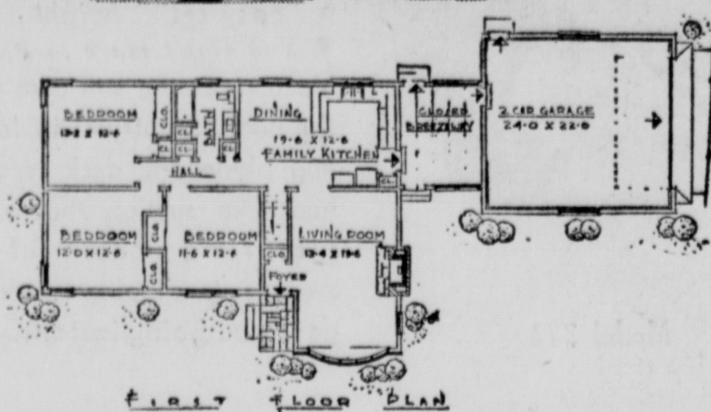

The basic structure is already there, and the finishing work can be done economically with wall, ceiling and floor materials that the home craftsman can handle readily.

The biggest problem may appear to be how to replace the unsightly garage door. But stock windows of ponderosa pine will solve that one.

A wide choice of attractive styles — double hungs, casements, bows and bays, sliders, awnings and hoppers, which combine view and ventilation — are available from lumber dealers.

If a door is needed, choose a style that matches the house design. Ponderosa pine panel doors and complete entrances are carried in many stock sizes and styles. They're chemically-treated against weather abuse.

For interior walls, wood paneling with stain or natural finishes is offered in unbelievable variety. Compare types carefully to help you choose one that is genuine and warm.

Ranch for Growing Family

If yours is a growing family and you are in the market for a new home you should consider today's feature, called "The Quinto."

The designer has produced a good looking ranch type home with a closed breezeway or family room, plus a two-car garage that can open either from the side or front. A fine kitchen is located at the rear with bar and cabinets separating it from the dining area to form a family type kitchen.

The living room, occupying a choice front-of-the-house position, is graced by a handsome fireplace and charming bow window. It also has a wealth of wall space for freedom in furniture grouping. The rear, or master bedroom, has a large wardrobe and linen closet and is slightly larger than the average size two bedrooms at the front.

The exterior shows a half wall of stone below the bow window, and the remainder of the house is finished in stock cedar shingles. All windows are stock items to help hold down the cost.

Basic size of the house is 44' by 26', with an overall of 76' including the breezeway and

By GEORGE ABRAHAM
HOME GROWN TOMATOES

Every year about this time home gardeners ask me for the name of the "best" tomato for the home garden. There is no one tomato that will perform best in everybody's garden. For that reason, we recommend trying two or three varieties, and after you find ones that do best for your area, stick to them.

If frost comes early, better steer clear of late ones. Use early varieties such as Fireball or New Yorker, if frost is a problem, as these bear fruit two weeks or so ahead of the regular types. We suggest you also use potted tomatoes if you want to get a quicker start. These are in peat pots and are probably in blossom or in fruit by the time you get around to setting them out. Plant pot and all. Moreton Hybrid is a fine all purpose tomato for the home gardener. It makes husky growth and we've had vines so heavy that they actually protected the fruit against frosts.

Where space is a problem you might better try growing tomatoes on a wire fence or around a wire Corset. Vines are trained on the wires, and this makes picking, spraying, much easier. Want to have some real good tomatoes this year? Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and ask for my guide, How to Grow Tomatoes on a Corset. My guide tells how to have early tomatoes and every gardener should have a copy.

A GOOD FLOWER

If you want something a bit unusual, try the Four O'Clock or Marvel of Peru. They come in mixed colors and get their name "Four O'Clocks" from the fact that they open in afternoon. These plants thrive in poor soil and grow fast. Ideal for hedges or foundation plantings. Save seed from your own plants and sow them. Colors come in pink, salmon, red, yellow and white.

A GOOD BEAN

If you're looking for a good snap bean, try the Tendercrop.

Oak Floor Ideal For Attic Room

Attic conversions are highly popular, because one or two rooms of valuable living space can be added at relatively small cost.

One way to give attic rooms a status look is to install oak floors. They're noted for natural beauty, warmth, floor comfort, durability and ease of upkeep. And surprisingly, a top grade of strip oak flooring can be installed for less than good-quality floor covering.

Installing is usually done by professional floor layers, but a handy homeowner should be able to lay an oak floor satisfactorily in an attic.

Strip flooring can be laid right over the joists, if it's tongue-and-grooved and at least 25-32 inch thick, and if the joists are no farther apart than 16 inches on centers.

a great variety. I don't know of a bean with quality any better. It's highly productive, delicious, and disease resistant. Pods are brittle, tender, stringless, and have high quality for a long time on the vines. You won't find a better one for freezing.

GREEN THUMB CLINIC

A reader writes: "About four years ago we built a new home, as soon as we put in a lawn, we were plagued by tiny red clover mites. Is there a control for this pest?"

Answer: Clover mites are a nuisance only, and will not injure your plants or furniture. Try spraying the basement or foundation of your home with a miticide such as Kelthane, found in farm supply stores. Or you might try dusting with sulphur. You find clover mites invading homes owned by good housekeepers and where lawns are better kept.

More Dividend Income
From Utility Switching

Q — I'm 55, recovering from a heart attack and reviewing my assets — a farm worth $25,000, a half-interest in a retail business appraised at $60,000 and varying amounts of utility stocks totaling about $85,000. My largest holdings are 2,500 United Utilities and 500 Continental Telephone. The rest are small—50 to 100 shares. I own my home clear but owe some thing on a 6 per cent bank loan. What changes do you advise?—C.C.

A — Only one comes to mind because it seems to me you have both growth and income provided by your stocks, while your real estate and retail business should be good inflation hedges. I'm bullish on the long-term prospects of the independent telephone companies, and United Utilities, a high-grade diversified holding company, is strongly slanted toward the communication equities in its structure. My single suggestion arises from your disproportionate investment in United Utilities. Many excellent energy stocks are now available with yields of 5 per cent or better. Your entire list averages about 4 per cent, while you're paying 6 per cent on your loan. If you'd like a somewhat larger dividend income — and thereby narrow the interest gap on your loan — you might work out some switches by looking for higher yields among listed utilities—Baltimore Gas and Electric, Duquesne Light and Potomac Electric are examples.

Q — Please correct your recent statement that Lionel Corp. showed an operating deficit for the first 9 months of 1967.—G.P.

A — I am glad to have this opportunity to do so. Inadvertently, the date of 1967 was applied to the operating deficit for the first 9 months of 1966. For the same period in 1967, Lionel showed a profit of 37 cents. This represented a steady gain quarter by quarter; and for the full year the company earned 63 cents a share.

Ulster Seniors Set June 5 For Next Parley

The first organizational meeting for the Senior Citizens of the Town of Ulster Wednesday night proved to be a success with 31 senior residents in attendance all urging that the association be formed. Alexander Yosman explained in detail the function of a Senior Citizens group and the activities that can be promoted within the association itself. He spoke of opportunities available for the people including Medicare, Medicaid, changes in Social Security payments, available of pensions to persons not now receiving them, and other services available through various agencies.

Jim Thompson of WGHQ, further elaborated on the programs available to Senior Citizens groups including bus trips, boat excursions, travel slides, opportunities for volunteer work within the community. He also emphasized that the Association should be formed with an Advisory Committee appointed to set a date and plan for the next meeting.

A Roy of the New York Telephone Company narrated and presented a program of slides relating to the development of the telephone over the years. After a business session, the Thaddeus Musiakiewicz presented the following residents to a committee to make plans for the next meeting on June 5 at the Grange Hall: Mrs. Rose Krom, Mrs. Martha Scanlon, Mrs. Lelia Felton, Mr. Ray Webster, Mr. Dominic Tiano.

Russell Brott of the New York State Employment Service, who is a resident of the Town of Ulster and interested in the Senior Citizen program was asked to serve as advisor to the committee.

Councilman Anthony Cicoria said he would work to further the program.

At the next meeting election of officers will take place and it is expected that the Senior Citizens will formulate their own plans and programs in the future.

and are now relying mostly on parcel post. Robert Herzog said that salesmen covering outlying areas have also been asked to make rush deliveries.

Shults Paint Store has switched over to parcel post and Henry Breitenbach said the strike has caused delays of a day or so.

Leventhal Furs and Fashions has had no immediate reaction. Also not affected to any great extent is the Shirley Melton Shop.

Frank's Sport Shop on North Front Street noted that shipments have slowed down and they are using parcel post.

Stanley London of London's indicated that some merchandise has been tied up by the strike and they are using parcel post and REA for special items.

London's is receiving shipments from the north by UPS.

Elmore Yallum of Yallums said that some merchandise they were expecting is being held up in a warehouse in New York City.

Planagan's on Wall Street said their business is not affected too much by the strike. Kayes Sportswear said they are experiencing some delays and late shipments from New York and New Jersey and several special shipments have been held up.

J. C. Penney Co., also said they have a few shipments tied up and they are re-routing most incoming shipments by parcel post.

Also reporting shipments held up is Wonderly's on Wall Street. It has been reported that one of the trouble spots in negotiations is the hiring by UPS of students as night loaders. However, this could not be confirmed.

Senior Citizens

In observance of Senior Citizens Month, a luncheon will be served 12 noon Tuesday at the First Methodist Church of Highland. The event is being sponsored by the Mid-Hudson Senior Citizens Social Club. Among the guest speakers will be Peter Savago. After the luncheon a social program will be held.

Trooper J. E. Hornbeck of Highland said the cars were operated by Phyllis A. Trapani, 17, of Lattintown Road, Milton, and Albert G. Boyle, 34, of Mahoney Road, Town of Poughkeepsie. The woman sustained abrasions of the knees and contusions of the scalp. Boyle received lacerations of the forehead and scalp. He was admitted at Vassar Hospital after treatment.

According to a report of Trooper P. A. Koenig, the Trapani 1966 sedan was traveling north on Maple Avenue and Boyle was heading south attempting a left turn into Crescent Avenue, when the vehicles collided.

Two motorists were injured and a Poughkeepsie man was summoned for failure to keep to the right after a two-car collision which occurred at 4 p. m. Thursday on Maple Avenue at Crescent Avenue one mile north of Route 44-55 in the Town of Plattekill.

RAYMOND C. ELLIS

Homecoming Guest Speaker Monday Night

The Most Worshipful Raymond C. Ellis, past grand master of Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons in the State of New York, will be the guest speaker at the homecoming ceremonies for Worshipful William A. Evans, assistant grand lecturer of the Greene-Elster Masonic District, by Roundout Lodge 343, F&AM in the Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue, on Monday, 8 p.m.

Born in Brooklyn, Ellis was educated in the Brooklyn public schools and graduated from the Brooklyn Law School with a degree of LL.B. He also attended evening sessions of the City College of New York, Brooklyn Division. Was a member of the Old Central Presbyterian Church of Brooklyn and served on the Boards of Session and Trustees for many years. Currently he is a member of the Setauket Presbyterian Church, Setauket, L. I., and served on the Board of Sessions of that church.

He was one of the founders and first vice-president of the Masonic Foundation for Medical Research and Human Welfare and during his eight years of presidency, the Foundation raised and contributed to medical universities in New York State about one and a half million dollars for research in the field of rheumatic fever and arthritis.

In 1954 he was elected Grand Master of Masons of the State of New York and served for two years. During his administration he sponsored a campaign to raise funds to build and equip a medical research laboratory on the grounds of the Masonic Home at Utica. About $1,250,000 was raised for that purpose.

He has been very active in all the bodies of the Masonic fraternity, and has a fine reputation as an eloquent and forceful speaker.

Refreshments will be served in the dining room following the program and all Master Masons are invited to attend.

Woman Serious After Accident

An automobile accident at the intersection of Routes 28 and 375 yesterday sent a 63-year-old Northport, L. I. woman to Kingston Hospital where she remains today in serious condition.

Briggs allegedly swerved to avoid the other car and, in so doing, smashed into a culvert. He and his wife, Edna Briggs, were taken to Kingston Hospital.

Briggs, listed as "doing fine," suffered from fractured ribs and lacerations of the face. Mrs. Briggs received a fractured skull, hip, and nose.

The Ulster County Sheriff's Department confirmed a report that the State Police contacted area law enforcement agencies to be on the lookout for the tan Volkswagen.

Another car accident, this one on the New York State Thruway three miles south of Kingston, sent a 21-year-old Montvale, N. J. woman to Benedictine Hospital suffering from a possible concussion and contusions to the face and elbows.

The woman, Eileen Huff, is listed in fair condition by hospital authorities.

Thruway State Police report that the operator of the vehicle, Nancy Phillips, also 21, of Massena, lost control of the car at mile post 87 as she was heading south. The vehicle ran into the center mall and struck a rock cut, with the impact ejecting Miss Huff from the automobile.

Both were taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance. Miss Huff is suffering from a possible concussion and contusions to the face and elbows. Miss Phillips, who was released after treatment, received contusions to the face, head, and knee.

Miss Phillips was issued a summons for operating a vehicle with unsafe tires.

In another accident, this one in New Milford, Conn., David C. Bailey Sr., 27, of Millerton, was killed yesterday when the tree-spraying truck he was operating struck a culvert and overturned on Route 67.

More Dividend Income
From Utility Switching

Q — I'm 55, recovering from a heart attack and reviewing my assets — a farm worth $25,000, a half-interest in a retail business appraised at $60,000 and varying amounts of utility stocks totaling about $85,000. My largest holdings are 2,500 United Utilities and 500 Consolidated Telephone. The rest are small — 50 to 100 shares. I own my home clear but owe some thing on a 6 per cent bank loan. What changes do you advise? — C.C.

A — Only one comes to mind because it seems to me you have both growth and income provided by your stocks, while your real estate and retail business should be good inflation hedges. I'm bullish on the long-term prospects of the independent telephone companies, and United Utilities, a high-grade diversified holding company, is strongly slanted toward the communication equities in its structure. My single suggestion arises from your disproportionate investment in United Utilities. Many excellent energy stocks are now available with yields of 5 per cent or better. Your entire list averages about 4 per cent, while you're paying 6 per cent on your loan. If you'd like a somewhat larger dividend income — and thereby narrow the interest gap on your loan — you might work out some switches by looking for higher yields among listed utilities — Baltimore Gas and Electric, Duquesne Light and Potomac Electric are examples.

Q — Please correct your recent statement that Lionel Corp. showed an operating deficit for the first 9 months of 1967. — G.P.

A — I am glad to have this opportunity to do so. Inadvertently, the date of 1967 was applied to the operating deficit for the first 9 months of 1966. For the same period in 1967 Lionel showed a profit of 37 cents. This represented a steady gain quarter by quarter; and for the full year the company earned 63 cents a share.

RAYMOND C. ELLIS

Homecoming Guest Speaker Monday Night

The Most Worshipful Raymond C. Ellis, past grand master of Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons in the State of New York, will be the guest speaker at the homecoming ceremonies for Worshipful William A. Evans, assistant grand lecturer of the Greene Ulster Masonic District, by Roundout Lodge 343, F&AM in the Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue, on Monday, 8 p.m.

Born in Brooklyn, Ellis was educated in the Brooklyn public schools and graduated from the Brooklyn Law School with a degree of LL.B. He also attended evening sessions of the City College of New York, Brooklyn Division. A member of the Old Central Presbyterian Church of Brooklyn and served on the Boards of Session and Trustees for many years. Currently he is a member of the Setauket Presbyterian Church, Setauket, L. I., and served on the Board of Sessions of that church.

He was one of the founders and first vice-president of the Masonic Foundation for Medical Research and Human Welfare and during his eight years of presidency, the Foundation raised and contributed to medical universities in New York State about one and a half million dollars for research in the field of rheumatic fever and arthritis.

In 1954 he was elected Grand Master of Masons of the State of New York and served for two years. During his administration he sponsored a campaign to raise funds to build and equip a medical research laboratory on the grounds of the Masonic Home at Utica. About $1,250,000 was raised for that purpose.

He has been very active in all the bodies of the Masonic fraternity, and has a fine reputation as an eloquent and forceful speaker.

UCCC Inauguration Rites Saturday

Inauguration is drawing close and Ulster County Community College is completing plans for the big day.

George B. Erbstein will be invested as president of the college in a formal inauguration ceremony this Saturday. The sites will be conducted outdoors on the college's Stone Ridge campus at 3 p.m. In case of rain, it will be held in the auditorium at the Rondout Valley School. A concert by the Kingston High School Band will precede the formal program.

John A. Quimby, a member of the State University board of trustees will officiate at the investiture and will bring greetings from the State University board.

Lawrence E. Gray, chief of the Bureau of Two-Year College Programs of the SUNNY will represent the department and bring greetings from that department.

Introductions will be made by John C. Quimby, chairman of UCCC's board of trustees.

Sunday Concert
Further inauguration festivities will take place Sunday afternoon when the college chorus presents an Inaugural Concert at the J. Watson Bailey Junior High School in Kingston.

Dr. Erbstein, a Hudson Valley native, was named UCCC president in April, 1967, succeeding Dr. Dale B. Lake who became president of the Kalamazoo Valley Community College, Michigan.

With 20 years experience in community college education, Dr. Erbstein served for six years with Montgomery Junior College in Maryland prior to coming to UCCC. At Montgomery he was dean of instruction and later dean of faculty.

Born in Beacon, he attended schools there. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees at State University College at Albany and his doctorate from Columbia University in the field of administration of institutions of higher education. He also had additional study at Yale, Syracuse and Boston Universities.

At Columbia, Dr. Erbstein was the first graduate in the leadership program in junior college administration sponsored by the W. K. Kellogg Foundation. His dissertation was a national study concerning non-credit education in the public community colleges.

Other Assignments

A veteran of World War II, Dr. Erbstein served as instructor and later administrative personnel at Cazenovia Junior College, and Orange County

Community College prior to going to Montgomery Junior College.

He and his wife the former Betty Marshall of Middletown reside in Stone Ridge.

Plans for the inauguration are being made by a committee of college trustees, administrators, faculty members and students.

Members include Quimby, Louis Berger and Mrs. George F. Bushnell, college trustees; Robert T. Brown, dean of administration; John America, director of instructional media.

State Executives

Roosevelt and Gray represent the two State University departments closely connected with the operation of UCCC. The Bureau of Two-Year College Programs, headed by Gray, has the responsibility for administration of the post-secondary allotment of the Vocational Education Act of 1963 and Title V-A (post secondary) of the National Defense Education Act. The bureau also provides consultative assistance in curriculum development, guidance services and other areas for the 36 public and 28 private junior colleges of New York State. Gray, a native of Binghamton, joined the state education department in 1966 as associate chief of higher occupational education in the bureau. He had previously been associated in industry with General Aniline and Film Corporation and Allied Chemical Corp. He headed the chemical technology program at Onondaga Community College at Syracuse.

Barn Remains Rekindle at Hurley Farm

The charred remains of the century-old barn on the Jack Gill corn farm on Route 209 at Hurley, leveled by fire Wednesday night, rekindled early today and Hurley firemen were called to wet down the smoldering rubble.

The Rev. Harold Schadowald, deputy chief of Hurley Fire Department, said despite wetting down, the corn crop that had been stored in the barn held some sparks and flared up with the brisk winds last night. The deputy said four volunteer firemen of the department and a truck had been on duty all afternoon.

Sheriff's Deputy Fred A. Smith on patrol noticed the flareup and called Mutual Aid Headquarters to alert Hurley Fire Department. Sheriff William B. Martin discovered the original blaze shortly before 8:30 p.m. through the structure. The Wednesday and sounded the building was completely leveled alarm answered by Hurley Fire and the contents consisting of farm equipment, a corn crib filled with field corn and between 75,000 and 100,000 wooden corn crates were lost in the blaze was already sweeping flames.

He received his bachelor's and master's degrees at State University College at Albany and his doctorate from Columbia University in the field of administration of institutions of higher education. He also had additional study at Yale, Syracuse and Boston Universities.

At Columbia, Dr. Erbstein was the first graduate in the leadership program in junior college administration sponsored by the W. K. Kellogg Foundation. His dissertation was a national study concerning non-credit education in the public community colleges.

Other Assignments

A veteran of World War II, Dr. Erbstein served as instructor and later administrative personnel at Cazenovia Junior College, and Orange County

Community College prior to going to Montgomery Junior College.

He and his wife the former Betty Marshall of Middletown reside in Stone Ridge.

State Executives

Roosevelt and Gray represent the two State University departments closely connected with the operation of UCCC. The Bureau of Two-Year College Programs, headed by Gray, has the responsibility for administration of the post-secondary allotment of the Vocational Education Act of 1963 and Title V-A (post secondary) of the National Defense Education Act. The bureau also provides consultative assistance in curriculum development, guidance services and other areas for the 36 public and 28 private junior colleges of New York State. Gray, a native of Binghamton, joined the state education department in 1966 as associate director in higher occupational education in the bureau. He had previously been associated in industry with General Aniline and Film Corporation and Allied Chemical Corp. He headed the chemical technology program at Onondaga Community College at Syracuse.

Barn Remains Rekindle at Hurley Farm

The charred remains of the century-old barn on the Jack Gill corn farm on Route 209 at Hurley, leveled by fire Wednesday night, rekindled early today and Hurley firemen were called to wet down the smoldering rubble.

The Rev. Harold Schadeewald, deputy chief of Hurley Fire Department, said despite wetting down, the corn crop that had been stored in the barn held some sparks and flared up with the brisk winds last night. The deputy said four volunteer firemen of the department and a truck had been on duty all afternoon.

Sheriff's Deputy Fred A. Smith on patrol noticed the flareup and called Mutual Aid Headquarters to alert Hurley Fire Department. Sheriff William B. Martin discovered the original blaze

Hurley Rec Site

The Hurley Recreation Association secured an option to purchase 15 acres of land located on the Dewitt Mills Road about three-tenths of a mile from the Lucas Avenue Four Corners.

The site will be developed into a park for town residents which will include a children's play area, ballfield, wading pool, swimming pool, picnic area, concession stand and campsites.

A spokesman for the association pointed out today that the park will be free of charge to Hurley residents except for the swimming pool. Due to necessary operating expenses, estimated at $10,000 per year, a family membership charge will be required. This is estimated to be about $40 per family for a full season.

The association also estimates the total cost for the completion of the park and pool complex will be $50,000. Last Saturday the Hurley Boy Scouts distributed brochures to town residents explaining the project in detail.

A fund drive to raise the necessary capital to purchase the land will begin this Saturday. A committee of workers will be canvassing the town and any gift or pledge will be greatly appreciated by the association.

While members of the association realize that there are other fund raising drives now in progress, such as the new YMCA, the recreation project should be of special interest to Hurley residents and therefore deserving of every consideration.

The association has been incorporated as a non-profit organization under the laws of New York State.

Former Freeman Newsboy Wounded in Viet

A Saugerties Marine and former Freeman newsboy was injured last week and narrowly escaped death in the fierce fighting north of Dong Ho Delta in Vietnam.

In a period of one hour, Marine Pfc Howard France was injured and hospitalized when an enemy bullet creased his head over the right eye, requiring eight stitches and later was shot through the upper part of his right arm, and the same bullet went on to skin his leg.

Pfc France, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. France of Simmons Drive, Barclay Heights, is now in Camh Ranh Bay Hospital. His letter of May 6 said the second shot was clean and went all the way through his upper arm and no bones were hit. He said the bullet continued on and skinned his leg.

A later letter noted that his hearing on the right side may be affected and he is undergoing various checks in the hospital to determine if the damage is permanent. This diagnosis may result in his being sent home.

Surrogate Court Law Study Topic

Wills and Surrogate's Court Procedures will be the topic of a law seminar Ulster County Community College will offer Monday night in cooperation with the Ulster County Bar Association.

The session, to start at 8 o'clock on the Stone Ridge campus in Room 415 of the John Burroughs Science Building, will utilize the closed circuit television facilities at the college under the direction of John America, the director of instructional media at UCCC.

Shown at the seminar will be three half-hour television tapes prepared by the State University School of Law at Buffalo. They will be entitled:

Estates, Powers and Trusts I, which will deal with general provisions of the law, rules governing dispositions subject to the law, and law of wills.

Estates, Powers and Trusts II, which will cover family rights and children, rules governing estates in property, trusts and powers.

Surrogate's Court Procedure Act, which will explain the new act designed to codify, modernize, and simplify the practices in the Surrogate's Court.

The seminar is open to attorneys from throughout the Hudson Valley. There is no registration fee.

MRS. JOHN D. DEKOSKIE (Lakeside Studio)

Beehler-DeKoskie Nuptials Announced

Miss Lois Ann Beehler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorin W. Beehler of River Road, Port Ewen, was married Sunday, May 12, to John Douglas DeKoskie, son of Mrs. William DeKoskie of 26 Snyder Avenue, Kingston, and the late William P. DeKoskie, at Presentation Church, Port Ewen.

The Rev. James Lover of Mount St. Alphonsus, Esopus, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Robert Corcoran, organist, accompanied Miss Rita Horvers who sang traditional wedding selections. Arrangements of white gladioli and shasta daisies decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a cage style gown of silk organza, fashioned with a yoke and high neckline of Alencon lace. Matching lace banded the long full sleeves and her silk illusion veil was shirred to a rhinestone tiara. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis, centered with cymbidium orchids in an ivory background.

Mrs. Robert Coddington of Sir William White Road, Rifton, was matron of honor. She wore a bon bon pink gown of silk organza which featured a high neckline of Chantilly lace and long full sleeves. A wreath of varicolored flowers accented with velvet bows and streamers served as her headpiece and she carried a cascade bouquet of daisies.

Attendants were the Misses Lorin Beehler, Poughkeepsie, sister-in-law of the bride; Frank Tiano, Kingston; John DiMuccio, Kingston; and Miss Eileen Reilly, Eddyville. Their gowns and headpieces were fashioned identically to that of the honor attendant and they carried bouquets of daisies.

Miss Lisa Marie Tiano was flower girl. She wore a pale pink pleated shift gown. A crown of flowers served as her headpiece and she carried a basket of daisies.

Donald DeKoskie, Kingston, was best man for his brother. Ushers were Lorin Beehler, Poughkeepsie, brother of the bride; Andrew Angstrom, Shokan; Robert Coddington, Rifton; and John DiMuccio, Kingston.

Kevin DeKoskie, nephew of the bridegroom, served as ringbearer.

After the wedding a reception was held at the Capri "400," Port Ewen.

The bride, a graduate of the Academy of St. Ursula, attended Ulster County Community College, and is a debutante of the Latin-American Court of New York City. She is employed by IBM, Kingston.

Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High School, served two years in the armed forces, one of which was in Vietnam. He is employed by Hercules Powder Company, Port Ewen.

When they return from their wedding trip to Nassau in the Bahamas, they will reside in Kingston.

SPAC Mail Orders Begin

Saratoga Performing Arts Center is now accepting mail orders for all single performances of its 1968 season. Those wishing to obtain choice seats are urged to send in their orders immediately because ticket requests will be filled in order of receipt.

Pre-season special events begin June 23 with a Folk-Rock Festival featuring The Fifth Dimension, Spanky and Our Gang and The American Breed. Other pre-season events include Ray Charles and The Raeletts (June 26), Dinah Shore (June 27), Judy Collins and Arlo Guthrie (June 28), and Victor Borge with Leonid Hambro and the New York City Ballet Orchestra, Robert Irving conducting (June 29 at 8:30 p.m. and June 30 at 3:30 p.m.). The New York City Ballet will open its third summer season at SPAC with six performances of George Balanchine's celebrated production of "The Nutcracker," July 4 through July 7, with 2:30 matinees as well as evening performances on July 5 and 6, and a 3:30 matinee on Sunday, July 7.

Subsequent performances of nine different programs will be given by the Ballet Tuesdays through Saturdays at 8:30 p.m. and Sundays at 3:30 p.m., through July 28.

Special events scheduled for July include Al Hirt with Pee Wee and the Young Set (July 15) and Peter, Paul and Mary (July 22).

Eugene Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra will open their SPAC season Aug. 1 with the North American premiere of Alberto Ginastera's Psalm 150 for Chorus and Orchestra. The orchestra will join forces with the Capitol Hill Choral Society, Judson Rand, director, and the Berkshire Boy Choir, Brian Runnett, director. Other works on the program are Beethoven's "Leonore" Overture No. 3 and Symphony No. 5 by Shostakovich.

Sixteen different concert programs are being offered by the Philadelphia Orchestra Thursdays through Saturdays at 8:30 p.m. and Sundays at 3:30 p.m., through Aug. 25.

Eugene Ormandy will conduct eight of the sixteen concerts, and the remainder will be led by outstanding guest conductors, including William Steinberg (Aug. 2), Arthur Riedler (Aug. 4 and 23), Richard Rodgers (Aug. 4), Charles Munch (Aug. 8), Julius Rudel (Aug. 10), Seiji Ozawa (Aug. 15 and 17), and Stanislaw Skrowaczewski (Aug. 24).

Special events during August will be Diana Ross and The Supremes (Aug. 5), Ravi Shankar and his Festival from India (Aug. 6 and 7), Simon and Garfunkel (Aug. 19) and Pete Seeger and Bernice Reagon (Aug. 20).

Rounding out the varied summer schedule of ballet, symphony and popular attractions will be several post-season special events, including The Bee Gees and The First Edition (Aug. 29), Rowan and Martin (Aug. 31 at 8:30 p.m. and Sept. 1 at 3:30 p.m.), The Doors (Sept. 1 at 8:30 p.m.) and one or two others still to be announced.

Brochures containing complete programs, ticket prices and order forms are available from Saratoga Performing Arts Center, Saratoga Spring, N. Y. 12866.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE SQUIRES of Shokan were guests of honor Sunday, May 12, at an open house and buffet luncheon, given by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hereth of Shokan, in observance of their golden wedding anniversary. The couple have another daughter, Mrs. Elmer Williams of Rosendale; 12 grandchildren, five of whom are serving in the U. S. Navy; and four great grandchildren. Approximately 40 relatives and friends attended the event. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Concerto in G minor, Handel, Mrs. Amos Newcombe, clarinet.

Gala Planned

Final details for the gala to be held Saturday at the Granit Hotel for members and friends of Eta Eta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, were given by Mrs. E. Ronald Rifenburg at the business meeting held May 7 in her Hurley home. Members of the ways and means, social and membership committees completed their plans for this year's activities which will include a miscellaneous sale to be held Tuesday, May 21, at the home of Mrs. Richard Herd in Hurley. Mrs. Richard Hamsher reported that proceeds will benefit the club's charity fund.

Mrs. Raymond Lindsey announced new members, Mrs. Roy Gonyea, Mrs. Jack Kiegle, and Mrs. Michael Negrelli, will take their pledge ritual at a dinner scheduled for June 13 at Deane's in Woodstock. At that time the ritual of jewels will be taken by Mrs. Roger Richard, and new officers will be installed.

The final business meeting will be held June 4 at the home of Mrs. Michael Negrelli, Rolling Meadows. The program will be presented by Mr. and Mrs. Warren VanKleeck who will show slides of historical sites.

Mrs. Roland Tonnesen, harpsichord; Monastery Garden, Ketelby, Miss Agatha Snyder, ballet, Mrs. Lester Decker, piano, Mrs. Edward Flick, soprano, Mrs. Albert Sonnenberg, contralto.

Hostesses for the social hour were the Mmes. Lester Decker, Willard Burke, Charles Dedrick, Harry Kennedy, Harold Lindsey, G. Alfred Nussbaum and Miss Martha Eddy.

Christina Dixon Weds E. H. Bey

Miss Christina Dixon, daughter of Mrs. Juanita Dixon of Hurley and the late George Clark Dixon, became the bride of Eric H. Bey FTM3, USN, son of Mrs. Hedwig Bey of the Bronx and William Bey of Long Island, on Saturday, May 4, at Hurley Dutch Reformed Church.

The Rev. Harold Schadevall officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Patricia Hilgers sang traditional wedding selections. Arrangements of daisies decorated the altar and white satin ribbons marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her brother, G. Russell Dixon of Ithaca, the bride wore a silk organza gown, fashioned with a Venice lace yoke and stand-out collar. The gown featured short Venice lace sleeves and a circular chapel train accented with bands of Venice lace. A long cathedral length veil of French silk illusion was attached to a cloche of crystals centered with daisies. She carried a Colonial bouquet of white rose buds and daisies.

Mrs. Patricia Hilgers, sister of the bride, Woodstock, was matron of honor. She wore a spring green A-line gown, styled with a stand-out collar, and accented with Venice lace. A Dior bow served as her headpiece and she carried a Colonial bouquet of yellow daisies with yellow streamers.

Miss Terry Lou Ferraiuolo, Mt. Tremper, niece of the bridegroom, was junior bridesmaid. Her yellow gown was fashioned identically to that of the honor attendant. She wore a Dior bow headpiece and carried a Colonial bouquet of yellow daisies with green streamers.

Holly Dawn Hilgers, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a yellow A-line gown trimmed with Venice lace. Her headpiece was a crown of daisies and she carried a fireside basket of yellow daisies.

Charles Ferraiuolo, Mt. Tremper, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Benson C. Hilgers and Timothy G. Hilgers, both of Woodstock, and nephews of the bride.

Ringbearer was Jonathan Marc Hilbers, Woodstock, nephew of the bride.

After the wedding a reception for 100 guests was held at Nieuw Dorp Inn, Hurley.

For her wedding trip the bride selected a yellow knit dress and yellow rosebud corsage.

The bride, a graduate of Rondout Valley Central High School, is attending Ulster County Community College. Her husband, an alumnus of Christopher High School, Bronx, received a Regents Scholarship to attend City College where he studied electrical engineering. He is now studying missile fire control at the Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Md.

The couple will reside at Virginia Beach, Va.

MRS. JAMES A. FITZGERALD JR. (Lakeside Studio)

Wed in Glasco Church May 11; Nuptial Mass

St. Joseph's Church, Glasco, was the setting for the marriage of Miss Joan Alice Misasi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Misasi Sr., Box 173, Glasco, and James Anthony Fitzgerald Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Fitzgerald Sr., Edgewater, N. J., Saturday, May 11.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a peau de soie gown, fashioned with an empire bodice, long tapered sleeves and a full A-line skirt which featured a court train. Appliques of Chantilly lace with crystals decorated the gown and train. A double crown of crystals attached to a silk illusion veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of philanopsis orchids and miniature white carnations centered with a detachable orchid corsage.

Miss Marlene Ferraro, cousin of the bride, Glasco, was maid of honor. She wore a mint green chiffon gown in the cage style, accented with Belgium lace daisies. A petal cap with crystals held her four tier veil, and she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow and white daisies.

Attendants were the Misses Diane Amendola, Saugerties; Nancy Saulpough, Glasco; both cousins of the bride; and Mrs. Terry Paradiso of New Paltz. Their lemon yellow gowns and matching veils were fashioned identically to that of the honor attendant and they carried cascade bouquets of yellow and white daisies.

For her wedding trip to Miami, Fla., the bride selected a coat and dress ensemble in apricot color with black patent leather accessories.

The bride, a graduate of Saugerties High School and Kissler Business Institute, Poughkeepsie, is employed as secretary to the registrar, State University College, New Paltz.

Her husband, an alumnus of Dwight Morrow High School, Englewood, N. J., and Paul Smith's College, Saranac Lake, was appointed to New York State Police as a trooper in June 1964, and is now stationed at Kingston State Police Barracks.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald will reside at 103-B Fairmont Avenue, Kingston.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Folks:

We receive many letters asking what to do if your home freezer STOPS. So lend an ear. I acquired the following information from the U. S. Department of Agriculture and would like to pass it on to you.

First, keep the freezer closed except to take out the necessary food or to add dry ice. Don't worry if you know you'll have the freezer running again in a few hours. When the freezer stops, the power supply may be off or the freezer itself may be out of order.

If the power is off, try to find out how long it will be off. Then estimate about how long the food will stay frozen. With the freezer CLOSED, food will usually stay frozen in a fully loaded cabinet two days. With less than half a load, not more than a day. A freezer full of meat will not warm up as fast as a freezer full of baked food. The larger the freezer, the longer the food will stay frozen.

Now, if it will be several days before you are able to get your freezer back in working order, consider taking your food to a freezer locker plant. If an emergency occurs, call them to see whether they have room for your food. If space is available, wrap the food in plenty of newspapers and blankets or use insulated boxes. Then rush the food there.

If locker space is not available and it looks as if the freezer will be stopped for a day, use dry ice if you can get it. You may be able to buy dry ice from a local dairy or a cold storage warehouse.

Twenty-five pounds of dry ice should hold the temperature of a half-full 10-cubic-foot cabinet below freezing for two or three days. Put heavy cardboard directly on the packages or frozen food and then put the dry ice on TOP of the cardboard.

Now then, what should you do with your food if it thaws?

Partial thawing and refreezing does reduce the quality of foods, particularly fruits, vegetables and prepared foods. Red meats are affected less than many other foods.

You may safely refreeze foods that have thawed if they STILL contain ice crystals or if they are still cold—about 40 degrees F.—and have stayed at this temperature no longer than one or two days after thawing.

You can refreeze thawed fruits if they still taste and smell good. Or you can use them in cooking and baking or for making jams and jellies.

Be careful when you refreeze thawed meats and poultry. Tests do show you can refreeze beef, veal, and lamb that show no sign of spoilage. If the package has been opened, the meat should be rewrapped before refreezing.

DO BE CAREFUL when you refreeze vegetables, shellfish and cooked foods. Don't refreeze any of these foods when they have thawed completely. Bacteria multiply rapidly in these types. Re-freeze only if ice crystals are still in the food.

Do NOT use melted ice cream.

Examine and smell all thawed food before refreezing it. If its condition (color or odor) is poor or questionable, GET RID OF IT.

All foods should be refrozen quickly. Turn your freezer to the coldest position so it will run continuously for awhile and food will freeze quicker.

Always use refrozen foods as soon as possible.

So folks, if you have a deep freezer full of food, you might keep this information handy. Then you will know what steps to take in case of an emergency. But we hope it never happens to you . . .

MRS. JOHN D. DEKOSKIE
(Lakeside Studio)

Miss Lois Ann Beehler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorin W. Beehler of River Road, Port Ewen, was married Sunday, May 12, to John Douglas DeKoskie, son of Mrs. William DeKoskie of 26 Snyder Avenue, Kingston, and the late William P. DeKoskie, at Presentation Church, Port Ewen.

The Rev. James Lover of Mount St. Alphonsus, Esopus, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Robert Corcoran, organist, accompanied Miss Rita Horvers who sang traditional wedding selections. Arrangements of white gladioli and shasta daisies decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a sage style gown of silk organza, fashioned with a yoke and high neckline of Alencon lace. Matching lace banded the long full sleeves and her silk illusion veil was shirred to a rhinestone tiara. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis, centered with cymbidium orchids in an ivory background.

Mrs. Robert Coddington of Sir William White Road, Rifton, was matron of honor. She wore a bon bon pink gown of silk organza which featured a high neckline of Chantilly lace and long full sleeves. A wreath of varicolored flowers accented with velvet bows and streamers served as her headpiece and she carried a cascade bouquet of daisies.

Attendants were the Mmes. Lorin Beehler, Poughkeepsie, sister-in-law of the bride; Frank Tiano, Kingston; John DiMuccio, Kingston; and Miss Eileen Reilly, Eddyville. Their gowns and headpieces were fashioned identically to that of the honor attendant and they carried bouquets of daisies.

Miss Lisa Marie Tiano was flower girl. She wore a pale pink pleated shift gown. A crown of flowers served as her headpiece and she carried a basket of daisies.

Donald DeKoskie, Kingston, was best man for his brother. Ushers were Lorin Beehler, Poughkeepsie, brother of the bride; Andrew Angstrom, Shokan; Robert Coddington, Rifton; and John DiMuccio, Kingston.

Kevin DeKoskie, nephew of the bridegroom, served as ring bearer.

After the wedding a reception was held at the Capri "400," Port Ewen.

The bride, a graduate of the Academy of St. Ursula, attended Ulster County Community College, and is a debutante of the Latin American Court of New York City. She is employed by IBM, Kingston.

Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High School, served two years in the armed forces, one of which was in Vietnam. He is employed by Hercules Powder Company, Port Ewen. When they return from their wedding trip to Nassau in the Bahamas, they will reside in Kingston.

SEWING AID
Cotton iron-on interfacing is an excellent sewing aid. Use it in small areas for reinforcement and to prevent fraying. For instance, you can use interfacing behind buttonholes, for and on the underarm curves of kimono sleeves.

SPAC Mail Orders Begin

Saratoga Performing Arts Center is now accepting mail orders for all single performances of its 1968 season. Those wishing to obtain choice seats are urged to send in their orders immediately because ticket requests will be filled in order of receipt.

Pre-season special events begin June 25 with a Folk-Rock Festival featuring The Fifth Dimension, Spanky and Our Gang and The American Breed. Other pre-season events include Ray Charles and The Raeletts (June 26), Dinah Shore (June 27), Judy Collins and Arlo Guthrie (June 28), and Victor Borge with Leonid Hambro and the New York City Ballet Orchestra, Robert Irving conducting (June 29 at 8:30 p.m. and June 30 at 3:30 p.m.). The New York City Ballet will open its third summer season at SPAC with six performances of George Balanchine's celebrated production of "The Nutcracker," July 4 through July 7, with 2:30 matinees as well as evening performances on July 5 and 6, and a 3:30 matinee on Sunday, July 7.

Subsequent performances of nine different programs will be given by the Ballet Tuesdays through Saturdays at 8:30 p.m. and Sundays at 3:30 p.m., through July 28.

Special events scheduled for July include Al Hirt with Pee Wee and the Young Set (July 13) and Peter, Paul and Mary (July 22).

Eugene Ormandy and The Philadelphia Orchestra will open their SPAC season Aug. 1 with the North American premiere of Alberto Ginastera's Psalm 150 for Chorus and Orchestra. The orchestra will join forces with the Capitol Hill Choral Society, Judson Rand, director, and the Berkshire Boy Choir, Brian Runnett, director.

Other works on the program are Beethoven's "Leonore" No. 5 by Shostakovich. Sixteen different concert programs are being offered by The Philadelphia Orchestra Thursdays through Saturdays at 8:30 p.m. and Sundays at 3:30 p.m., through Aug. 25.

Eugene Ormandy will conduct eight of the sixteen concerts, and the remainder will be led by outstanding guest conductors, including William Steinberg (Aug. 2), Arthur Riedler (Aug. 4 and 23), Richard Rodgers (Aug. 4), Charles Munch (Aug. 8), Julius Rudel (Aug. 10), Seiji Ozawa (Aug. 15 and 17), and Stanislaw Skrowaczewski (Aug. 24).

Special events during August will be Diana Ross and The Supremes (Aug. 5), Ravi Shankar and his Festival from India (Aug. 6 and 7), Simon and Garfunkel (Aug. 19) and Pete Seeger and Bernice Reagon (Aug. 20).

Rounding out the varied summer schedule of ballet, symphony and popular attractions will be several post-season special events, including The Bee Gees and The First Edition (Aug. 29), Rowan and Martin (Aug. 31 at 8:30 p.m. and Sept. 1 at 3:30 p.m.), The Doors (Sept. 1 at 8:30 p.m.) and one or two others still to be announced.

Brochures containing complete programs, ticket prices and order forms are available from Saratoga Performing Arts Center, Saratoga Spring, N. Y. 12866.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE SQUIRES of Shokan were guests of honor Sunday, May 12, at an open house and buffet luncheon, given by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hereth of Shokan, in observance of their golden wedding anniversary. The couple have another daughter, Mrs. Elmer Williams of Rosendale; 12 grandchildren, five of whom are serving in the U. S. Navy; and four great grandchildren. Approximately 40 relatives and friends attended the event. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Gala Planned

Final details for the gala to be held Saturday at the Granit Hotel for members and friends of Eta Eta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, were given by Mrs. E. Ronald Rifenburg at the business meeting held May 7 in her Hurley home. Members of the ways and means, social and membership committees completed their plans for this year's activities which will include a miscellaneous sale to be held Tuesday, May 21, at the home of Mrs. Richard Herd in Hurley. Mrs. Richard Hamsher reported that proceeds will benefit the club's charity fund.

Mrs. Raymond Lindsey announced new members, Mrs. Roy Gonyea, Mrs. Jack Kiegle, and Mrs. Michael Negrelli, will take their pledge ritual at a dinner scheduled for June 13 at Deane's in Woodstock. At that time the ritual of jewels will be taken by Mrs. Roger Richard, and new officers will be installed.

The final business meeting will be held June 4 at the home of Mrs. Michael Negrelli, Rolling Meadows. The program will be presented by Mr. and Mrs. Warren VanKleeck who will show slides of historical sites.

Mrs. Roland Tonnesen, harpsichord; Monastery Garden, Kieley, Miss Agatha Snyder, ballet, Mrs. Lester Decker, piano, Mrs. Edward Flick, soprano, Mrs. Albert Sonnenberg, contralto.

Hostesses for the social hour were the Mmes. Lester Decker, Willard Burke, Charles Dedrick, Harry Kennedy, Harold Lind, G. Alfred Nussbaum and Miss Martha Eddy.

Christina Dixon Weds E. H. Bey

Miss Christina Dixon, daughter of Mrs. Juanita Dixon of Hurley and the late George Clark Dixon, became the bride of Eric H. Bey FTM3, USN, son of Mrs. Hedwig Bey of the Bronx and William Bey of Long Island, on Saturday, May 4, at Hurley Dutch Reformed Church.

The Rev. Harold Schadevall officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Patricia Hilgers sang traditional wedding selections. Arrangements of daisies decorated the altar and white satin ribbons marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her brother, G. Russell Dixon of Ithaca, the bride wore a silk organza gown, fashioned with a Venice lace yoke and stand-out collar. The gown featured short Venice lace sleeves and a circular chapel train accented with bands of Venice lace. A long cathedral length veil of French silk illusion was attached to a cloche of crystals centered with daisies. She carried a Colonial bouquet of white rose buds and daisies.

Mrs. Patricia Hilgers, sister of the bride, Woodstock, was matron of honor. She wore a spring green A-line gown, styled with a stand-out collar, and accented with Venice lace. A Dior bow served as her headpiece and she carried a Colonial bouquet of yellow daisies with yellow streamers.

Miss Terry Lou Ferraiuolo, Mt. Tremper, niece of the bridegroom, was junior bridesmaid. Her yellow gown was fashioned identically to that of the honor attendant. She wore a Dior bow headpiece and carried a Colonial bouquet of yellow daisies with green streamers.

Holly Dawn Hilgers, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a yellow A-line gown trimmed with Venice lace. Her headpiece was a crown of daisies and she carried a fireside basket of yellow daisies.

Charles Ferraiuolo, Mt. Tremper, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Benson C. Hilgers and Timothy G. Hilgers, both of Woodstock, and nephews of the bride.

Ringbearer was Jonathan Marc Hilbers, Woodstock, nephew of the bride.

After the wedding a reception for 100 guests was held at Nieuw Dorp Inn, Hurley.

For her wedding trip the bride selected a yellow knit dress and yellow rosebud corsage.

The bride, a graduate of Rondout Valley Central High School, is attending Ulster County Community College. Her husband, an alumnus of Christopher High School, Bronx, received a Regents Scholarship to attend City College where he studied electrical engineering. He is now studying missile fire control at the Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Md.

The couple will reside at Virginia Beach, Va.

MRS. JAMES A. FITZGERALD JR.
(Lakeside Studio)

Wed in Glasco Church May 11; Nuptial Mass

St. Joseph's Church, Glasco, was the setting for the marriage of Miss Joan Alice Misasi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Misasi Sr., Box 173 Glasco, and James Anthony Fitzgerald Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Fitzgerald Sr., Edgewater, N. J., Saturday, May 11.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a peau de soie gown, fashioned with an empire bodice, long tapered sleeves and a full A-line skirt which featured a court train. Appliques of Chantilly lace with crystals decorated the gown and train. A double crown of crystals attached to a silk illusion veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids and miniature white carnations centered with a detachable orchid corsage.

Miss Mariene Ferraro, cousin of the bride, Glasco, was maid of honor. She wore a mint green chiffon gown in the cage style, accented with Belgium lace daisies. A petal cap with crystals held her four tier veil, and she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow and white daisies.

Attendants were the Misses Diane Amendola, Saugerties; Nancy Saulpough, Glasco; both cousins of the bride; and Mrs. Terry Paradiso of New Paltz. Their lemon yellow gowns and matching veils were fashioned identically to that of the honor attendant and they carried cascade bouquets of yellow and white daisies.

Miss Clarissa Rose Ferraro, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. Her lemon yellow chiffon gown was styled similarly to that of the maid of honor and featured accents of satin. A halo of flowers with matching bow served as her headpiece and she carried a basket of white and yellow daisies.

Michael McPartland, cousin of the bridegroom, Edgewater, N. J., was best man. Ushers were John Fitzgerald, Port Ewen, cousin of the bridegroom; Charles L. Misasi Jr., Glasco, brother of the bride; William Anton, New York State Police, Albany.

A reception for 140 guests was held at The Capri "400," Port Ewen.

For her wedding trip to Miami, Fla., the bride selected a coat and dress ensemble in apricot color with black patent leather accessories.

The bride, a graduate of Saugerties High School and Krissler Business Institute, Poughkeepsie, is employed as secretary to the registrar, State University College, New Paltz.

Her husband, an alumnus of Dwight Morrow High School, Englewood, N. J., and Paul Smith's College, Saranac Lake, was appointed to New York State Police as a trooper in June 1964, and is now stationed at Kingston State Police Barracks.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald will reside at 103-B Fairmont Avenue, Kingston.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Folks:
We receive many letters asking what to do if your home freezer STOPS. So lend an ear. I acquired the following information from the U. S. Department of Agriculture and would like to pass it on to you.

First, keep the freezer closed except to take out the necessary food or to add dry ice. Don't worry if you know you'll have the freezer running again in a few hours. When the freezer stops, the power supply may be off or the freezer itself may be out of order.

If the power is off, try to find out how long it will be off. Then estimate about how long the food will stay frozen. With the freezer CLOSED, food will usually stay frozen in a fully loaded cabinet two days. With less than half a load, not more than a day. A freezer full of meat will not warm up as fast as a freezer full of baked food. The longer the freezer, the longer the food will stay frozen.

Now, if it will be several days before you are able to get your freezer back in working order, consider taking your food to a freezer locker plant. If an emergency occurs, call them to see whether they have room for your food. If space is available, wrap the food in plenty of newspapers and blankets or use insulated boxes. Then rush the food there.

If locker space is not available and it looks as if the freezer will be stopped for a day, use dry ice if you can get it. You may be able to buy dry ice from a local dairy or a cold storage warehouse.

Twenty-five pounds of dry ice should hold the temperature of a half-full 10-cubic-foot cabinet below freezing for two or three days. Put heavy cardboard directly on the packages or frozen food and then put the dry ice on TOP of the cardboard.

Now then, what should you do with your food if it thaws?

Partial thawing and refreezing does reduce the quality of foods, particularly fruits, vegetables and prepared foods. Red meats are affected less than many other foods.

You may safely refreeze foods that have thawed if they STILL contain ice crystals or if they are still cold—about 40 degrees F.—and have stayed at this temperature no longer than one or two days after thawing.

You can refreeze thawed fruits as they still taste and smell good. Or you can use them in cooking and baking or for making jams and jellies.

Be careful when you refreeze thawed meats and poultry. Tests do show you can refreeze beef, veal, and lamb that show no sign of spoilage. If the package has been opened, the meat should be rewrapped before refreezing.

DO BE CAREFUL when you refreeze vegetables, shellfish and cooked foods. Don't refreeze any of these foods when they have thawed completely. Bacteria multiply rapidly in these types. Refreeze only if ice crystals are still in the food. Do NOT use melted ice cream.

Examine and smell all thawed food before refreezing it. If its condition (color or odor) is poor or questionable, GET RID OF IT.

All foods should be refrozen quickly. Turn your freezer to the coldest position so it will run continuously for awhile and food will freeze quicker.

Always use refrozen foods as soon as possible.

So folks, if you have a deep freezer full of food, you might keep this information handy. Then you will know what steps to take in case of an emergency.

But we hope it never happens to you . . .

Love,
Heloise

Etiquette for Young People

On Keeping It Cool--Part X

By ELIZABETH L. POST

(This is the tenth of a series of 12 articles excerpted from "The Emily Post Book of Etiquette for Young People," by Elizabeth L. Post, published by Funk & Wagnalls.)

I am not going into a lengthy discussion of how far you should go; that is really something you have to decide for yourselves according to the moral values you have absorbed from your family and your environment. However, before you decide what you're going to do, you should consider a number of aspects of the problem that are very definitely related to etiquette.

One of the basic purposes of etiquette is to help you improve your relations with other people and make you, personally, more attractive.

"Free love" may sound exciting — a sign of liberated thought, freedom — but think about it from this point of view. Do you want to attract people who simply wish to use you, or do you want sincere admirers? Promiscuity isn't a short cut to authentic popularity; it's only an admission that a person lacks the confidence or ability to gain friends except by desperate measures.

There is one sinner with a worse reputation than a girl who is too available; that's the one who goes so far that the boy thinks she is available and then she quits. Unfortunately, there are girls who do this deliberately; they want the excitement of some sex but not the danger or complication of giving themselves completely. Others simply get carried away by their emotions, or by a desire to attract or hold a certain boy. Whatever the reason, the tease is the lowest of the low — she's cheating the boys she leads on, and she's cheating herself emotionally; and practically too, because when the word gets around, as it will, her dating life may well be over.

First Dates
Most boys are reasonably sensitive to the atmosphere you create, and respond in kind. After all, they don't like being turned down, so if your attitude says, "Hands off," they won't make much more than an exploratory effort to be sure they're read you right.

It's a cinch to keep it cool if you decide you dislike a boy and don't care whether you ever see him again. Far more often, however, you may not want to kiss on a first date, but you're having fun and very much want the boy to ask you out again. How do you indicate this without having him think you're a stuffed shirt or even that you don't like him? It's fairly simple:

1. You're an interested listener and enthusiastic talker, but you don't dwell on the subject of sex, dirty jokes, or your friends' love lives.

2. You sit reasonably close to him in the car, but you don't squeeze up tight or put your arm around him.

3. You let him hold your hand in the movies, but you don't keep wiggling around and squeezing his hand.

4. You don't wrap yourself around him like an octopus when you dance.

5. When he takes you to your door, thank him, chat a moment or two, and go in. If you linger too long, he's practically obligated to kiss you good night.

6. If you really like him and he really wants to kiss you good night, don't make a federal case out of it. Kiss him, but make it a brief, thank-you sort of kiss until you know him better. If you feel strongly that you prefer not to kiss him, don't. Most boys will try for a kiss if the date's been a success, but they don't really expect to get one. All you have to say is "Jim, I had a great time and I want to see you again, but I'd rather wait." This is both honest and flattering, and suggests that you'd like another date. It also makes your kisses worth more when you're ready to give them.

As Time Goes On

Inevitably, when you are fond of a boy and continue to go out with him, he is going to want more than a good-night kiss. You may not, unless you prefer him just as a friend. Always bear in mind that each step you take leads to another, and if you don't want your romance to get out of hand you must draw a line. It's up to the girl to draw the line, and if she sincerely wants to, and has the strength of her convictions, she'll do it before matters get too difficult. The best way to accomplish this is to avoid situations which automatically provide opportunity and stimulus. Here are a number of ways of improving your chances of keeping it cool, without appearing to be a real square:

Suggest a movie theater instead of a drive-in. Avoid movies that are too sexy. Don't ask him in after dates unless your parents are still up. Arrange double dates as often as possible. Don't wear provocative clothes. Don't frequent lover's lanes.

They're a real hazard; think of any reason to avoid going to one. You're starved—would he take you to a snack-bar? You're exhausted—would he mind taking you home early tonight? Don't go to parties where there will be no chaperone, especially if you know it's likely to turn into a make-out party. If that should happen, get him away on any excuse, or you'll be faced with the old "everyone else is doing it" routine.

Don't let him talk you into a date unless he has definite plans for the evening. Such dates too easily turn into a moonlight drive (dangerous), a midnight swim (more dangerous), or a booze-in-the-glove-compartment party (most dangerous).

If, in spite of all your planning and good intentions, you find you're alone together and his kisses are getting more demanding and his hands are wandering, you can still cool it off. You can get righteous and mad, but if you like the boy this may be the wrong tack. The most diplomatic thing you can do is to introduce some humor into the situation—"Oh, Frank, this reminds me of..." Giggles about how ridiculous you both must look—anything that will somehow get him to laugh and you laugh too. Laughter and serious sex just don't mix, and a break of this sort will generally get things back on an even keel.

If you honestly haven't encouraged a boy to make demands, it's perfectly reasonable for you to make him feel a little guilty. "Roy, I've always thought, so much of you that I wouldn't have expected you to act like this." This may appeal to his pride enough to slow him up.

If a boy really likes you, wants to continue to see you, and respects you, the simplest, most honest way is best: "Bob, I think we'd better go home. I like you and want to go on seeing you, but I won't feel I can if we get too carried away, so let's move on, O.K.?"

ART EXHIBIT — Miss Carmen Archer of Route 4, Saugerties, a student at Ulster County Community College, scans a painting which will be on exhibit at the college now through Sunday, June 16. The works are being displayed in both Gallery Hall, John Burroughs Science Building; and Library Hall, MacDonald DeWitt Library Building; and the public is invited to view the exhibition Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Student Visual Arts Exhibition

The fifth annual exhibition of art work by students of Ulster County Community College is presented by the Visual Arts Program of the College.

Dr. George B. Erbsstein, president of the College invites the community, students and friends to view this exhibition now to June 16 at the new college campus in Stone Ridge from 9 to 5 Monday through Friday. The exhibit could also be viewed on Saturday, May 18, during Inaugural of the President and on Sunday, June 16, during the college reception for Class of 1968.

The Visual Arts Program is in a state of change and a state of growth, moving within larger concepts and moving toward more significant goals.

As evidence of the growth of the program, the students work now requires more exhibition space. This year the exhibit will be held in two areas of the college, Gallery Hall and the John Burroughs Science Building and also in the Library Hall of the MacDonald DeWitt Library Building.

From time to time the group pauses to assess its aims and accomplishments; the end of the term is a fitting period to reflect and appraise the year's work. The works of the young students in process of their educational development at the college is reflected in this exhibition. The foundations for intelligent evolution is based on standards of high level of creative performance. Emphasis is placed on essentials of perception, visual construction and experimentation with stress on personal expression, approach and mode of execution.

The exhibition comprises the work of students from the art classes of Professor Ruth Muroff, coordinator of Visual Arts, and Allan Cohen, instructor of Arts at the College. The exhibition demonstrates the combination of experimental expression, exploring new media, embracing space, light, texture and heightening of awareness and perception. The current show consists of drawing, paintings, two and three dimensional design, banners, prints collage and advertising design.

why are people selling their homes to rent these exciting new apartments?

For the best reason in the world. They'll live better. A Stony Run apartment gives you more fun and takes much less out of you.

There's no lawn to mow, no garden to keep up, no snow to shovel, no repairs to make. All that is done for you.

What do you do with your spare time? You'll enjoy the resort facilities that are right at home... and on the house. (Adult & children's pools, sun decks, tennis courts, barbecue areas, separate community activities building for parties, shows, informal get-togethers.)

If you're worried about being crowded, don't worry. The community enjoys a park-like setting. (The gently-sloping terrain adjoins the banks of the Esopus River, overlooks vistas of the Catskills; 60% of the land is given over to landscaping and leisure facilities.)

And the apartments are appointed like a luxury private home. They include a terrace or patio, individual central air-conditioning, wall-to-wall carpeting and 4 major appliances.

So, if you want to get much more out of life, get a Stony Run apartment.

1, 2 and 3 bedrooms from $150 Immediate & Future Occupancy

INCLUDED IN YOUR BASIC RENTAL:
Central air-conditioning system with individual controls dishwasher disposal
13 cu. ft. refrigerator-freezer double oven cooking center with 2 broilers, range, well-to-wall Heroulin carpeting Built-in telephone outlets
Free parking
Full privileges at all community facilities.

at home vacationing... on the house! Vacation whenever the weather or the mood moves you at the private adult and children's pools. What's more, it's a cost-free, car-free, vacationing. And the sundeck's perfect for a Sunday afternoon poolside party.

community activities building. Not a basement, but a complete building dedicated to your leisure-time pleasure. It will be complete with its own kitchen, and be ideal for formal affairs, informal get-togethers, art exhibits, lectures, dances, you name it.

Mediterranean styling. Authentic Mediterranean architecture adds quiet beauty to the bountiful Stony Run life. Mansard roofs dramatically slope downward. Earth-toned brickwork is accented by custom-wrought iron railing. And each building is surrounded by lush expanses of lawns and landscaping.

Etiquette for Young People

By ELIZABETH L. POST

(This is the tenth of a series of 12 articles excerpted from "The Emily Post Book of Etiquette for Young People," by Elizabeth L. Post, published by Funk & Wagnalls.)

I am not going into a lengthy discussion of how far you should go; that is really something you have to decide for yourselves according to the moral values you have absorbed from your family and your environment. However, before you decide what you're going to do, you should consider a number of aspects of the problem that are very definitely related to etiquette.

One of the basic purposes of etiquette is to help you improve your relations with other people and make you, personally, more attractive.

"Free love" may sound exciting — a sign of liberated thought, freedom — but think about it from this point of view. Do you want to attract people who simply wish to use you, or do you want sincere admirers? Promiscuity isn't a short cut to authentic popularity; it's only an admission that a person lacks the confidence or ability to gain friends except by desperate measures.

There is one sinner with a worse reputation than a girl who is too available; that's the one who goes so far that the boy thinks she is available and then she quits. Unfortunately, there are girls who do this deliberately; they want the excitement of some sex but not the danger or complication of giving themselves completely. Others simply get carried away by their emotions, or by a desire to attract or hold a certain boy. Whatever the reason, the tease is the lowest of the low — she's cheating the boys she leads on, and she's cheating herself emotionally; and practically too, because when the word gets around, as it will, her dating life may well be over.

First Dates

Most boys are reasonably sensitive to the atmosphere you create, and respond in kind. After all, they don't like being "turned down," so if your attitude says, "Hands off," they won't make much more than an exploratory effort to be sure they're read you right.

It's a cinch to keep it cool if you decide you dislike a boy and don't care whether you ever see him again. Far more often, however, you may not want to kiss on a first date, but you're having fun and very much want the boy to ask you out again. How do you indicate this without having him think you're a stuffed shirt or even that you don't like him? It's fairly simple:

1. You're an interested listener and enthusiastic talker, but you don't dwell on the subject of sex, dirty jokes, or your friends' love lives.

2. You sit reasonably close to him in the car, but you don't squeeze up tight or put your arm around him.

3. You let him hold your hand in the movies, but you don't keep wiggling around and squeezing his hand.

4. You don't wrap yourself around him like an octopus when you dance.

5. When he takes you to your door, thank him, chat a moment or two, and go in. If you linger too long, he's practically obligated to kiss you good night.

6. If you really like him and he really wants to kiss you good night, don't make a federal case out of it. Kiss him, but make it a brief, thank-you sort of kiss until you know him better. If you feel strongly that you prefer not to kiss him, don't. Most boys will try for a kiss if the date's been a success, but they don't really expect to get one. All you have to say is "Jim, I had a great time and I want to see you again, but I'd rather wait." This is both honest and flattering, and suggests that you'd like another date. It also makes your kisses worth more when you're ready to give them.

As Time Goes On

Suggest a movie theater instead of a drive-in. Avoid movies that are too sexy. Don't ask him in after dates unless your parents are still up. Arrange double dates as often as possible. Don't wear provocative clothes. Don't frequent lover's lanes.

They're a real hazard; think of any reason to avoid going to one. You're starved—would he take you to a snack-bar? You're exhausted—would he mind taking you home early tonight? Don't go to parties where there will be no chaperone, especially if you know it's likely to turn into a make-out party. If that should happen, get him away on any excuse, or you'll be faced with the old "everyone else is doing it" routine.

Don't let him talk you into a date unless he has definite plans for the evening. Such dates too easily turn into a midnight drive (dangerous), a moonlight swim (more dangerous), or a booze-in-the-glove-compartment party (most dangerous).

If, in spite of all your planning and good intentions, you find you're alone together and his kisses are getting more demanding and his hands are wandering, you can still cool it off. You can get righteous and mad, but if you like the boy this may be the wrong tack. The most diplomatic thing you can do is to introduce some humor into the situation—"Oh Frank, this reminds me of..." Giggles about how ridiculous you both must look—anything that will somehow get him to laugh, and you laugh too. Laughter and serious sex just don't mix, and a break of this sort will generally get things back on an even keel.

If you honestly haven't encouraged a boy to make demands, it's perfectly reasonable for you to make him feel a little guilty. "Roy, I've always thought, so much of you that I wouldn't have expected you to act like this." This may appeal to his pride enough to slow him up.

If a boy really likes you, wants to continue to see you, and respects you, the simplest, most honest way is best: "Bob, I think we'd better go home. I like you and want to go on seeing you, but I won't feel I can if we get too carried away, so let's move on, O.K.?"

By Appeals Court

Television Case Overruled

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—A television filming may not be a complete record of fact, the Court of Appeals ruled Thursday in an incident involving a left-wing group.
 The state's highest court also allowed two brokerage houses to by-pass four years of claims battles in an attempt to recover $50 million lost in a 1963 salad oil swindle.
 Both were New York City cases.
 A conviction of Eric Eisenberg for obstructing an officer in an incident in front of the W. E. B. DuBos Club was overturned 4-2. No testimony was introduced to prove the TV film "represented a complete pictorial record of the facts and circumstances," the court said.
 "It cannot be said, as a matter of law, that such tape establishes that there is a reasonable doubt as to the guilt of the appellant," Judge Matthew Jansen wrote for the majority.
 The court said that at the time of the trial it was acknowledged that the tape, made by American Broadcasting Co., was not necessarily in sequence and may have been cut and spliced.
 The incident March 5, 1966, arose following a press conference at the club's headquarters where a crowd had gathered. The club was under investigation for alleged Communist affiliation.
 Eisenberg asked a police officer why he was arresting five youths following a garbage throwing incident since they were inside a car at the time. The officer testified that Eisenberg then grabbed him by the arm and spun him around. However, Judge Adrian Burke, in the dissenting opinion, pointed out that the film sequence and testimony of other witnesses failed to show the scuffle.
 "The majority has found the record in this case—containing 229 pages of conflicting and inconclusive testimony supplied by interested witnesses—sufficient to sustain the defendant's conviction," Burke said.
 "An objective account of the occurrence, supplied by the continuous filming of the events in question, flatly contradicts their determination," he said.
 Convicted in the swindle was Anthony DeAngelis, president of Allied Crude Vegetable Oil Refining Corp., who was found guilty of forcing receipt forms for $18.5 million worth of non-existent soybean and cottonseed oil.
 The oil was supposed to have been stored in tanks under the control of American Express.
 Under normal procedures, the two companies would seek to collect their losses from the insurance companies who then would have filed a different action against American Express after paying off the claims.
 Trustees for Ira Haupt and Co., insured by American Guarantee and Liability Insurance Co. for $48 million, claim damages of $51 million. Trustees for D.R. Comenzo Inc., insured for $2.1 million by Fidelity and Casualty Co. of New York, claim damages of $7.3 million.
 When the salad oil scheme collapsed in November 1963, the two brokerage firms found they held worthless warehouse receipts.
 DeAngelis, convicted on a wide range of charges in the case, is serving a 20-year jail sentence. He was accused of stealing 10 warehouse forms and then forging entries on them.
 The court, which upheld lower court findings in the two cases, waived the normal procedure to simplify the litigation and determine responsibility for the loss.
 "Procedural rules exist to further the ends of justice," Judge Kenneth B. Keating wrote. "They should not serve as powerful litigation weapons by which parties are forced to forego one substantive right in order to preserve another."

Free in Bail

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A 28-year-old policeman was shot Sunday in North Nashville, free in $2,500 bail today in the fatal shooting of James H. Jansh, formerly of Nashville, N. Y., between Rochester and Hornell.
 Samuel R. Lee surrendered Thursday at police headquarters after Jansh's widow swore out a warrant for his arrest.
 Jansh, 37, an ironworker, was shot Sunday in North Nashville, as witnesses said, and several other persons watched the policeman and Mrs. Lee argue. Lee was off-duty at the time. Fellow officers quoted Lee as saying the shooting was an accident.
 The case will go to a grand jury.

Television Case Overruled

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—A television filming may not be a complete record of fact, the Court of Appeals ruled Thursday in an incident involving a left-wing group.

The state's highest court also allowed two brokerage houses to bypass four years of claims battles in an attempt to recover $60 million lost in a 1963 salad oil swindle.

Both were New York City cases.

A conviction of Eric Eisenberg for obstructing an officer in an incident in front of the W. E. B. DuBois Club was overturned 4-2. No testimony was introduced to prove the TV film "represented a complete pictorial record of the facts and circumstances," the court said.

"It cannot be said, as a matter of law, that such tape establishes that there is a reasonable doubt as to the guilt of the appellant," Judge Matthew J. Jansen wrote for the majority.

The court said that at the time of the trial it was acknowledged that the tape, made by American Broadcasting Co., was not necessarily in sequence and may have been cut and spliced.

The incident March 5, 1966, arose following a press conference at the club's headquarters where a crowd had gathered. The club was under investigation for alleged Communist affiliation.

Eisenberg asked a police officer why he was arresting five youths following a garbage throwing incident since they were inside a car at the time.

The officer testified that Eisenberg then grabbed him by the arm and spun him around. However, Judge Adrian Burke, in the dissenting opinion, pointed out that the film sequence and testimony of other witnesses failed to show the scuffle.

"The majority has found the record in this case—containing 229 pages of conflicting and inconclusive testimony supplied by interested witnesses—sufficient to sustain the defendant's conviction," Burke said.

"An objective account of the occurrence, supplied by the continuous filming of the events in question, flatly contradicts their determination," he said.

Convicted in the swindle was Anthony DeAngelis, president of Allied Crude Vegetable Oil Refining Corp., who was found guilty of forging receipt forms for $18.5 million worth of non-existent soybean and cottonseed oil.

The oil was supposed to have been stored in tanks under the control of American Express.

Under normal procedures, the two companies would seek to collect their losses from the insurance companies who then would have filed a different action against American Express after paying off the claims.

Trustees for Ira Haupt and Co., insured by American Guarantee and Liability Insurance Co. for $48 million, claim damages of $51 million. Trustees for D.R. Comenzo Inc., insured for

$2.1 million by Fidelity and Casualty Co. of New York, claim damages of $7.3 million.

When the salad oil scheme collapsed in November 1963, the two brokerage firms found they held worthless warehouse receipts.

DeAngelis, convicted on a wide range of charges in the case, is serving a 20-year jail sentence. He was accused of stealing 10 warehouse forms and then forging entries on them.

The court, which upheld lower court findings in the two cases, waived the normal procedure to simplify the litigation and determine responsibility for the loss.

"Procedural rules exist to further the ends of justice," Judge Kenneth B. Keating wrote. "They should not serve as powerful litigation weapons by which parties are forced to forego one substantive right in order to preserve another."

Ike Sits Up

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, 77, now is sitting up 2 1/2 hours a day as he recuperates from his April 29 heart attack in California.

A spokesman at Walter Reed Army Medical Center, where the general arrived Tuesday, said it probably would be several weeks before Eisenhower could be released.

Lottery Sales Down

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Sales of state lottery tickets dropped in April to $4,219,797 — almost 20 per cent below the March figure.

Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy said Thursday the decline resulted from a new federal law that halted ticket sales in banks as of March 31.

More than 80 per cent of the $1 tickets had been sold in banks, Murphy said, and new outlets were not licensed fast enough to offset the loss.

Of the April proceeds, $2.3 million goes to the state for education and $1.2 million will be shared by 1,013 prize winners. Drawings begin here Tuesday. Winners will be chosen Thursday at Lincoln Center Plaza in New York City.

Air Pollution Reported High In Syracuse

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The level of air pollution in parts of Syracuse is comparable to that of such larger cities as New York, Chicago and Buffalo, a university scientist says.

Dr. Gunter Zweig, head of the Life Sciences Division of the Syracuse University Research Corp., reported Thursday findings of a survey for Onondaga County.

"The rate of dust-fall in the most heavily polluted areas reached levels of about 50 to 80 tons a month per square mile, comparable with those found in New York City and Chicago," Zweig said.

Suspended particulate matter — solids and liquids too small to settle out of the air rapidly — was comparable to that of the Buffalo-Niagara Falls area, "which is considered one of the most polluted regions of the state," he added.

Large amounts of the poisonous gas sulphur dioxide also were reported.

The dust-fall rate was about six times lower in the county's outlying, residential areas, Zweig said.

Nursing Institute Well Attended Here

More than 100 nurses representing all areas of nursing, attended the fifth annual Heart Institute at the Governor Clinton Hotel. This Institute provided one of the most informative and educational workshops ever witnessed in the area.

Moderator was Dr. Edmund Repper, who also served on the panel with presentation of film of catheterization which showed specific heart defects.

A review of the actual case finding to the care at the various milestones was given by each professional person. A panel of 10 gave a vivid description of each person's responsibility.

Dr. Eleanor Peck, a pediatrician in Poughkeepsie, reviewed the importance of early case finding and proper identification. Mrs. Barbara Engle explained the role as the Public Health Nurse in educating the patient's family and guiding them to the proper agency.

Mrs. G. Robert Anderson, RN, representing Dr. Harold L. Rakov, gave an account of the consultation services at Kingston Hospital that are offered to the residents in our area. Harold Larsen, case supervisor, Ulster County Department of Social Services, explained the aid that is given to families with the need for this Institute at the Governor Clinton Hotel. This Institute provided one of the most informative and educational workshops ever witnessed in the area.

A team of highly trained personnel who accompanied Dr. Repper from New York University Medical Center, also spoke. Dolores V. Soriano, RN, defined and described a heart catheterization and outlined the duties of a head nurse in a cardiac laboratory.

Linda Ude, RN, explained the actual nursing care of an intensive care unit. Her message to the group was that one of the most important needs of a patient requiring heart surgery was to receive compassion, assurance and patience from the medical hospital staff.

Wilma Wilkes, a registered physical therapist, explained how the life of the patient depended on the proper exercise instructions that are given before and after surgery.

A former patient, Mrs. Carlotta Rosenfeldt of Hurley, spoke of her successful surgery five years ago and expressed the gratitude she had for such a team of "angels of mercy."

Dr. Jeremiah Sachs extended greetings to the group and introduced panel members. He pointed out that this Institute was only one of many programs provided by the Mid-Hudson Heart Association which was made possible by funds received through the Annual Heart Fund Campaign in February.

Dr. Sachs also extended, on behalf of the Heart Association, appreciation and thanks to the nurses who planned this year's Institute. Committee members are: Mrs. David Hildebrandt, RN, chairman; Mrs. Marguerita Mahoney, RN; Mrs. William Murray, PHN; Mrs. Barbara Engel, PHN; Mrs. Edward V. Lottery Sales Down

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Sales of state lottery tickets dropped in April to $429,797 — almost 20 per cent below the March figure.

Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy said Thursday the decline resulted from a new federal law that halted ticket sales in banks as of March 31.

More than 80 per cent of the $1 tickets had been sold in banks, Murphy said, and new outlets were not licensed fast enough to offset the loss.

Drawings begin here Tuesday. Winners will be chosen Thursday at Lincoln Center Plaza in New York City.

Air Pollution Reported High In Syracuse

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The dust-fall rate was about six times lower in the county's outlying, residential areas, Zweig said.

Nursing Institute Well Attended Here

More than 100 nurses representing all areas of nursing, attended the fifth annual Heart Institute at the Governor Clinton Hotel. This Institute provided one of the most informative and educational workshops ever witnessed in the area.

Moderator was Dr. Edmund Reppert who also served on the panel with presentation of film of catheterizations which showed specific heart defects.

A review of the actual case finding to the care at the various milestones was given by each professional person. A panel of 10 gave a vivid description of each person's responsibility.

Dr. Eleanor Peck, a pediatrician in Poughkeepsie, reviewed the importance of early case finding and proper identification. Mrs. Barbara Engle explained the role as the Public Health Nurse in educating the patient's family and guiding them to the proper agency.

Mrs. G. Robert Anderson, RN, representing Dr. Harold L. Rakov, gave an account of the consultation services at Kingston Hospital that are offered to the residents in our area.

Harold Larsen, case supervisor, Ulster County Department of Social Services, explained the aid that is given to families with the need for this a wesome financial expense.

Miss Catherine Grace, supervisor, Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, Poughkeepsie, expanded on this by explaining DVR's role in providing financial, emotional support and job retraining when necessary.

A team of highly trained personnel who accompanied Dr. Reppert from New York University Medical Center, also spoke. Dolores V. Soriano, RN, defined and described a heart catheterization and outlined the duties of a head nurse in a cardiac laboratory.

Linda Ude, RN, explained the actual nursing care of an intensive care unit. Her message to the group was that one of the most important needs of a patient requiring heart surgery was to receive compassion assurance and patience from the medical hospital staff.

Wilma Wilkes, a registered physical therapist, explained how the life of the patient depended on the proper exercise instructions that are given before and after surgery.

A former patient, Mrs. Carlotta Rosenfeldt of Hurley, spoke of her successful surgery five years ago and expressed her gratitude she had for such a team of "angels of mercy."

Dr. Jeremiah Sachs extended greetings to the group and introduced panel members. He pointed out that this Institute was only one of many programs provided by the Mid-Hudson Heart Association which was made possible by funds received through the Annual Heart Fund Campaign in February.

Dr. Sachs also extended, on behalf of the Heart Association, appreciation and thanks to the nurses who planned this year's Institute. Committee members are: Mrs. David Hildebrandt, RN, chairman; Mrs. Marguerita Mahoney, RN; Mrs. William Murray, PHN; Mrs. Barbara Engel, PHN; Mrs. Edward V. Strohsahl, RN; Mrs. Florence Irwin, RN, all of Ulster County; Mrs. Gloria Buckley, RN and Mrs. Ethel Mayone, RN, of Greene County and Mrs. Ruth Buchholz, RN and Miss Louise Miller, RN of Columbia County.

Miss Katherine A. Bower, executive director of the Mid-Hudson Heart Association served as co-ordinator.

Onteora Central Captures UCAL Track Laurels

By CHRIS GEHMAN

Freeman Sports Staff
Despite lack of sunlight in the early going and a drenching rain through the second half, Onteora Central High's thin-clad slogged their way to an impressive first place in the 1968 UCAL track meet Thursday at New Paltz.

Coach Bernie Stahl's Indians captured four firsts and rolled up 103 points, to outdistance the field.

Team Points

Onteora	103
Pine Bush	76
Highland	74
New Paltz	68
Rondout	60
Wallkill	60
Marlboro	24

The win gave Onteora another shot at the UCLA crown. Pine Bush, which picked up five points yesterday, against six for Onteora, now leads the standing with a 11-1 mark. Should Onteora, (now 10-1), whose dual meet loss to Pine Bush by a scanty margin was the only blemish on a perfect record, beat Highland in the last remaining dual meet of the UCAL slate. Onteora and Pine Bush will be co-champions with identical 11-1 marks.

One Meet Record
Jon Loreunser of Pine Bush established the only new record of the meet. Loreunser sailed 21 feet, one inch in the long jump, a leap that elevated the 1965 mark of 20 feet, 10 1/2 inches set by Carlos Harewood of Onteora. Loreunser also delivered a clutch second place in the pole vault.

It was Loreunser's second place that determined the fate of the league standings. By the time the pole vault, last event to be completed, was drawing to a close, it was clear that Onteora had won the meet. It was also clear that Pine Bush need at least a third in the pole vault to place second and retain hopes of being co-champion with OCS.

Craig Hubbel in the two-mile, Fred Middleton in the triple jump and Dale Chauncey in the discus were individual winners for Onteora. The medley relay team of Pete Morey, Mike Welty, Fred Wagner and Wes Daughtrey won handsily.

Hubbell Falls
Although Hubbell ran the first

mile of the two-mile in 4:55, one second faster than the winning time for the mile run, he failed to equal the record 10:10.0 performance he turned in last year. Middleton's 43 feet, three-inch triple jump was five inches short of the record 43 feet, eight inches he established last year.

Rondout's Gordy Taylor was the only double winner of the day. Taylor blazed his way to victory in the 100 and the 220.

He wisely ran only as fast as necessary to qualify for the finals, expending as little energy as possible, letting the other runners tire themselves out.

New Paltz High also captured four first places. Dana Otis started the tugboat, who finished fourth, on the way with a win in the 180 low hurdles. Other firsts for New Paltz were Larry Kenney in the 440, Rich McGuire in the mile and Warren Ronk in the pole vault.

THE HERO — Frank Howard, slugger for the Washington Senators, is congratulated after hitting his 2nd home run in game against Cleveland Indians last night. Howard tied an American League record by hitting his 13th and 14th round tripper with seven in the last four games. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Big Frank's 2 HRs Tie Mark

For Houk and Howard: Two Kinds of Current

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

Frank Howard felt like he was in a dentist's chair and Ralph Houk would've sworn he was in an electric one.

Howard, Washington's mammoth slugger, drilled his 13th and 14th home runs of the season—tying an American League record with seven circuits in his last four games—and drove in all of Washington's runs as the Senators clipped Cleveland 4-1 Thursday night.

Manager Houk, meanwhile, shuddered through a nightmare game in Boston where his normally run-starved New York Yankees scored 10 times only to have the Red Sox rally for six runs in the eighth inning and an 11-10 victory.

In the only other American League game played, Minnesota edged Oakland 4-3.

Average Up To

The two shots boosted Howard's batting average to .339—tops in the American League. His 14 homers and 28 runs batted in lead both leagues.

Howard stands 6 feet 7 and weighs 260 pounds.

The seven homers in four games tied the record set by Tony Lazzeri of the New York Yankees in 1936 and tied by Gus Zernial of Philadelphia in 1951.

It had been 10 games since New York had managed more than two runs in a game. But the Yankees erupted for six runs in the third inning—four of them on rookie catcher Frank Fernandez' grand slam homer—and were leading the Red Sox 9-3 after four.

The primary concern was the weather. A steady downpour threatened to wash the game out before it was official. But Houk got lucky, or so he thought, and the game continued despite the rain.

It was 10-5 Yankees in the eighth when Bobby Cox, troubled by the wet ball, threw away Jose Tartabull's leadoff grounder. A single by Gene Oliver and a walk to Mike Andrews loaded the bases and finished Yankee starter Mel Stottlemyre.

Joe Foy greeted reliever Joe Verbanic with a two-run double and Dalton Jones' infield hit made it 10-8. Reggie Smith doubled for another run and by this time Houk was really feeling the heat.

Dooley Womack relieved and walked Ken Harrelson, who had socked a three-run homer earlier. George Scott's sacrifice fly tied the game as Jerry moved to third. Then Jerry Adair dumped a perfect suicide squeeze bunt, scoring Smith with the winner.

The Yankees' lead was 10-5 after four.

Dooley Womack relieved and walked Ken Harrelson, who had socked a three-run homer earlier. George Scott's sacrifice fly tied the game as Jerry moved to third. Then Jerry Adair dumped a perfect suicide squeeze bunt, scoring Smith with the winner.

Joe Foy greeted reliever Joe Verbanic with a two-run double and Dalton Jones' infield hit made it 10-8. Reggie Smith doubled for another run and by this time Houk was really feeling the heat.

Maroons Fall to PJ's One-Hitter

Drop Third Til in Row

Port Jervis High's baseball team accomplished two important things yesterday — avenged an earlier defeat at the hands of Kingston and gave Newburgh an almost virtual stranglehold on the DUSO League's baseball championship.

It was Port's turn yesterday. Two weeks ago, the Maroons took 3-1 victory from the Porters at Kingston, but yesterday, with PJ at home, Tom McCooey, rooled pretty good at Kingston, set the Maroons down on just one hit as Port emerged triumphant, 3-0.

The loss dropped the Maroons deeper into second place, a game-and-a-half back of Newburgh, which was washed out after five scoreless innings against Middletown.

McCooey, who had a tough time against the Maroons in the first contest, was the master throughout yesterday, giving up just a single to Harry Lyons in the sixth.

He wasn't without trouble though, as the Maroons threatened several times. KHS, light hitting, couldn't drive a run in as they dropped their third in a row.

In the fourth, John Carter reached third with just one out, but couldn't score.

Port then scored all their runs in the fifth. A lead off walk to Gary Pomes, a sacrifice, a single by Marty Corcoran and an error on Mike Antonelli's grounder scored the first one.

Bill Cleary singled through the drawn in infield for the final two runs.

A half-inning later, KHS had the bases loaded with two out. Losing pitcher Greg Rios had a chance to tie the game, coming to bat with the bases loaded and two out. Rios went down swinging to end the threat.

In the final frame, the Maroon had men on first and second and no outs, but again couldn't put a runner across as McCooey rose to the occasion.

KHS has now managed just three hits in the last two games. Over the three losing contests, they scratched out a measly four hits.

Ellies Fall to Monticello, 7-5, In Eighth Frame

Monticello's Larry Lachman pitched six innings of hitless relief ball and his teammates came up with two runs in the top of the eighth inning to hand the homecoming Ellenville their fourth DUSO League loss yesterday, 7-5.

The Monties, opened with two runs in the first, but the Ellies came up with four of their own in the bottom of that frame for the lead.

Another run in the second took care of starter Bob Heine, but Lachman, who had started every previous contest, came on at the start of the third to shutout the Ellies completely.

Lachman, who whiffed seven and walked two, was the master after that, not even allowing an Ellie to get past first base.

The Monties sent it into extra innings with a three-run outburst against starter and loser, Albie Koplick.

In the top of the eighth, Koplick let Bob Schmidt stroke a lead off single, and steal second.

In came Bruce Hornbeck, the boy who owns both Blue Devil wins this season.

Hornbeck set down the first two batters he faced, but gave up the game winning hit, a single by Marty Greene that allowed Schmidt to score.

In other action, Liberty kept pace with Monticello for the league lead (both 4-1) with one-hit, 13-1 win over Fallsburgh, who remains tied with the Ellies at 1-4.

An Unburned Bat Gives Pittsburgh 3-0 Victory

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer

Roberto Clemente missed the recent bat burning held by his Pittsburgh Pirates teammates, and now the St. Louis Cardinals would like to hold a special one for him.

The idea must have occurred to the Cardinals after Clemente and his unburned bat cooled off St. Louis pitching Thursday night with a two-run triple that sparked the Pirates to a 3-0 victory.

"I got someone to save them (his bats) for me," Clemente said after the Pirates disgustedly burned about eight of their bats in Forbes Field following the second straight 1-0 loss to St. Louis Wednesday night.

Onteora Central Captures UCAL Track Laurels

By CHRIS GERMAN

Freeman Sports Staff
Despite lack of sunlight in the early going and a drenching rain through the second half, Onteora Central High's thin-clad slogged their way to an impressive first place in the 1968 UCLA track meet Thursday at New Paltz.

Coach Bernie Stahl's Indians captured four firsts and rolled up 103 points, to outdistance the field.

Team Points

Onteora	103
Pine Bush	76
Highland	74
New Paltz	68
Rondout	60
Walkkill	60
Marlboro	24

The win gave Onteora another shot at the UCLA crown. Pine Bush, which picked up five points yesterday, against six for Onteora, now leads the standing with a 11-1 mark. Should Onteora, (now 10-1), whose dual meet loss to Pine Bush by a scanty margin was the only blemish on a perfect record, beat Highland in the last remaining dual meet of the UCAL slate, Onteora and Pine Bush will be co-champions with identical 11-1 marks.

One Meet Record
Jon Loreunser of Pine Bush established the only new record of the meet. Loreunser sailed 21 feet, one inch in the long jump, a leap that elevated the 1965 mark of 20 feet, 10 1/2 inches set by Carlos Harewood of Onteora. Loreunser also delivered a clutch second place in the pole vault.

It was Loreunser's second place that determined the fate of the league standings. By the time the pole vault, last event to be completed, was drawing to a close, it was clear that Onteora had won the meet. It was also clear that Pine Bush need at least a third in the pole vault to place second and retain hopes of being co-champion with OCS.

Craig Hubbell in the two-mile, Fred Middleton in the triple jump and Dale Chauncey in the discus were individual winners for Onteora. The medley relay team of Pete Morey, Mike Welty, Fred Wagner and Wes Daughtrey won handsily.

Hubbell Falls

Although Hubbell ran the first

mile of the two-mile in 4:55, one second faster than the winning time for the mile run, he failed to equal the record 10:10.0 performance he turned in last year. Middleton's 43 feet, three-inch triple jump was five inches short of the record 43 feet, eight inches he established last year.

Rondout's Gordy Taylor was the only double winner of the day. Taylor blazed his way to victory in the 100 and the 220.

He wisely ran only as fast as necessary to qualify for the finals, expending as little energy as possible, letting the other runners tire themselves out.

New Paltz High also captured four first places. Dana Otis started the Hugenot, who finished fourth, on the way with a win in the 180 low hurdles. Other firsts for New Paltz were Larry Kenney in the 440, Rich McGuire in the mile and Warren Ronk in the pole vault.

THE HERO — Frank Howard, slugger for the Washington Senators, is congratulated after hitting his 2nd home run in game against Cleveland Indians last night. Howard tied an American League record by hitting his 13th and 14th round tripper with seven in the last four games. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Rich Nye hurled a six-hitter and the Chicago Cubs edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 1-0. Tom Seaver's six-hitter helped the New York Mets past Cincinnati 2-1 and Juan Marichal twirled a five-hitter in San Francisco's 3-1 triumph over Houston. Atlanta was rained out at Philadelphia in the other scheduled game.

Clemente, who singled in the first inning, ended Pittsburgh's streak of 27 scoreless innings in the third inning after Matty Alou blooped a two-out single and Maury Wills got an infield hit off loser Ray Washburn's leg.

Willie Stargell then drove in Clemente with a hit as the Pirates had, for them, a robust attack of eight hits.

Bob Veale, usually on the mound when Pittsburgh bats are at their weakest, stopped the Cardinals on eight hits and struck out 13 for his second straight victory after three opening defeats. Veale, who saved his bats, also got a single.

Nye's shutout of the Dodgers was the sixth time they have been blanked this season.

Ron Santo's run-scoring single in the first inning settled the duel between Nye, 2-4, and Don Sutton, 2-3, who left for a pinch hitter in the seventh after yielding seven hits.

Tommy Agee, no powerhouse with his .121 average, drove in his third run of the season with a two-out single in the ninth inning for the Mets' victory. Seaver, 2-3 with a 1.72 earned run average, won his duel against Jerry Arigo, 3-2, who allowed eight hits.

Marichal became the first six-game winner in the majors—he has lost twice—and only a two-out double by Rusty Staub in the ninth ruined his shutout. The big hit for the Giants was Hal Lanier's two-run double in the seventh inning as San Francisco beat the Astros for the 32nd time in their last 35 meetings at Candlestick Park.

Favored Hal Painter Wins MR Opener Before 5,536

With all the world's focus turned to the peace talks in Paris, 5,700 hardy fans shifted their attention to Monticello Raceway last night — setting their sights on another international event, The Can-Am Pace, the mighty M's inaugural feature race.

Despite a late afternoon long drizzle and fog that cut the expected crowd of some 6,000, the patrons welcomed Monticello into its 11th season with a rousing band of applause for the $10,000 feature race.

It was 3-5 favorite Hal Painter, a son of Painter-Maid Hal, handeled ably by John Patterson Jr., that topped the feature in 2:04.3 over a fast track.

Hal Painter took the lead from Tioga flash just before hitting the half mile mark, a spot touched in 1:02.3.

Brad Hanover and his entry mate, Lief Hanover, the morning line favorites, were anything but the bettors choice, going off at 4-1. The crowd's second choice at 3-1 was Beau Butler.

Brad Hanover, without regular pilot, Stanley Dancer, took the lead right at the start with Tioga Flash second. Duane Vittoire sitting third and Hal Painter fourth.

Hal Painter flashed in fourth as Tioga Flash moved to the front at the quarter pole and Brad dropped back to second. The time at the quarter was :31.4.

Moves to Front
Hal Painter then moved quickly to the front, taking the top with relative ease as the horses rounded the turn for the first turn.

By the time they hit the half mile mark, Hal Painter had moved a length and a half in front of Tioga Flash, who was another length and a half in front of Brad.

The two trailers closed the gap, and were in that order and fashion as they reached the three-fourths pole in 1:02.3.

At the turn coming home, Brad Hanover began to move to the outside. As he took off, so did Tioga Flash, forcing Brad to go three wide. Coming down the stretch, Patterson shook Hal Painter loose and he ran away from Tioga Flash. Brad, however, went into a speed break and finished last.

Fifth in Row
The big brown colt made it five in a row, and the third Can-Am in succession for the Pattersons. It topped his 1968 earnings to $15,000 and lifetime income to a hefty $22,098, a fine start for the youngster.

Scouted and bought by John Patterson Sr., the colt, according to his driver, "Got off to the front easily, and won with relative comfort."

The $60,000 purchase, bought after a convincing win back in September, has and will be one of the shining lights of the Paterson Stable since they struck out on their own and opened a public stable.

Young Patterson said, "I'll call my dad and tell him how nice the colt worked out there. I'll tell my father the fractions and how how easily he won. He'll be pleased."

The daily double was a nice sendoff, with the 4-7 combination paying $227.80. The winner of the first, Showell's Flash paid $19.00, 12.80 and 10.00. The second half victor, Andy Diamond, returned $15.60, 8.00 and 4.00.

Dancer's Stable Will Run In Historic Harness Slate

GOSHEN—Stanley Dancer of New Egypt, N. J., the current top money-winning harness driver in the country, has indicated that he'll have his stable represented in the Historic Harness Horsemen's Spring Matinee series at Historic Track here.

The trio of matinee harness racing programs gets under way this Saturday, May 18, and

Flamboyant Cops Yonkers Feature

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Flamboyant gave herself a poke in the nose, but still won the Hilltop Trot at Yonkers Raceway, the first $100,000 harness race of the year.

The 4-year-old mare, the 2-5 favorite driven by Billy Haughton, poked her nose into the starting gate, forcing a recall. When the field lined up again, Haughton kept the mare a safe distance behind the gate.

"I didn't want to take any chances," Haughton said after the race Thursday night. "When I moved her from fifth place with 400 yards left, she went real good and won easily."

Flamboyant, who gave Haughton his third victory in the $100,000 trot, scored by 1 1/4 lengths over Dazzling Speed. Murray Mir was third, another three-quarters of a length back. Haughton had won the Hilltop last year with Carlisle, and in 1962 with Duke Rodney.

Hawk Linksters

Still Rolling With 6 1/2-2 1/2 Win

Jeff Berry's blistering 76 over the rain-soaked par-70 Grant Hotel golf course yesterday led New Paltz State golfers to their sixth win in 11 outings, a 6 1/2 to 2 1/2 victory over visiting Marist College.

Berry, playing the number four slot for the Hawks, went out in 39, four over, including a birdie four on the 530-yard par five seventh hole, and came home in 37 to hand Bob Palumbo a 7-5 defeat and clinch the match for the Hawks.

Berry's fine round in the rain, was good enough for medalist honors, nosing out teammate Mike Mostransky by three strokes. Mostransky, a long belter, had three birdies.

The Hawks will be out to up their record to 7-5 today when they meet Plattsburgh up at Plattsburgh.

Fresh from a strong second place finish in the SUNYAC tourney, the Hawks dominated the medal and best ball play yesterday.

The results:
Mike Mostransky (NP) d. Brian Corcoran, 3-2. Larry Huntington (NP) d. Joe Milia, 3-2. Best ball, NP 3-1. Mike Hirono (M) d. Dave Grant, 5-4. Jeff Berry (NP) d. Bob Palumbo, 7-5. Best ball, NP 2-1. Ed Grier (M) and Bob Finkel (NP) halved. Larry Gibbons (M) d. Al Dunensky, 1-up. Best ball, NP, 5-4.

Cissy's Beauty Wins Early Bird

Cissy's Beauty Shop (67-30) led TP Tavern by eight games for the 1967-68 Early Birds title. Team members included Joan Winne, Elsie Vasilevich, Olga Kachura, Doris Stevenson and Evelyn Simmons.

Kingston Print Shop led net team shooting with 822 and 2192. Handicap highs were TP Tavern with 749 and Cissy's Beauty Shop, 2122.

Individual highs were: Helen Tompkins, 149 average; Joan Beesmer, 218 single and Jean Whispell, 556 series.

Top averages: Helen Tompkins 149, Jean Whispell 148, Joan Beesmer 141, Fannie Brady 137, Evelyn Simmons 137, Leona Norton 134, Loretta Beaumont 134. Most improved bowler will be announced at league banquet.

Officers for next season: Helen Volk, president; Emma Topp, vice president; Lillian Tyler, secretary; Fran Southerland, treasurer; Helen Tompkins, sergeant-at-arms.

Led Cornell Frosh

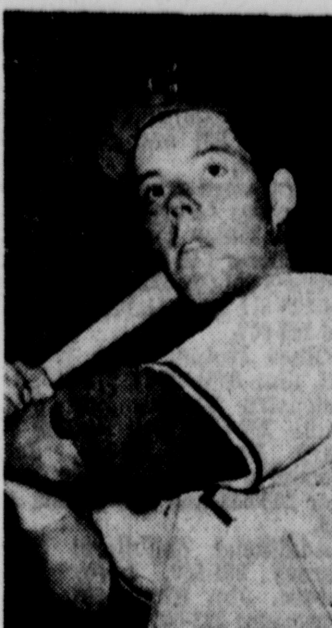

Old Timers Pick Watzka

Pete Watzka, former Kingston High School player who was the batting star for the Cornell University frosh team this spring, has been named for an unprecedented double award by the Old Timers Baseball Association of Kingston.

Watzka, a .375 hitter for the "Little Red" will receive the KHS Baseball Player of the Year award and the OTBA-Willard H. Sahloff $200 prize as KHS Baseball Scholarship winner for 1967.

The scholarship is shared jointly by the Old Timers and Sahloff, a vice president of General Electric and himself a member of the local Hall of Fame. Presentation will be made at the annual Hall of Fame dinner on May 22.

In addition to leading the Cornell frosh in batting, Watzka was the unanimous choice of his teammates for team captain, a designation traditionally made after the season. He won the captaincy after leading Golf Tie for Onteora?

Onteora wound up its UCAL golf schedule with triumphs over New Paltz, 10-0, and Highland, 8-0, at the Woodstock Country Club yesterday, but it looks as though the Indians will be sharing the league honors for the first time in five years, due to Wednesday's 7-5 loss to Rondout.

Onteora has been the unofficial champion of the UCAL for the last four years. However, Rondout's 3-1 record gives the Ganders a chance to tie Onteora for the championship with identical 7-1 records. Rondout does not figure to lose either of its two remaining UCAL meets.

John Buymaster stated Onteora on the winning trail yesterday with a 2-0 win over Dave Robertson of New Paltz. Buymaster was low medalist with a good 38 on the par 35 Woodstock Country Club course. Buymaster turned in one of his best scores despite a heavy rain.

In Wednesday's match against Rondout at the Ganit Country Club course, Steve Linehan and Ron Sira of Rondout, plus Buymaster and Gary Kennedy of OCS, all turned in 47's to tie for low medalist honors on the par 35, 3,383 yard Ganit course. Howie Gordon of Onteora's B squad carded a 46, the lowest score of the day.

Onteora, 7-1 in the UCAL and 9-5 overall, will travel to the Section Nine golf match Monday.

The scores:
Rondout 7, Onteora 5
Steve Linehan (R) d. John Buymaster 2-1.

Casper, 36, and Fleckman, 24, toured the soggy, scenic, 7,000 yard Colonial course in two under-par 68 Thursday, two of only seven to crack regulation figures.

A stroke back at 69 were Earl Stewart Jr., Kel Nagle, Jack Montgomery, Tommy Aaron and Ken Still.

Kenneth Zarley drew much of the attention Thursday, although he wound up with 72.

Davenport Leads HRGA Practice

Mrs. Richard Davenport posted low gross with 90 and had tied low net with 90-13-77 in a practice round for the Hudson River Golf Association's women's championship to be held July 31 at Wiltwyck Country Club.

Mrs. Florence Sudol of Dutchess Golf and Country Club had second low gross 91 and net 83. Low net honors were awarded Mrs. Thomas Tenney of Poynton (Newburgh) with 91-12-77. Mrs. Prescott Newell, Wiltwyck posted 97-17-80 net.

Mrs. George C. Rifenbary of Wiltwyck led Class B low gross with 105. Mrs. W. A. Proal, Dutchess, had second low gross of 108.

Low net honors went to Mrs. Jacob Decker, Powelton, 117-33-Blank 258. Phoenicia (946)—84, and Mrs. Martin Pettintz, Washington Wilbur 262; Eric Rickard 248; George Leonard 221; Jean Rickard 215.

New Face at Woodstock

Upper photo shows new concrete retaining walls in the Sawkill stream fronting the clubhouse. This long planned project minimizes flood threats to the club. The lower photo shows work being done to replace the old stone terrace adjacent to the club building.

The club also built a new garage to house and repair maintenance equipment. The entire project costing in excess of $25,000 was financed by an assessment of $150 over a three-year period on the club membership.

Facilities in the main parking lot are also being expanded and beautified, with a log fence, and marked parking and shrubbery. Replacement of the old stone terrace will also add immensely to the beauty of the club property in the area between the cocktail lounge and pro shop.

Club president Anthony J. Pizzarelli has announced committee chairmen for the season.

18th Straight Dual Win

KHS Insures Golf Tie

Kingston High's golfers sewed up at least a tie in the DUSO standings and won their 18th straight dual match, defeating Port Jervis 9-3 at the rain-soaked Port Jervis Country Club yesterday.

The Maroons lead the DUSO with a 4-0 record. With two more league matches scheduled, Port Jervis has the only chance of splitting the honors with Kingston.

Ed Byman started the Maroons on the path to victory with a 3-0 defeat of Danny Carroll.

Vultures Lead In Early Birds

The Vultures (56-40) edged Schnell 150, Rebecca Shaw 133, Humming Birds by three games for the IBM Early Birds title. Team members Richard and Rebecca Shaw and Allen Doris Koerler also bagged high team single of 786. Hawks took triple honors with 2132.

Vince Genuario rolled high average (163 in 87 games) and high series, 620. John Ollive's 241 paced men's singles.

Distaff leaders included Edith Lawrence, 202-532 and Elinor Smith, 139 average. Other top averages: John Ollive 162, Elmore Smith 156, Peter Keizer 155, Martin Nilan 150, Peter McConekey's Upset King's Diner, 12-4

The Saugerties Softball League's Met Division had its first major upset of the season Thursday, when McConekey Funeral Home, humiliated 17-3 last weekend, rose up to knock King's Diner out of first place. It was their first win.

Ed Pelham survived 11 walks in a 4-hr. 12-4 romp over the diner, who were 2-0 going in.

Wood Unloads 658 Invitational Classic Series

Al Wood opened with a blistering 256, added a 192 and closed with a 210 to form a 658 series that paced the action in the Invitational Classic League.

Wood was 26 pins ahead of runner-up, Chris Gallo, who's games of 231 and 203, worked into a 632.

Upper photo shows new concrete retaining walls in the Sawkill stream fronting the clubhouse. This long planned project minimizes flood threats to the club. The lower photo shows work being done to replace the old stone terrace adjacent to the club building.

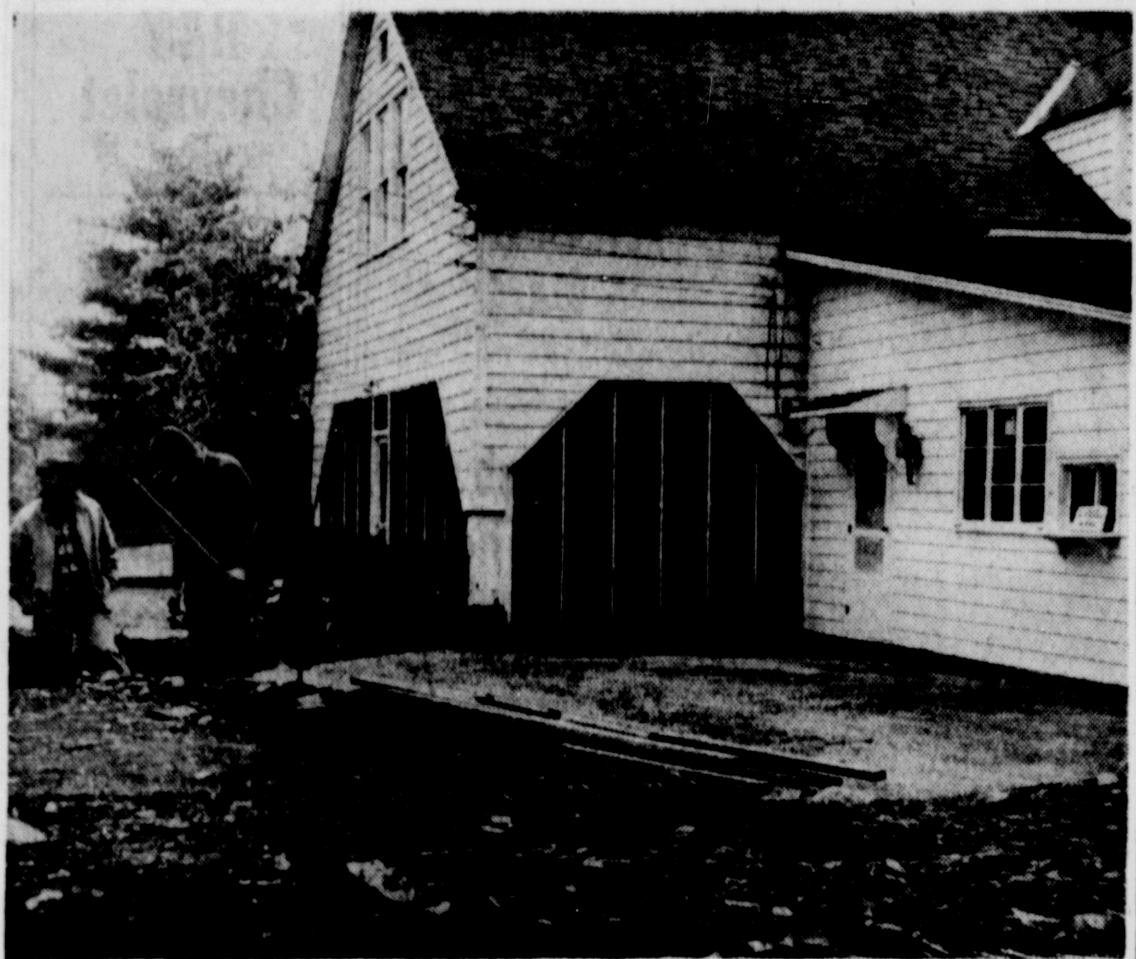

The club also built a new garage to house and repair maintenance equipment. The entire project costing in excess of $25,000 was financed by an assessment of $150 over a three-year period on the club membership.

Facilities in the main parking lot are also being expanded and beautified, with a log fence, and marked parking and shrubbery. Replacement of the old stone terrace will also add immensely to the beauty of the club property in the area between the cocktail lounge and pro shop.

Club president Anthony J. Pizzarelli has announced committee chairmen for the season. Floyd A. DeWitt heads the men's golf committee, with Mrs. Claude Needes in charge of the women's division.

Other chairmen are: Michael Mottolose, house committee; Frank Murphy, social entertainment; Harry Kennedy, greens; Joseph Fitzsimmons, membership; John Grote, bar; Pizzarelli will head the kitchen committee.

Woodstock has added non-resident membership for the first time in its history, Pizzarelli said.

18th Straight Dual Win

KHS Insures Golf Tie

Kingston High's golfers sewed up at least a tie in the DUSO standings and won their 18th straight dual match, defeating Port Jervis 9-3 at the rain-soaked Port Jervis Country Club yesterday.

The Maroons lead the DUSO with a 4-0 record. With two more league matches scheduled, Port Jervis has the only chance of splitting the honors with Kingston.

Ed Byman started the Maroons on the path to victory with a 3-0 defeat of Danny Carroll.

Vultures Lead In Early Birds

The Vultures (56-40) edged Schnell 150, Rebecca Shaw 133, Humming Birds by three games for the IBM Early Birds tie. Staff leaders included Edith Lawrence, 202-332 and Elinor Smith, 139 average. Other top averages: John Ollive 162, Elmore Smith 156, Peter Keizer 153, Martin Nilan 150, Peter Schnell 150, Rebecca Shaw 133, Susan Barten 129, Carolyn Schell 125, Ruth Kuhns 125.

Officers for the 1968-69 season will be: John Kuniuk, president; Peter Schell, vice president; Ruth Nilan, secretary-treasurer; Jerome Mills, sergeant-at-arms.

Nearing Legislation For New York Schools

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Comprehensive legislation to decentralize New York City's schools was being shaped into final form today following an agreement that seemed to assure it would gain legislative approval next week.

The new legislation was the result of what one lawmaker described as "a lot of consultation" among the top political leaders of the state and city.

The measure was expected to be put before the lawmakers Monday or Tuesday, a day or so ahead of the expected mid-week adjournment date of the 1968 session of the legislature.

The Associated Press learned Thursday that the new legislation would include the following points:

Given One Year

The central Board of Education would be given one year to draw up, and execute, a decentralization plan for the city's schools. No further legislative approval would be needed.

Prior to this, the structure of the board would be changed from nine to 13 members with

Local Teacher Recognition Slated May 21

Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller has proclaimed Tuesday, May 21 as Teacher Recognition Day throughout the State of New York.

Locally, the Board of Education of the Kingston City Schools, Consolidated, will sponsor a reception honoring the district teachers.

Tuesday, elementary schools will close at 2 p.m. and the junior high schools and Kingston High School will close at 2:45 p.m. to enable teachers to attend activities at 3:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of the J. Watson Bailey Junior High School.

The program will include: Welcome, Mrs. Evelyn Corsones, chairman of the board of education's public relations committee; musical selections, Kingston High School Choir; remarks, Arthur Withall, president of the Kingston Consolidated School Board and Dr. W. Wendell Hoover, Superintendent of Schools.

Refreshments will be provided by John Johnson, director of the school lunch program.

Nearing Legislation For New York Schools

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Comprehensive legislation to decentralize New York City's schools was being shaped into final form today following an agreement that seemed to assure it would gain legislative approval next week.

The new legislation was the result of what one lawmaker described as "a lot of consultation" among the top political leaders of the state and city.

The measure was expected to be put before the lawmakers Monday or Tuesday, a day or so ahead of the expected midweek adjournment date of the 1968 session of the legislature.

The Associated Press learned Thursday that the new legislation would include the following points:

Given One Year

The central Board of Education would be given one year to draw up, and executive, a decentralization plan for the city's schools. No further legislative approval would be needed.

Prior to this, the structure of the board would be changed from nine to 13 members with the extra four members appointed by Mayor John V. Lindsay.

The expanded board would be mandated to provide for between five and 30 nearly autonomous school districts.

The local boards would be granted the power to hire and fire their own teachers.

In many ways these points represent answers to strong objections that were raised against an earlier decentralization plan drafted by Sen. John J. Marchi, R - Staten Island, chairman of the Senate's committee on New York City affairs.

The Marchi plan was originally seen as compromise legislation. It would have empowered the existing nine-member board to draw up a decentralization plan for presentation to the legislature next year.

Prior to the Marchi plan, a number of plans for decentralization had been made public. Included in these was a proposal by the Board of Regents that would have eliminated the present board and mandated a new five-man board to draw up a decentralization plan for approval by the commissioner of education.

The Regents' plan originally had the backing of Mayor John V. Lindsay, and Gov. Rockefeller and a number of prominent New Yorkers. But legislative support began to slide when loud opposition developed on the part of the city's teachers and other groups.

Supporters of the Regents' plan contended they could not accept any measure that did not eliminate the central board. Marchi, on the other hand, indicated the Regents' bill would never get out of committee because, as he said, the point of eliminating the board was "non-negotiable."

Central Issue

The question of whether to eliminate the board became the central issue of the controversy.

As one of the Marchi opponents, Sen. Basil A. Paterson, D-Manhattan, said, "The symbolism of the board in the local communities has been that of an obstruction to any meaningful change in the system."

In the long negotiations that followed, agreement was finally reached on the new legislation, which would become the sixth decentralization proposal to be drafted into legislative form.

The decentralization question began last November when a Lindsay appointed panel headed by Ford Foundation President McGeeGore Bundy issued a report calling for the decentralization of the city's schools.

Local Teacher Recognition Slated May 21

Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller has proclaimed Tuesday, May 21 as Teacher Recognition Day throughout the State of New York.

Dear Abby

No 'Open Arms' for Her

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1968 by Chicago Tribune
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Here are the facts: I have a 23-year-old son who went with a very pushy girl off and on all thru college. She kept pressuring him to marry her, but he said he wanted to graduate from college first. Just for spite, in her senior year she married somebody else.

She hasn't been married 3 months, and already she's after my son again. She wrote, saying she still loves him, made a mistake and is "considering" divorcing her husband. She meets my son on week-ends and tells her husband she is going "home" to visit her parents.

What do you think of a girl who continues to live with her husband and sneaks around with her old boy friend? Am I being narrowminded in refusing to accept this girl with open arms when my son brings her to my home?

She has no shame. She writes love messages to him on postcards! My son says he may not marry her after all, but he is not about to turn down a good thing! What is your advice?

HIS MOTHER:

DEAR MOTHER: I don't think you're being "narrowminded," nor do I blame you for not accepting this girl with open arms. She should use the rocks in her head to fill up the holes in your son's.

DEAR ABBY: While preparing for my wedding, a problem came up concerning my bridesmaids.

A friend of my mother asked Mums if her daughter could be a bridesmaid. Mums didn't know what to say, so she said yes.

Abby, I have known this girl all my life, but she is not yet 14, and the bridesmaids I want are between 18 and 20. Besides, this girl is not a particularly close friend of mine.

Now what do I do? The time is getting short.

STUCK IN TORONTO

DEAR STUCK: Unless you can prevail upon your mother to tell her friend that she answered before having consulted you, and therefore was not aware that all the bridesmaids had been selected, you are indeed stuck. Since "Mums" got you into it, I think it's up to "Mums" to get you out of it.

DEAR ABBY: I have a small baby. She is our first and she is beautiful, but I get no credit for her beauty whatsoever. According to my mother-in-law, our baby got all her beauty from my husband.

It's true, the baby does look more like my husband than she does me, but every time someone mentions what beautiful eyes she has, my mother-in-law says, "Yes, they're just like Ronnie's." And the same about his smile, his nose, and his dimples.

This is getting on my nerves something terrible because I was taught to respect my elders, so I can't say anything to contradict her, but it bothers me just the same. How can I handle this, Abby?

DAUGHTER-IN-LAW

DEAR DAUGHTER: Don't contradict her. When she says the baby looks just like Ronnie, say, "She certainly does. She has his features and MY fix-tures."

DEAR ABBY: When I read the letter from the woman whose neighbor named her dog "Lester," which was the name of the man next door, I had to write:

Nearly 15 years ago, my father and I were living together alone, having just lost my mother about 6 months before.

One evening Dad heard someone calling "Junior, Junior." Since that is his nickname, he went to investigate, and discovered a neighbor woman calling her cocker spaniel.

Well, it couldn't be turned out better because she was attractive, single, and very nice. A year and a half later my father married this woman.

Of course this woman had named her dog "Junior" before she met my father, but she couldn't have made a wiser choice.

She has been a wonderful wife to Dad, and a wonderful "mother" to me, doggone it.

JUNIOR'S DAUGHTER

Horoscope By SYDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars —

("The wise man controls his destiny... astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, MAY 18, 1968

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Answer calls, messages from friends. Reach out for greater understanding. Turn on charm at social gathering. Avoid argument. Make concession. You win in long run.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): To attain goal you must check fine print. One who has authority may place obstacle in your path. Key is to keep guard. Be friendly but not careless.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Ideas flow; you seem able to perceive how to accomplish major goal. Keep up with correspondence. Gain indicated through reading, writing and publishing. Keep up with times.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Look beyond immediate indications. Fascinating person to know could compel your curiosity. Don't be afraid of the unknown — bring it closer. Examine — ask questions. Greater knowledge is result.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Accent on relations with mate, partner, public in general. You are judged, tested, studied. A period of self-analysis is indicated. Find out why. Outline program, goal — understand motives.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Fulfill promises, obligations and responsibilities. No day to be satisfied with superficial efforts. Be peaceful within. This comes about when you know a job has been completed. Act accordingly.

LIBRA (Sept 23-Oct. 22): The push to complete a project is evident. One person may fade from your consciousness but another grabs spotlight of attention. You appear on a precipice where emotions are concerned.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): New viewpoint where home, property enter picture. You find ways of moving immovable objects, obstacles. You gain added information. Roadblock opens; path is clear because you are confident.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Day to collect, analyze data. Spotlight on ideas, short journeys, relatives. Confusion exists about immediate plans but can be ironed out through intelligent discussion. Socialize.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Be flexible. Don't feel past methods are only ones. Make headway in streamlining operations. Spend money wisely. Tonight relax with congenial people. Be alert for ideas.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Cycle high. You find out things about people, events. Gain may not be immediate but long-range effects are valuable. Make up your own mind. Others tend to be confused.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Find out about competition. Dig for information. Someone could confide secret. Evaluate, analyze — piece together bits of information. Accent today on getting rid of doubts, fears.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you have knack of comforting people who are in difficulty. This causes many to lean on you and some to take advantage. Current cycle favors collecting of facts, preparing for future. Don't rush. Patience is your ally at this time.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for AQUARIUS, PISCES, ARIES. Special word to SCORPIO: older individual opens door of opportunity.

Jacoby Transfer Is Not Difficult

By Oswald and James Jacoby level or you may transfer on your way to a slam.

The bidding of today's hand shows a transfer bid slam. South had almost enough to jump to three spades after North's two heart transfer. North in turn might have gone directly to four spades but he saw some slam possibilities so he forced with three clubs.

South's three diamond bid said, "Partner, if you are interested in a slam I have the ace of diamonds." North's jump to four spades said, "I have slight slam interest with very good spades." South's four no-trump call was Blackwood. He might have gone directly to the slam but there was some slight chance that North would only hold one ace.

Played by South there was no defense against the spade slam. South drew trumps and led a heart from dummy. If East ducked, South would have to lose a diamond eventually but wouldn't lose a heart. Actually East went up with the heart ace. This allowed South to discard two of dummy's diamonds on the king and queen of hearts.

If North played the spade slam and East happened to lead a diamond, North would have to take the finesse and lose his contract.

If South played at six no-trump, correct defense would leave him no play to make it. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

On the 'Umbrella' Titles

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — There are a number of good, serviceable series titles in television which are carefully designed to cover a wide range of material and subjects—"American Profile," "Omnibus," "White Paper," "Houseparty."

Perhaps the best umbrella title of all is appended to ABC's long-playing skein of actuality shows—"The Saga of Western Man."

Catch-All Title
As it has worked out over the past few seasons, this title is a catch-all for just about any subject that piques the interest of its executive producer, John Se-condari, a quadruple-threat operator who has turned out a best-selling novel, done service as a newsman, writes and narrates his own shows.

In the past three seasons, Secondari's attention has rested on such diverse subjects as Leonardo da Vinci's contributions to civilization, Columbus' journeys to the New World, a play-by-play reconstruction of Custer's last stand and the slow crumbling of Venice into the waters from which it arose.

Now, in a real change of pace, "Saga" will come up with a documentary about contemporary missionaries in India and the islands of Micronesia in the Pacific.

To make "In the Name of God," the missionary special scheduled for Monday night, director John Hughes and a photography team headed by one of the best men in the business, William Hartigan, spent months in out-of-the-way tropical corners of India showing modern missionaries at work.

Hughes, who started out with some preconceived notions on the subject, was surprised at what he found.

"The last thing in the world they seem to want to do these days is convert people," Hughes reported. "Mostly modern missionaries are interested in helping the natives. They are concerned with constructing houses and roads—and digging wells, educating the children and improving health and diets."

One Regret
In the course of two months in and around the Caroline Islands, Hughes saw more examples of missionaries helping people than converting them to Christianity. His one regret about the resulting program is that time does not permit showing film of teams of young natives of Ponape, a remote island, playing baseball with the enthusiasm of American boys.

OFFICE CAT

By Junius

-and Mark Reg.

Bobby (the son) — Papa, what is the name of the person called who brings you in contact with the spirit world?

Mr. Jones (the father)—A barman, my son.

The reason so many modern girls wear hairdos that look like mops is that they don't know what mops look like.

A tall, thin teen-aged girl had been sent to the principal's office for fighting. Asked why she was always getting in fights, she said, Sara — As long as they call me 'turnpike' I'll fight.

Why do they call you that?

Sara (sadly)—Not a curve in sight.

Failure to hit the mark is never the fault of the target. To improve your aim, improve yourself.

James — With all due reverence, my boy, I really think our English custom at the telephone is better than saying "Hello" as you do in the United States.

Jack — What do you say in England?

James — We say, "Are you there?" Then, of course, if you are not there, there is no use in going on with the conversation.

With all due respects to Charles Darwin, Man may have come a long way, but when admiring the opposite sex, his eyes still swing from limb to limb.

Bob — My brother went hiking the other day, and while he was out in the woods he fell out of a tree 50 feet high.

Rob — Was he badly hurt?

Bob — Oh, no, he had only climbed two feet when he fell.

Would Require Payment On Property Acquisition

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The legislature's ranking Republican has offered a bill that would require compensation of property owners for the loss of their existing mortgage financing when their property is taken for public purposes.

Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges introduced the measure Thursday saying: "Existing law does not protect property owners from severe economic hardship when they are forced to give up their property and relocate."

Returning Monday
Brydges acted as the legislature broke off work for this week and arranged to return Monday for a drive to final ad-jourment, probably Wednesday.

Before leaving town Thursday, both houses held working sessions during which they disposed of scores of relatively routine bills.

Efforts continued, in the meantime, to pave the way for approval of bills to provide $50 million in extra aid to cities, supply a supplemental budget expected to top $55 million, create 124 additional judgeships across the state and to boost the maximum interest rate on home mortgages to 7½ per cent from the current 6 per cent ceiling.

In the Senate Thursday, a bill to require issuance of "reflector" license plates, probably beginning in 1972, gained final legislative approval.

Advocates of the plan contended that the use of such plates would help reduce automobile accidents and would more than justify the added cost of treating plates with special material to make them more eye-catching.

In unveiling his plan to help property owners involved in condemnation procedures, Brydges said the measure stemmed partially from difficulties encountered by some Niagara Falls residents.

The Considerations
Under his bill, officials handling the land-taking proceedings and striving to determine the amount of loss would be required to weigh these considerations:

— The difference in interest rates between a prior mortgage and the prevailing rate at the time when the property is taken.

— The length of time from the date the property is taken to the scheduled maturity of the existing mortgage.

— The prevailing costs of obtaining and closing a new mortgage loan in an amount equal to the unpaid balance of the existing mortgage.

Said Brydges: "At a time when mortgage rates are increasing all over the country and in a period of tight money, this bill is vitally necessary. I intend to work diligently for its passage."

Nixon's Candidacy Gets Shot in Arm

By United Press International

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon's presidential bid was moving with new momentum today following endorsement by Sen. Howard Baker, favorite son leader of the Tennessee Republican convention delegation.

Nixon, due for brief appearances in Washington later today, received the first dividends from Tuesday's Nebraska primary victory when Baker announced Thursday he found his views compatible with Nixon's goal of giving the poor "dignity and pride instead of doles and dependence."

Others May Follow
By endorsing Nixon, Baker technically abdicated his place as GOP favorite son, but it would be expected that some if not most of the 28-vote delegation would follow along.

Baker is the son-in-law of Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

He made clear, however, that he spoke only for himself in endorsing Nixon.

"I do not represent or even imply any position for Everett Dirksen," he said. "He's more than amply endowed with ability to speak for himself."

In order to win an early ballot nomination, Nixon needs to break loose some of the convention votes tied up by favorite son candidates in such states as Pennsylvania, Ohio, Texas and Michigan, Baker's move was the first in this direction.

Nixon spread his campaign nationwide Thursday with a radio address asserting there is a new alliance of Republicans, liberals, the new South and black militants that is preparing to make a "significant breakthrough" toward peaceful, orderly progress in molding an American government responsive to people's needs.

Other Candidates
Other developments: Hubert H. Humphrey—The vice president told women antipoverty workers in Washington.

that the power in American they represented "must be used in common cause with those who have thus far been left out of our society." Referring to the poor people's march now encamping near the Lincoln Memorial here, Humphrey said that power "must be shared with those people, not used on them."

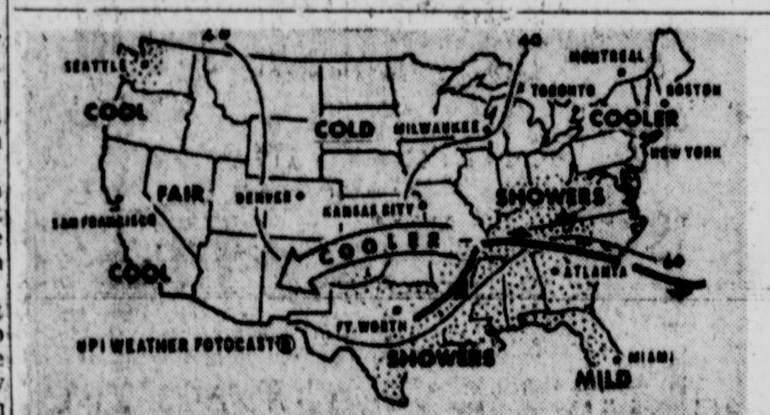

Nelson A. Rockefeller—The New York governor, meeting with four other GOP governors in Baltimore, said he would consider any Republican, including California Gov. Ronald Reagan, for the vice president spot on the GOP ticket. "I am open minded to any winning ticket," he said.

Eugene J. McCarthy—Taking his campaign for the Democratic nomination to Florida, the Minnesota senator said in Jacksonville that voters in his forthcoming Oregon and California contests with Sen. Robert F. Kennedy would not vote for "the Kennedy image."

"They will start looking at the real Bobby," he said.

Robert F. Kennedy—Speaking to space workers in Los Angeles, the Democratic presidential hopeful said he would like to put an American on the moon in 1970, but Americans "in our own country" have priority on the nation's resources. "I believe in the space program," he said. "I believe that we must, as man has always done, seek the far frontier—or atrophy and die. But we also need your help here on this planet, here in this country and here in this state of California."

For Period Ending 7 a. m. EST Saturday
Tonight, showers and thundershowers are forecast from northern Texas and the Gulf coastal states through the Tennessee and the lower Ohio valleys, showers and thundershowers are also expected in the Pacific Northwest. Clear to partly cloudy skies should prevail elsewhere. Cooler readings are slated from New Mexico through the Panhandle and New England. Milder weather will occur in the central Plateaus. Minimum readings include: Atlanta 67; Boston 50; Chicago 42; Denver 38; Duluth 35; Ft. Worth 58; Jacksonville 66; Little Rock 47; Los Angeles 54; Miami 70; New York 50; San Francisco 50; Seattle 45 and Washington 56 degrees.

Alice Admitted Killing, The Crimmins Jury Hears

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph Rorech, a Long Island building contractor, has shocked the Alice Crimmins murder trial with testimony that the 28-year-old redhead admitted to him killing her 4-year-old daughter.

One Time Boy Friend
"Joseph, how can you do this? It's not true!" Mrs. Crimmins cried out Thursday as one-time boyfriend Rorech, a 39-year-old father of seven from Huntington, related her alleged admission to an all-male jury.

Rorech quoted her as saying, "Joseph, please forgive me, I killed her."
He said she made the statement on Sept. 9, 1966, some 14 months after Mrs. Crimmins' daughter, Alice "Missy" Marie, and son, Edmund Jr., 5, were found slain within a mile of the mother's Kew Gardens, Hills, Queens, apartment.

The former cocktail waitress is on trial for first-degree murder only in her daughter's death. The prosecution has suggested that Mrs. Crimmins was determined to go to any lengths to deny custody of the children to her then estranged husband, Edmund.

The couple reconciled after the July, 1965, slayings, and Crimmins, a 32-year-old aircraft mechanic, has stood by his wife up to and during the trial, now in its eighth day.

Rorech had been on the witness stand about 25 minutes when he dropped the bombshell statement.

During the excited murmuring from 400 spectators in the State Supreme Court chamber in Queens, Mrs. Crimmins could be seen mouthing, "Joseph, you of all people."

"You said it! You said it!" Rorech retorted.

In his testimony, he said her admission of guilt came during their meeting at a Westbury restaurant.

'Just Kept Crying'
"She just kept crying," he said. "And then she said, 'There was no reason for them to be killed. It was senseless. The reason had been eliminated.'"

"I said to her," Rorech went on, "You mean Evelyn?"

Evelyn Atkins, Mrs. Crimmins' ex-maid, had testified earlier that she quit her job in February, 1965—five months before the murders and the children's scheduled custody hearing—while the defendant was on a Caribbean cruise with a Bronx contractor.

The prosecution said the maid was to have given potentially damaging testimony at the custody hearing about Mrs. Crimmins' private life involvement with "many, many men." The prosecution said "some stayed overnight in the apartment, and the children knew this. The maid was privy to this information."

Rorech, married 18 years, continued nervously, in a sometimes inaudible voice, that Mrs. Crimmins feared that her children would be won by her husband in the custody fight.

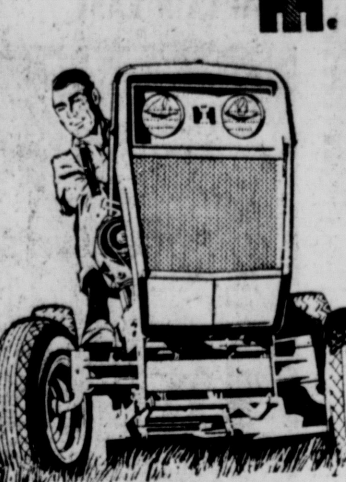

"She would rather see them dead than have him get the children," he testified.

Find another car under $2,000 that has all that the Renault 10 has, and we'll buy it for you.

We believe the Renault 10 gives you more for your money than any other car. And the fact that sales have soared since we introduced it, lends us to believe that quite a few people agree. We sold 72% more 1967 Renaults than 1966 Renaults.

But if some doubters remain, we offer this challenge: Find another car under $2,000 that has all that the Renault 10 has, and we'll buy it for you.

The Renault 10 has, as standard equipment:

- 4-wheel disc brakes
- Disc brakes take hard braking better than drum brakes. They have long been used on super-speed, super-priced automobiles.
- 4 doors instead of 2
- You don't have to fight the front seat to get to the back seat.
- 35 miles per gallon
- Some people say they get more.
- Contoured seats that recline for sleeping
- Plus 18 other positions for when you're not sleeping.
- Engine weight over the drive wheels
- The drive wheels bear down on snow and ice because the engine weight bears down on them.
- Turning circle of 20 feet
- You can make most U-turns in one clean sweep.
- 4-wheel independent suspension
- Each wheel moves up or down without affecting all the other wheels.

So when one wheel hits a bump, only one gets bumped. The other 3 keep the car and you going in a level position.

4-speed synchromesh transmission
This matches the speeds of the engine and transmission to allow the gears to mesh easily. Which makes shifting a lot easier on you and your transmission.

Replaceable wet cylinder sleeves
When the cylinders wear out in a conventional engine, the whole engine has to be pulled out and rebored. Sometimes it pays to buy a new car. But a Renault piston moves in a replaceable wet sleeve. If the sleeve ever wears out, you can put in a new one easily and inexpensively.

Sealed liquid cooling system with expansion tank
Water-cooled engines are much cooler than air-cooled engines. However, water and anti-freeze can frequently overflow. But Renault's water-cooling system has an expansion tank to keep the overflow from escaping.

5 main-bearing engine
Instead of three bearings supporting the crankshaft, we have five. (As many as most V-8's.)

Special vents for draft-free ventilation
You can get plenty of fresh air with the windows shut. Which, incidentally, shuts out noise.

Rack and pinion steering
Eliminates play in the steering.

2-speed hot-water heater and dual defroster
Our heater uses the same hot water that circulates in the engine. So our heater heats faster and produces a more even temperature than any air-type heater.

15-inch wheel
Most economy cars have 12" or less. Our larger wheel makes fewer revolutions to go the same distance. Which saves rubber. Which saves money.

Spare tire not in trunk
If you get a flat you don't have to unload the trunk and get everything dirty.

11 cubic foot trunk capacity
We're not the biggest in this department, but neither are we the smallest. The smallest only has 2.3 cubic feet, which is about as much space as we have behind our back seat alone.

Hits a top speed of 85
That's pretty surprising considering the mileage we get.

Unique warranty
12 months unlimited mileage. Price—Under $2,000. Way under $2,000.

RENAULT
THE CHALLENGE APPLIED TO ALL 1968 STANDARD EQUIPPED CARS LISTED FOR UNDER $2,000 AND RENEWED FOR SALE IN THE U.S. UNTIL JANUARY 1, 1969.

months after Mrs. Crimmins'

daughter, Alice "Missy" Marie,

and son, Edmund Jr., 5, were found slain within a mile of the mother's Kew Gardens, Hills,

Queens, apartment.

The former cocktail waitress is on trial for first-degree murder only in her daughter's death. The prosecution has suggested that Mrs. Crimmins was determined to go to any lengths to deny custody of the children to her then estranged husband,

Edmund.

The couple reconciled after the July, 1965, slayings, and for the murders and the children's scheduled custody hear-

a Caribbean cruise with a Bronx contractor.

The prosecution said the maid was to have given potentially damaging testimony at the custody hearing about Mrs. Crim-

with "many, many men." The prosecution said "some stayed overnight in the apartment, and the children knew this. The

tion."

Crimmins feared that her chil-

band in the custody fight.

"She would rather see them dead than have him get the children," he testified.

"Just Kept Crying"

"She just kept crying," he said, "And then she said, 'There was no reason for them to be killed. It was senseless. The reason had been eliminated."

"I said to her," Rorech went on, "You mean Evelyn?"

"She said yes,"

Evelyn Atkins, Mrs. Crim-

earlier that she quit her job in February, 1965—five months before the slayings.

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph

Rorech, a Long Island building

lice Crimmins murder trial with testimony that the 28-year-old

her 4-year-old daughter.

One Time Boy Friend

"Joseph, how can you do this?

It's not true!" Mrs. Crimmins

boyfriend Rorech, a 39-year-old

ton, related her alleged admis-

Rorech quoted her as saying,

"Joseph, please forgive me, I killed her."

He said she made the state-

months after Mrs. Crimmins'

daughter, Alice "Missy" Marie,

and son, Edmund Jr., 5, were found slain within a mile of the
